1.

RHONDA: [phone rings] Hello?

JOHN: Hello, Rhonda? This is John from downstairs.

RHONDA: Oh, hi, John! What's up?

JOHN: Well, I'm having a party tomorrow night and I'd like you to come.

RHONDA: Oh, I'd love to, but I already have concert tickets.

JOHN: Uh, would it be OK, then, if I borrowed your camera for the party? Mine's broken.

RHONDA: You'll be careful with it? It's new, you know.

JOHN: Sure! Don't worry. I'll take special care of it.

RHONDA: OK, I'll bring it down tomorrow morning.

JOHN: Great! Thanks, Rhonda. Bye.

2.

MAN: [phone rings] Hello?

TONY: Hello? Is this Edward? This is Tony.

MAN: Sorry, Edward isn't here right now. Could you call back later tonight, say, after 8?

TONY: Well, uh, do you mind giving him a message?

MAN: Not at all!

TONY: It's Tony . . . Tony Adams. We're going to play soccer tomorrow afternoon. Could you ask Edward what time I should pick him up?

MAN: No problem. I'll tell him to call you tonight.

3.

WOMAN: Hey, Andrew, did you hear? This couple was walking to the café on Maple Street when a thief stopped them.

ANDREW: You're kidding!

WOMAN: No, it was terrible! They didn't have any money, so the thief was going to make them go to an ATM machine. But then a police car drove by.

ANDREW: What happened? Did he get arrested?

WOMAN: They said the robber got scared when he saw the police, and he ran down the street and around the corner.

ANDREW: So he escaped?

WOMAN: Actually, the police captured him as he was running away.

4.

MOM: Well, how was the lake today, Katie?

KATIE: Great! There was just one little problem, though.

MOM: Oh, what was that?

KATIE: Well, after I parked the car, we got our lunch out of the trunk and carried everything down to the lake. . . . And, about an hour later, I realized that I had forgotten to lock the car.

MOM: Oh, no! Was anything stolen?

KATIE: Well, I had taken the keys with me, and I had locked my wallet in the glove compartment like I usually do whenever I go swimming.

MOM: Wow . . . you're lucky nothing was stolen. And you've learned a good lesson, haven't you?

KATIE: Uh-huh. Remember to lock the car!
