Units 1–2 [Track 2]

A Listen to the conversations. Check the correct answers.

1.

ANNA: Hey, Denise!

DENISE: Hi, Anna! Hey, I haven't seen you since you went off to fashion design school. How do you like it?

ANNA: School's great! I have this fantastic design teacher, Ms. Norris, who is so cool.

DENISE: What do you like about her?

ANNA: Well, she's the kind of teacher who is completely honest in her opinion of our work. And when she criticizes us, she always includes some helpful advice.

DENISE: She sounds like a great teacher.

2.

GARY: What's wrong, Maria?

MARIA: Well, Gary, I sent a close friend a wedding gift two months ago, and she's never thanked me for it. She lives in Brazil now, but she should have already received my present.

GARY: Oh, she probably just hasn't had a chance to write you yet.

MARIA: I guess.

GARY: You know, it bothers me, too, when people forget to say thank you.

MARIA: Hmm, you know, I haven't seen her post any messages on our social networking website in a while. Maybe she's been busy.

GARY: Why don't you just call her and find out?

MARIA: Why didn't I think of that? I'll do it tonight.

3.

JENNA: Scott, did you find a job for the summer yet?

SCOTT: Actually, I've found a couple of them, Jenna. I just have to decide which one to take. My uncle manages a bank, and he said I could spend the summer working as a bank teller for him.

JENNA: And what's the other one?

SCOTT: Well . . . working as an extra in a new movie.

JENNA: No, you're kidding!

SCOTT: It's true! I have a friend who knows the director. I'd really love to be in a movie.

JENNA: So would I! Could I go to the audition, too?

4.

STACY: What's up, Emily? What are you doing?

EMILY: I'm looking for a part-time job for winter break.

STACY: Anything interesting on the Internet?

EMILY: Yeah, one sounds pretty good. They're looking for a zookeeper intern for December.

STACY: Hey, you'd love working with animals! My cat loves you. . . .

EMILY: Well, yes, but it's mostly cleaning up the park. Here's another job. It's as an intern at a veterinarian's office.

STACY: Oh, but that isn't as exciting as zoo animals.

EMILY: You're right. But it pays better than the zookeeper job, and I can decide if I want to be a veterinarian someday. So it's a no-brainer.
