Units 5–6 [Track 4]

A Listen to the conversations. Check the correct information.

1.

ERIC: You know, Wendy, summer's almost here. What are you doing for vacation?

WENDY: Well, I'm going to visit my grandparents for a few weeks. They're getting older, and I want to spend more time with them.

ERIC: That's nice. My grandparents live too far away to visit. So, are you going anywhere else this summer?

WENDY: Oh, I'm not sure. I think I'll spend a few days at the beach. How about you, Eric? Any plans?

ERIC: Me? I'm going to go fishing with friends. I'm really looking forward to it!

WENDY: Oh, that sounds like fun! Maybe I'll go camping in August. I'd love to visit a national park.

2.

WENDY: Which national park do you recommend?

ERIC: For camping? Well, I think Acadia National Park is the most beautiful. By the way, who are you going with?

WENDY: My best friend has been wanting me to go with her for a while. Do you think we'll need to make a reservation?

ERIC: Absolutely! August is the busiest month for park visitors. You ought to find out if campsites are still available.

WENDY: Good idea. What else should we do before going camping?

ERIC: Well, you'd better check all your equipment before you leave home. And be sure to bring along a first-aid kit.

3.

MARTHA: I'm so glad we're going to be roommates this year, Leah.

LEAH: Me, too! I've been looking forward to sharing an apartment.

MARTHA: Yeah. And I really needed to find a new roommate. I had a lot of trouble with my last one.

LEAH: Oh, Martha, what happened?

MARTHA: Well, it was a bit like living with my mother. She was always telling me things like "Hang up your jacket!" and "Pick up the magazines."

LEAH: Um, I don't think there's anything wrong with being clean. I like to keep my room neat.

MARTHA: Oh, no, Leah! You like to clean up all the time, too? Well, maybe you can keep everything picked up and put away for both of us!

LEAH: Mmm, no, I think we should pick up our own things and wash our own dishes. Maybe we just need to have a few rules. . .

4.

MARTHA: Rules?! You think we need to have rules?

LEAH: Sure, why not? Then we'll both know whose job it is to do things.

MARTHA: OK, all right. As long as you don't ask me to change too much.

LEAH: What do you mean?

MARTHA: Well, my mom was always yelling at me, "Martha, can you turn the radio down?" and "Martha, would you mind not leaving the TV on all the time?"

LEAH: Uh-oh. I need it to be really quiet when I'm studying. No music, no TV.

MARTHA: And I can't study without listening to my CDs – turned up all the way!

LEAH: OK, Martha, we have a little problem here. Maybe you could wear headphones when you listen to music.

MARTHA: I guess I could do that.
