A FUNNY THING HAPPENED TO MY SISTER Tina last month. She lives in Japan and teaches English. In Japan, people don't usually wear their outdoor shoes in the house or in school. So her school, like a lot of buildings, has a special place for shoes – a shoe box.

Tina teaches English in the evening. One Friday, she went to school, and she put her shoes in the shoe box – as usual. After class, she got ready to leave, but her shoes weren't in the box. There was only one pair of shoes there, and they weren't her shoes! But she needed to get home, so she put on the shoes and left.

On Monday, at her next English class, her shoes were in a shopping bag on her desk! There was a note that said, "I'm so sorry. I took your shoes by mistake!" But there was no name on the note. Somebody was very embarrassed!

1. When does Tina teach English? _____ .
2. Where did Tina put her shoes on Friday? _____ .
3. After class, how many pairs of shoes were in the box? _____ .
4. Where did she find her shoes on Monday? _____ .
