(Track 8)

Meg (on the phone) Hello?

Bill (on the phone) Hi, Meg. It's Bill.

Meg Oh, hi! How are you?

Bill Good. So, how's it going?

Meg Good. You know, I'm in San Francisco this week.

Bill Oh! What are you doing in San Francisco? Are you there for work?

Meg No, I'm here on vacation.

Bill That's great! Are you visiting friends?

Meg No, I don't have friends out here.

Bill So, are you in a hotel?

Meg No, I'm not. I'm with my brother and his wife. You know, my brother lives here, so I visit all the time.

Bill Oh, yeah. Your brother. That's cool. So, what are you doing out there?

Meg Actually, I'm taking a yoga class every morning.

Bill Really? Why are you taking a yoga class on vacation?

Meg Well, my brother's wife is a yoga teacher, so I go with her every day. The class is amazing!

Bill Wow. You really like it, huh?

Meg Uh-huh, I do. . . . Then in the afternoon, I go sightseeing or shopping, and I usually go out with my brother, his wife, and their friends at night. So actually, I'm very tired. (laughs)

Bill So . . . uh . . . what's the weather like? Is it sunny?

Meg Actually, the weather's not great. . . .

Bill Oh, that's too bad.

Meg No, no, it's OK. It's cloudy, but it's not raining.

Bill Well, listen. Have a great time. And call me when you're home.

Meg OK. See you.

Bill Bye!
