(Track 2)

Conversation 1: At a bus stop

Woman The bus is so late!

Man I know. And it's kind of cold today.

Woman It sure is. . . . I think I know you. Are you a student at the university?

Man No, I'm not, actually. But I work there.

Woman Oh, really? Are you a teacher?

Man No, I work at the bookstore. . . . So, you're a student, huh?

Woman Yeah, just part-time. I work part-time, too.

Man Is that difficult?

Woman Yeah, it is, actually. Because my job isn't around here. It takes me an hour to get to work from school.

Man Gosh! That's terrible!

Woman Yeah. It is. And it's kind of expensive, too.

Conversation 2: At a friend's apartment

Marty Hi, I'm Marty. What's your name?

Charlie Charlotte, but please call me Charlie. That's my nickname.

Marty Charlie. OK. . . . I don't really know anyone here, do you?

Charlie No, I don't know anyone either.

Marty But, you're a friend of Jennifer's, right?

Charlie

(laughs) Yeah, I am. Uh . . . Actually, we work together. How about you?

Marty Yeah, I know Jennifer pretty well. We're friends from high school.

Charlie Really? Then I guess you know how old she is, right?

Marty Yeah, I think she's twenty-three today.

Charlie So, um . . . do you like birthday cake, Marty? I mean, would you like some?

Marty Oh, yes, please. And, uh, do you have ice cream?

Charlie Uh-huh. It's chocolate – my favorite. I love chocolate ice cream.

Marty Oh, yeah, I do too. But I can't eat it. I'm allergic to chocolate.
