Introduction

To the student

This book has been written to help you expand your vocabulary at the advanced level. You already know thousands of English words, but to express yourself fully and in a sophisticated way at the advanced level, you will ideally need between 6,000 and 8,000 words, so increasing your vocabulary is very important for your general progress in English, as well as for any academic, professional or vocational needs you may have where English plays an important role. At the advanced level, as well as learning new words, you will need to learn more about the subtle connotations of words, aspects of register and style and how words combine into collocations, compounds and fixed phrases. In this book, there are over 3,000 new words and expressions for you to learn. You will find them on the left-hand page of each unit. Every new word or phrase is used in a sentence, or in a conversation, or is in a table, or has a picture with it, or has some explanation of what it means. On the right-hand page there are exercises and other activities to help you practise using the words and to help you to remember them. Where our research shows that learners frequently make errors, we give you advice on how to avoid the most common ones, as well as other useful language tips. The book has been written so that you can use it yourself, without a teacher. You can do the units in any order you like, but we have grouped them into themes, so you might wish to work through several units on a particular area of vocabulary before moving to a new one.

The Answer key at the end of the book is for you to check your answers to the exercises after you do them. The key sometimes has more than one answer. This is because often there is not just one correct way of saying something. Where you are asked to talk about yourself, in the Over to you activities, we do not provide answers, since this is your opportunity to work completely independently and in a very personal way, so everyone's answer will be very different.

The Index at the end of the book has all the important words and phrases from the left-hand pages. The Index also tells you how to pronounce words. There is a table of phonemic symbols to help you understand the pronunciation on page 276.

You should also have a dictionary with you when you use the book. You can use a paper dictionary, an electronic one, or you can go to Cambridge Dictionaries Online at <http://dictionary.cambridge.org>. Access to a dictionary is useful because sometimes you may want to check the meaning of something or find a word in your own language to help you remember the English word. Sometimes, you will also need a dictionary for the exercises; we tell you when this is so.

To learn a lot of vocabulary, you have to do two things:

- 1 Study each unit of the book carefully and do all the exercises. Check your answers in the key. Repeat the units after a month, and then again after three months, and see how much you have learnt and how much you have forgotten. Repeating work is very important.
- 2 Develop ways of your own to study and learn new words and phrases which are not in this book. For example, every time you see or hear an interesting phrase, write it in a notebook, and write who said it or wrote it, and in what situation, as well as what it means. Making notes of the situations words are used in will help you to remember them and to use them at the right moment.

We hope you like this book. You can also go to the other books in the series which have more specialised titles: English Idioms in Use, English Phrasal Verbs in Use and English Collocations in Use, which are available at advanced level, as well as Academic Vocabulary in Use. Find out more at the Vocabulary in Use website: www.cambridge.org/elt/inuse.

To the teacher

This book can be used in class or as a self-study book. It is intended to take learners from an upper-intermediate level of vocabulary to an advanced level. The vocabulary has been chosen for its usefulness in everyday situations, and we consulted the Cambridge English Corpus, a billion-word-plus written and spoken corpus of present-day English which includes a huge learner corpus, to help us decide on the words and phrases to be included and to help us understand the typical problems learners encounter at the advanced level. We also consulted the English Vocabulary Profile to make sure that the words in the book are a representative sample of vocabulary that is typical of the Common European Framework levels C1 and C2. Visit the English Vocabulary Profile at www.cambridge.org/elt/inuse.

At the advanced level, as well as learning a large number of new words and expressions, learners are often directing their efforts towards academic, professional or vocational needs, and so we have tried to offer a modern, sophisticated vocabulary that will underpin their work in other areas. The new vocabulary (on average 40 items per unit) is presented with explanations on the left-hand page, and there are exercises and activities on the right-hand page. There is an Answer key and an Index with pronunciation for all the target vocabulary. The key at the end of the book is for students to check their answers to the exercises after they do them. The key sometimes has more than one answer. This is because often there is not just one correct way of saying something. Where students are asked to talk about themselves, in the Over to you activities, we do not provide answers, since this gives learners the opportunity to work completely independently and in a very personal way, so everyone's answer will be very different.

The book focuses not just on single words, but on useful phrases and collocations, and the vocabulary is illustrated in natural contexts. The book is organised around everyday topics, but also has units devoted to basic concepts such as time, modality, manner and varieties and style. Typical errors are indicated where appropriate, based on information from the Cambridge Learner Corpus, and the most typical meanings and uses are focused on for each key item.

The right-hand pages offer a variety of different types of activities, some traditional ones such as gap-filling, but also more open-ended ones and personalised activities which enable learners to talk about their own lives. Although the activities and exercises are designed for self-study, they can be easily adapted for pairwork, groupwork or whole-class activities in the usual way.

When the learners have worked through a group of units, it is a good idea to repeat some of the work (for example, the exercises) and to expand on the meaning and use of key words and phrases by extra discussion in class, and find other examples of the key items in other texts and situations. This can be done at intervals of one to three months after first working on a unit. This is important, since it is usually the case that a learner needs five to seven exposures to a word or phrase before they can really begin to know it, and no single book can do enough to ensure that words are always learnt first time. It is especially important at the advanced level to discuss in detail the meanings and uses of words and phrases and how they combine and collocate with one another.

Your students can also consult the more specialised higher level books in this series: the advanced levels of English Idioms in Use, English Phrasal Verbs in Use and English Collocations in Use, or they may wish to work on academic vocabulary by using Academic Vocabulary in Use, all by the same authors as this book. They can also test themselves on the knowledge they have gained from this and the other books in the series by using the separate books of tests that accompany the series. You can find out more at the Vocabulary in Use website: www.cambridge.org/elt/inuse.

We hope you enjoy using the book.

Cramming for success: study and academic work

A Study and exams

Before an exam, some students cram<sup>1</sup> for it. Even if you're a genius<sup>2</sup>, you'll have to do some revision. If the exam happens every year, you can revise by looking at past papers<sup>3</sup>. Some things can be memorised or learnt (off) by heart. But rote-learning<sup>4</sup> is not sufficient for most subjects. It is also possible to use mnemonics<sup>5</sup>. However, all things considered, the best idea is to bury yourself in your books<sup>6</sup> and to study intensively<sup>7</sup> until you know the subject inside out<sup>8</sup>.

- <sup>1</sup> study in a very concentrated way for a short time
- <sup>2</sup> an exceptionally clever person
- <sup>3</sup> exam papers from previous years
- <sup>4</sup> learning purely by repetition
- <sup>5</sup> /ni'moniks/ tricks that help you remember something, for example: 'i' before 'e' except after 'c' is a mnemonic for English spelling (e.g. friend, but receive)
- <sup>6</sup> spend the maximum time studying
- <sup>7</sup> in a very focused way
- <sup>8</sup> know it completely

B Academic writing

composition could be just 50–100 words, often used for school work essay longer than a composition, more serious, hundreds or thousands of words assignment a long essay, often part of a course, usually thousands of words project like an assignment, but emphasis on student's own material and topic portfolio a collection of individual pieces of work; may include drawings and other examples of creative work as well as writing dissertation a long, research-based work, perhaps 10–15,000 words, for a degree or diploma thesis a very long, original, research-based work, perhaps 80–100,000 words, for a higher degree (e.g. PhD)

It's a good idea to start with a mind map<sup>1</sup> when preparing an essay. Always write a first draft<sup>2</sup> before writing up the final version. Your essay should be all your own work; plagiarism<sup>3</sup> is a very serious offence in colleges and universities. It is an increasing problem because it is so easy to cut and paste from materials available on the internet, and students have to sign a plagiarism form to say that the work they are handing in is all their own and that they acknowledge<sup>4</sup> any sources they have used. There is usually a deadline<sup>5</sup>. After the essay is submitted<sup>6</sup>, it will be assessed<sup>7</sup> and usually you can get feedback<sup>8</sup>.

- <sup>1</sup> diagram that lays out ideas for a topic and how they are connected to one another
- <sup>2</sup> first, rough version
- <sup>3</sup> /'pleɪdʒəriəzəm/ using other people's work as if it was yours
- <sup>4</sup> give details of
- <sup>5</sup> date by which you must hand in the work
- <sup>6</sup> handed in; formal
- <sup>7</sup> evaluated and given a grade
- <sup>8</sup> comments from the teacher/tutor

C Aspects of higher academic study

- <sup>1</sup> less formal is do research
- <sup>2</sup> magazines with academic articles (we do not use the word magazine to talk about this kind of academic publication)
- <sup>3</sup> get hold of (it) on the internet
- <sup>4</sup> system where libraries exchange books/journals with one another

- <sup>5</sup> online materials that can be freely used by teachers and students anywhere
- <sup>6</sup> leave the course before the end
- <sup>7</sup> last exams before the end of a college or university course
- <sup>8</sup> with the right formal qualifications

Exercises

1.1 Correct the wrong usage of words to do with written work in these sentences.

- 1 His PhD assignment was 90,000 words long and was on the history of US place names.
- 2 Little Martha did her first dissertation in school today. It was called 'My family'.
- 3 We have to hand in an essay at the end of the course. It can consist of up to five different pieces of work.
- 4 The teacher gave us the title of this week's project today. We have to write 1,000 words on the topic of 'If I ruled the world' and hand it in next Monday.
- 5 At the end of this course, you have to do a 5,000-word thesis which will be assessed, and the grade will contribute to your final degree.
- 6 I think I'll do a study of people's personal banking habits for my MSc composition. It has to be about 12,000 words.
- 7 I've chosen to do the portfolio instead of the two exams, because I like to do one single piece of work where I can research something that interests me personally.

1.2 Rewrite this text using words and phrases from the opposite page instead of the underlined words.

When I'm studying in a very focused way because I'm preparing hard for an exam, I don't see any point in looking up exam papers from previous years, nor is there any point in just learning things by memory. I know some people develop very clever memory tricks to help them remember the material, but there's no real substitute for rereading and going over the term's work. It's a good idea to have some sort of diagram showing different ideas to organise your thoughts, and memory-learning is useful, but in a limited way. At the end of the day, you just have to read a huge amount until you feel you know the subject 100%.

1.3 Answer these questions.

- 1 What do we call the first attempt at writing something, e.g. an essay?
- 2 What word means 'the date by which you must do something'?
- 3 What word means 'using someone else's ideas as if they were yours'?
- 4 What are more formal words for 'to hand in' and for 'to mark'?
- 5 What phrasal verb do we use when someone doesn't complete their course?
- 6 What is another word for an academic article? Where can you read them?
- 7 What is the name of the system for getting books from other libraries?
- 8 What word means 'the comments you get back from the teacher about your work'?
- 9 What word can you use for a person who is extraordinarily intelligent?
- 10 What is a more formal way of saying 'do research'?

1.4 Choose the best word from the opposite page to complete these sentences.

- 1 If you quote an article in an essay, you must ..... your source, giving details of author and title.
- 2 Open educational ..... can be particularly useful for students who do not have easy access to a university library.
- 3 How much ..... have you done for tomorrow's maths exam?
- 4 Don't forget to sign the ..... form and hand it in with your dissertation.
- 5 Some people take a long time to find suitable work even though they are very .....
- 6 Orla has had a ..... published in the British Medical Journal.
- 7 All students need a username and password to be able to ..... journals online.
- 8 Caspar is bound to do well in his mechanics exam – he knows the subject ..... out.

A

Opportunity and equality

All education systems may ultimately be judged in terms of equality of opportunity<sup>1</sup>. This is often referred to in the debates over selective<sup>2</sup> versus comprehensive<sup>3</sup> schooling<sup>4</sup>. The main issue is whether everyone has the same opportunities for educational achievement or whether elitism<sup>5</sup> of one sort or another is inherent in<sup>6</sup> the system.

League tables<sup>7</sup> for schools and colleges may actually help unintentionally to perpetuate<sup>8</sup> inequalities, while claiming to promote the raising of standards. Inevitably, league tables divide educational institutions into good and bad, success and failure, resulting in a two-tier system<sup>9</sup>, or at least that is how the public perceives<sup>10</sup> it. The ability of better-off<sup>11</sup> parents and well-endowed<sup>12</sup> schools to push children towards the institutions at the top of the league may, in the long term, have the effect of depressing<sup>13</sup> opportunity for the less well-off<sup>14</sup> or for children from home environments that do not provide the push and motivation to excel<sup>15</sup>.

<sup>2</sup> pupils are chosen for entry, usually for academic reasons, though, in the case of some private schools, parents' ability to pay school fees may be a factor in selection

<sup>7</sup> lists of schools or colleges, from the best down to the worst, based on exam results and, sometimes, other criteria

<sup>16</sup> money given to pay for studies, usually provided on the basis of academic merit

<sup>19</sup> money that students can borrow from a bank while studying and then pay back once they are in work

B

Other debates and issues

Some people think we should return to an emphasis on the three Rs, the traditional, basic skills. [reading, writing and arithmetic]

Literacy and numeracy are skills no one can afford to be without. [the ability to read] [the ability to count / do basic maths]

Curriculum reform is often done for political reasons rather than for good educational ones.

[changes to what is covered in the national syllabus = plan of what is to be studied]

Nowadays, lifelong/continuing education is an issue, and creating opportunities for mature students is important. [education for all ages] [adult students older than the average student]

Special needs education is expensive because class sizes need to be small or one-to-one. [education for children who cannot learn in the normal way, because they have some disability] [one teacher and one pupil, not a group]

Children are unhappy at school if there is a lot of bullying. [threatening behaviour]

Some headteachers complain that getting to grips with constant new government guidelines on what schools should be doing is a distraction from what they ought to be focusing on. [advice (often official) on how something should be done] [takes attention away]

Language help

Notice how compound adjectives like well-off, well-endowed, high-achieving, badly-performing can be used in comparative and superlative forms, e.g. better-off, best-endowed, higher-achieving, worst-performing.

Exercises

2.1 Complete the collocations by filling in the missing words according to the meaning given in brackets.

- 1 ..... tables (lists of schools from best to worst)
- 2 ..... education (entry to schools is decided by exam results)
- 3 equality of ..... (when everyone has the same chances)
- 4 ..... inequalities (make inequalities continue)
- 5 ..... education (at university or college level)

2.2 Rewrite these sentences so they are more formal by using words and phrases from the opposite page instead of the underlined words. Make any other changes that are necessary.

- 1 Inequality is built into the education system.
- 2 Giving access only to privileged groups is bad for the country in the long term.
- 3 Education where everyone gets into the same type of school without exams is a basic political ideal in many countries.
- 4 A system where there are two levels of schools reduces the opportunities for children from poorer families and favours those from richer families.
- 5 Some private schools have lots of wealth and receive gifts of money, and this means they can have better resources.
- 6 All parents want their children to achieve the best possible results at school.
- 7 Emphasis on the three Rs is considered by parents to be the key to success.
- 8 The government is increasing its provision for education that young people can enter after finishing secondary school.

2.3 Correct these statements about words or expressions from the opposite page. Correct each of them twice – once by changing the definition and once by changing the word being defined.

- 1 One-to-one education is another way of saying continuing education.
One-to-one education means a situation where there is one teacher and one student.
Lifelong education is another way of saying continuing education.
- 2 Numeracy refers to the ability to read.
- 3 A student who is doing a doctorate is an undergraduate.
- 4 Excelling is when a pupil uses frightening or threatening behaviour towards another child who is smaller or less powerful in some way.
- 5 Tertiary education is the stage that follows primary education.
- 6 Comprehensive schools choose the best students to study there.
- 7 Guidelines list schools from good to bad according to their exam results.

2.4 Complete each sentence with a word from the opposite page.

- 1 Matt won a ..... because of his excellent academic record.
- 2 Zara's parents said that starting a rock band with her friends would be too much of a ..... from her studies.
- 3 The report contains some interesting ..... on how best to prepare for exams.
- 4 There were two ..... students in my class at university, but most of us were just 19.
- 5 Katia wouldn't have been able to go to university if her grandparents hadn't paid her tuition ..... for her.
- 6 Most undergraduates need to take out a student ..... to cover their costs while they study for a degree.
- 7 Primary schools usually spend a lot of time on the ..... Rs.
- 8 At university I was lucky enough to have a lot of ..... tutorials, just me and the tutor!

B A cover letter

You want your application to stand out [be better than others], so you should include a clear, well-written cover letter<sup>1</sup> which highlights key points from your CV. Here is a letter sent with the application for the job in A above.

Dear Sir or Madam<sup>2</sup>

Please find attached my CV in support of my application for the position of Customer Service Assistant. I have just completed my degree in Business Studies and am keen to gain hands-on<sup>3</sup> experience in this area.

During my course I chose to study several modules on banking and finance, as I have always been interested in working in this field<sup>4</sup>. In addition, I have worked as a part-time sales assistant in a large department store for the last two years. This has given me valuable customer-facing<sup>5</sup> experience, as well as developing good communication skills both with customers and the rest of the team. I am a team player<sup>6</sup> and I am keen to develop my career and gain managerial experience<sup>7</sup> in the future.

Thank you for taking the time to consider this application and I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours faithfully<sup>8</sup>

Rebecca White

Mention any studies or training courses you have done which are relevant to [connected to] the role.

If you have previous managerial experience, you can say 'In my previous role as (Sales Manager), I led a team of (four people).'

Be sure to specify the job you are applying for at the beginning of the letter.

It is important to mention any relevant experience you have, to show your suitability for the role. If you can, provide examples of specific projects you have carried out. [done]

- <sup>1</sup> a letter sent with a job application (also called a covering letter)
- <sup>2</sup> how you start a letter when you do not know the name of the person you are writing to
- <sup>3</sup> practical, direct (not theoretical)
- <sup>4</sup> area of business or activity
- <sup>5</sup> dealing directly with customers
- <sup>6</sup> a person who is good at working with others
- <sup>7</sup> experience of managing other people
- <sup>8</sup> how you finish a letter when you do not know the name of the person you are writing to

4 Job interviews

A Preparing for interviews

When companies are recruiting<sup>1</sup>, they often have a set of criteria<sup>2</sup> (e.g. three years of experience in the field, or a degree in a relevant area) which they use to find the most suitable candidates. If you are shortlisted<sup>3</sup> for an interview, make sure you do your homework first: find out as much as you can about the company, its products, markets, competitors, etc. If you can, ask a friend to do a trial run<sup>4</sup> with you. This will help boost<sup>5</sup> your confidence. The interview may be conducted by a panel [a group of people], probably including your future line manager<sup>6</sup>. Don't forget to make eye contact with all the interviewers while you are talking. As you arrive for the interview, body language<sup>7</sup> is important. Give a firm handshake and speak up<sup>8</sup>. This will help to create a good first impression.

B During an interview

These are examples of things that might be said at a job interview.

A: So, can you talk us through<sup>1</sup> your CV?

B: Well, I studied Engineering and then took a job as a trainee<sup>2</sup> at F3 Telecom.

A: I'd like to ask about opportunities for professional development<sup>3</sup>.

B: We have a very good in-house<sup>4</sup> training programme for new recruits<sup>5</sup>.

Can you give us an example of how you've worked well under pressure?

How would your colleagues / your supervisor<sup>6</sup> describe you?

I'm keen to take on<sup>7</sup> more responsibility.

A: We're looking to fill the post<sup>8</sup> fairly quickly. If you are successful, how soon could you start?

B: The notice period<sup>9</sup> on my present job is just two weeks, so I could start very soon.

C A job offer

Dear Mr Malton,

Thank you for attending the interview last week. We very much enjoyed meeting you. We are delighted to offer you the position of Trainee Programmer. We believe your qualifications and experience will be an ideal fit for<sup>1</sup> the job.

Please review the attached document outlining<sup>2</sup> your salary, benefits (including paid leave<sup>3</sup>) and reporting structure<sup>4</sup>, and sign where indicated. Return the document within five business days. Once we have received the paperwork, we will contact you to arrange your start date.

We look forward to welcoming you as part of our team.

4.1 Look at A and fill in the tips for a successful interview.

- 1 Before the interview, ..... your ..... : find out as much as you can about the company and prepare answers to common interview questions.
- 2 If you can, do a ..... to practise how you will answer the interview questions.
- 3 You need to create a good ..... with the interviewers. Dress smartly and professionally.
- 4 Remember that your ..... also plays an important part. Don't forget to smile! This will make you seem more friendly, and might actually ..... your confidence too.
- 5 Make sure you greet your interviewer with a ..... . Make ..... when you talk to them – look at them directly.
- 6 During the interview, describe all your relevant education and experience to show how you fulfil all the ..... for the job.

4.2 Choose the correct word from A and B to complete the sentences.

- 1 I'm afraid you'll have to speak up / eye up / head up. I can hardly hear what you're saying.
- 2 We are taking / recruiting / searching people for our new branch in the city centre.
- 3 If we can't fill / fulfil / supply the post internally, we'll have to advertise externally.
- 4 If I get the new job, I will have to take up / over / on more responsibility, but I will get a salary increase.
- 5 I don't like working under pressure / under stress / by force. I end up making mistakes.
- 6 As part of the programme of reporting structure / professional development / notice period, we would like to invite you to a session on project management.

4.3 Rewrite the following sentences using expressions from A, B and C.

- 1 Could you tell us about your previous experience in this field?
- 2 I think we should give the job to Ruth. She seems perfectly suited to the team.
- 3 Employees are entitled to 30 days' holiday.
- 4 The group of interviewers will include your future line manager.
- 5 They just called me to say I have been chosen (as one of the best candidates) for an interview.

4.4 Look at B and C opposite. There is one mistake in each of these sentences. Correct the mistakes.

- 1 Please find attached a document overviewing your working conditions.
- 2 In some companies the leaving period can be as much as six months.
- 3 I'm going to be working as a superior, in charge of a team of 4 people.
- 4 The company doesn't do any in-office training. It's all done externally.
- 5 My begin date for the new job is 1 July.
- 6 I'm a trainer accountant. I haven't passed my qualifying exams yet.

4.5 Over to you

- What do you do before a stressful situation to boost your confidence?
- Would you rather have a lot of paid leave or a higher salary?
- Do you work better under pressure? Or do you prefer to have more time?
- Do you enjoy taking on extra responsibility? Or do you find it stressful?

Colleagues

Philip is my opposite number<sup>1</sup> in the company's New York office. We have a good working relationship<sup>2</sup> and there's a lot of day-to-day collaboration<sup>3</sup>. Having a counterpart<sup>4</sup> like Philip in another branch is a great support. Last month we got a new boss, who quickly established a good rapport<sup>5</sup> with everyone. She likes us to take the initiative<sup>6</sup>. The company is very hierarchical<sup>7</sup>; there's a pecking order<sup>8</sup> for everything. I do a job-share<sup>9</sup> with a woman called Rose, which suits us as we each have childcare responsibilities. My office uses a hot-desking<sup>10</sup> system, so I sit in a different place every day. I socialise with my workmates<sup>11</sup> outside of work, but we try not to talk shop<sup>12</sup> on those occasions.

During the day (different work patterns)

- <sup>1</sup> ordinary, not interesting    <sup>2</sup> have something finished by a fixed day or time    <sup>3</sup> offer to do something without being asked or told to do it    <sup>4</sup> making you feel satisfied that you have done something important or useful, or done something well    <sup>5</sup> encouraging new ideas or new thinking    <sup>6</sup> amount of work I have to do

I start work at my machine at seven o'clock when I'm on the day shift. The job's mechanical<sup>1</sup> and repetitive<sup>2</sup>. All I ever think about is knocking off<sup>3</sup> at three o'clock. The shift I hate most is the night shift. I start at ten and work till six in the morning. It's a bit monotonous<sup>4</sup>. It's not a satisfying<sup>5</sup> job – I feel I need something a bit more challenging<sup>6</sup>.

- <sup>1</sup> you don't have to think about what you are doing    <sup>2</sup> the same thing is repeated every day

I have a pretty glamorous<sup>1</sup> job. I'm a pilot. But the hours are irregular and anti-social<sup>2</sup>. I'm not stuck behind a desk<sup>3</sup>, but long-haul flights can be a bit mind-numbing<sup>4</sup>; most of the time the plane just flies itself. We work to very tight schedules<sup>5</sup>. But I shouldn't complain. I feel sorry for people who are stuck in a rut<sup>6</sup> or who are in dead-end<sup>7</sup> jobs.

- <sup>1</sup> very exciting, which everyone admires    <sup>2</sup> do not enable one to have a normal social life    <sup>3</sup> sitting at a desk all day; informal    <sup>4</sup> extremely boring    <sup>5</sup> very strict or severely limited timetables

- <sup>1</sup> person whose job involves practical work with scientific or electrical equipment    <sup>2</sup> formed a business partnership with    <sup>3</sup> a small business that has just started    <sup>4</sup> or works freelance    <sup>5</sup> someone who writes computer programs

5.1 Correct seven mistakes in this paragraph.

REAL WORKERS, REAL STORIES
more stories | about

I'm a technician in a factory. I think I have a good work relationship with my colleagues. I tried to establish a good report with them from the very beginning. The person I like most is my opposite member in our office in Paris. My boss likes me to make the initiative. Generally, when I socialise with my jobmates outside of work, we try not to talk about shop, but it's not easy and sometimes we have a good gossip about colleagues and events at work.

5.2 Match the left and right-hand columns to make pairs of sentences.

A career in business

B Positive and negative associations

Charming, generous – is that how you think of yourself? Selfish, cunning – that can't be me!

Some words in the chart above have positive associations, others negative ones. Here are some words from the chart, together with other words that share some aspects of their meaning. The table shows which have positive and which have negative associations.

positive	negative	positive	negative generous, unstinting	extravagant, immoderate	shrewd, astute	cunning, sly resolute, dogged	stubborn, obstinate	sober, serious	morose, sullen thrifty, frugal	stingy, parsimonious	witty, pithy	brusque, terse diligent, industrious	work-obsessed, (a) workaholic (noun)	tolerant, open-minded	unprincipled, unscrupulous idealistic, principled	dogmatic, inflexible	chatty, talkative	verbose, garrulous

Exercises

8.1 Read the comments and then answer the questions.

 I wish Tatyana would calm down and not get so over-excited about things.	 Tom thinks his country is better than any other country and doesn't listen to reason.
 Alice can always be relied upon to make the right decision.	 Sophie is always so calm.
 Harry is such a practical and sensible person.	 Andrey has a tendency to say things that upset people.

- |                         |                                  |                        |

My grandfather was a stocky man with big hands and broad shoulders. [short and with a body that is wide across the shoulders and chest]

B Aspects of appearance and complexion

Hi Jessica,

Guess who I bumped into the other day? Our old college mate, Rob Parsons! First thing I noticed was he's really bulked up<sup>1</sup> (he used to be so lean<sup>2</sup> and wiry<sup>3</sup>, didn't he?) but also that he still looks so unkempt<sup>4</sup>. His sister was always the opposite – never a hair out of place<sup>5</sup> and immaculate<sup>6</sup> clothes, remember? But they were different in appearance too, weren't they? He has a rather swarthy<sup>7</sup> complexion: his sister's was more sallow<sup>8</sup>. I must say he looked a bit haggard<sup>9</sup> and exhausted too. He's probably working too hard. Anyway, how are things with you?

C Facial expression

A: What are you grinning at? [giving a big smile]

B: You've got ice cream on your nose – it looks so funny!

Look at those models pouting for the photographers! [positioning their lips in an attractive way]

She said if her daughter doesn't get what she wants, she pouts for the rest of the day. [positions her lips in a look of annoyance]

You don't have to grimace every time I eat raw garlic. I happen to think it's delicious. [make an expression of pain or strong dislike]

I arrived late and she just scowled at me. [gave a bad-tempered, angry look]

He was leering at us. I felt very uncomfortable and wanted to leave. [looking in an unpleasant, sexually interested way]

D Mannerisms and actions

I asked him for advice but he just shrugged his shoulders. [lifted his shoulders up and down to show he didn't know or couldn't answer]

He folded his arms and crossed his legs and waited for me to speak. [crossed one arm over the other close to his body] [crossed one leg over the other while sitting]

He sat there twitching nervously as he waited for his interview. [suddenly making small movements]

She bites her nails all the time. It drives me crazy!

She clenched her fist and told him to get out of the room at once. [closed her hand tightly because of anger]

He just kept tapping/drumming his fingers on the table, looking impatient. [made quick, light hitting movements]

Over to you

- Name three things that you loathe doing.
- Are there any ideas that you find abhorrent? Why?
- Have you ever felt an instant antipathy to someone?
- Do you have a pet aversion? If so, what is it?

A

At the beginning

Pregnancy<sup>1</sup> is the nine-month period when a woman is expecting a baby. It begins with conception<sup>2</sup>, when the mother's egg is fertilised<sup>3</sup> and an embryo<sup>4</sup> implants<sup>5</sup> in the mother's womb, or uterus<sup>6</sup>. Most mothers conceive<sup>7</sup> naturally but some are helped by fertility drugs<sup>8</sup> or other procedures such as IVF<sup>9</sup>. As the foetus<sup>10</sup> grows, it is fed through the mother's placenta<sup>11</sup>. After 40 weeks, the mother usually goes into labour<sup>12</sup>. If this doesn't happen naturally, she may be induced<sup>13</sup>. Usually, a mother is helped to give birth<sup>14</sup> by a midwife<sup>15</sup>. Sometimes a surgeon is needed to deliver<sup>16</sup> the baby by caesarean section<sup>17</sup>.

<sup>1</sup> (adj. = pregnant)    <sup>2</sup> time when sperm and egg meet and a baby starts to form    <sup>3</sup> made to start developing into new life    <sup>4</sup> developing baby    <sup>5</sup> fixes itself    <sup>6</sup> organ inside the mother where the fertilised egg develops into a baby; uterus is a more medical word than womb    <sup>7</sup> become pregnant    <sup>8</sup> drugs that help a woman to become pregnant    <sup>9</sup> in vitro fertilisation: process that fertilises a woman's egg in a laboratory; babies born this way are sometimes referred to as test tube babies    <sup>10</sup> what the embryo developing in the uterus is known as from eight weeks onward    <sup>11</sup> organ connecting the developing baby to the mother and giving it food    <sup>12</sup> goes into the last stage of pregnancy, where the womb starts the process of pushing the baby out of the body    <sup>13</sup> be helped medically to start the process of labour (noun = induction)    <sup>14</sup> have her baby    <sup>15</sup> person medically trained to help women when they are giving birth    <sup>16</sup> help the mother to give birth (noun = delivery)    <sup>17</sup> operation in which the mother's abdomen and womb are cut open to allow the baby to be removed

Language help

Expect when it means 'expect a baby' is only used in the continuous form, e.g. *Helena and her sister are both expecting (NOT expect).

At the end

More and more people these days are living to a ripe old age<sup>1</sup>. My aunt, for example, that's my late<sup>2</sup> father's sister, is 93. She's been a pensioner<sup>3</sup> for more years than she worked. She lives in sheltered accommodation<sup>4</sup> but she's not at all dodderly<sup>5</sup> or gaga<sup>6</sup>. She's lucky still to have all her wits about her<sup>7</sup> because a lot of elderly people develop dementia<sup>8</sup>. Funerals are changing a lot too. I went to one recently where there was a coffin<sup>9</sup> in the colours of the dead man's football team. And at the wake<sup>10</sup>, his sister told me she'd put it in her will<sup>11</sup> that her own ashes<sup>12</sup> are to be sent up in a rocket! Funerals now are often more about celebrating a person's life rather than just about mourning<sup>13</sup>. As for me, I think I'd prefer an ordinary cremation<sup>14</sup>. But then I'd quite like to have my ashes scattered<sup>15</sup> at sea, as I love sailing.

<sup>1</sup> living well into old age; usually used in the phrase to live to a ripe old age    <sup>2</sup> now dead    <sup>3</sup> elderly person, receiving an old age pension from the state    <sup>4</sup> special housing, usually for old people, where care staff also live    <sup>5</sup> weak and unable to walk well, usually because of old age; informal    <sup>6</sup> unable to think clearly because of old age; informal and offensive    <sup>7</sup> is still able to think and react quickly    <sup>8</sup> an illness that causes problems with memory loss    <sup>9</sup> box where the dead person is put    <sup>10</sup> gathering of family and friends after a funeral    <sup>11</sup> legal document saying what is to happen to your possessions after your death    <sup>12</sup> remains of a body after cremation (see 14)    <sup>13</sup> expressing sadness after someone's death (the mourners have been bereaved)    <sup>14</sup> service at a place called a crematorium, where a dead body is burnt (as opposed to a burial, where the body is buried in the ground)    <sup>15</sup> spread around

Many students, both male and female, would agree that they often look scruffy<sup>1</sup> in their T-shirts and jeans. However, those who go into the world of business have to make a rapid transition and learn about dress codes<sup>2</sup> in the workplace. Business attire<sup>3</sup> needs to project a professional image, and clothing that reveals<sup>4</sup> too much cleavage<sup>5</sup> (for women), or your back, your chest or your midriff<sup>6</sup> is not appropriate, even in a casual business setting. For women, see-through fabrics<sup>7</sup> should be avoided, and skirts should not be too tight or too short, though nobody wants to look frumpy<sup>8</sup>. For men, trousers should not be too tight, or shirts too open. Women often need a good choice of outfits<sup>9</sup> and men find a good range of suits<sup>10</sup>, ties and casual trousers and jackets invaluable<sup>11</sup>. Accessories<sup>12</sup>, e.g. jewellery, shoes and cufflinks<sup>13</sup>, can also enhance the professional look. Some offices have dress-down days<sup>14</sup>, often Fridays, when staff can wear more casual clothes. In other jobs, of course, people are required to wear uniforms, or protective clothing such as overalls<sup>15</sup> and safety helmets<sup>16</sup>.

Language help

Invaluable means extremely valuable. The opposite of valuable is valueless or without value.

Words and expressions about clothes

C

Being in fashion

These jackets are all the rage. [very fashionable]    The woman was dressed in the very latest fashion. [an extremely fashionable way]    Dresses like this are the height of fashion. [very fashionable]    The magazine has up-to-the-minute fashion articles. [dealing with the most recent trends]    The film has set a new trend for the silk top the star wore. [started a new fashion]    A trend-setter is a person whose style is followed by others.    High heels are on trend this year. [fashionable]    Large handbags are this year's must-have item. [thing that everyone wants]    If a fashion/trend catches on, it becomes popular.    A slave to fashion is someone who is strongly influenced by fashion. [used in a disapproving way]    Your new outfit really suits you. [looks good on you]

Clothes in metaphors

to speak off the cuff [without having prepared anything]    to be hand in glove with someone [to have a close working relationship with someone]    to do something on a shoestring [spending as little as possible]    no frills [simple and plain]    to put someone in a straitjacket [restrict someone's freedom]    to draw a veil over something [not to talk about something]    to have something up your sleeve [to have a secret plan or idea]

Nouns for social events

Hi Rebecca,

How's life? Things have been really hectic on the social front here. It seems to be nothing but parties! Frankie and Joe had their housewarming<sup>1</sup> last week, now that they've decorated and got all their furniture in. A lot of our friends seem to be getting married lately: Josh went to his friend Mick's stag party<sup>2</sup> last weekend – they went to Spain for it! And next week, my old schoolmate Angela's having her hen night<sup>3</sup>. It's fancy dress<sup>4</sup> too. I think I'll go as Cleopatra. The wedding's at the end of the month. I think the wedding party<sup>5</sup> will include a lot of our year from school; that'll be nice. They're having the reception<sup>6</sup> at the Royal Hotel, very posh. The following week Josh has got his annual company ball. It's a black-tie<sup>7</sup> affair.

Meanwhile, I've got the launch party<sup>8</sup> for my new book coming up next month and I have the usual girls' night out<sup>9</sup> with Amy and Izzie every few weeks. Oh, and there's a leaving do<sup>10</sup> at the office next week. We're going to be exhausted by the end of the year!

Hope to hear from you soon, Jess x

Exercises

19.1 Look at A opposite and decide what kind of party you might be invited to if:

- 1 a friend of yours is about to get married and is having a party before the wedding (depending on whether you are male or female).
- 2 you are going to help a friend celebrate on the day of their wedding.
- 3 some friends have just moved into a new flat.
- 4 a friend has just had a book published.
- 5 your local council is arranging for important people in the area to meet a visiting dignitary.
- 6 you have friends who love dressing up as characters from famous films.

19.2 Rewrite these sentences by replacing the underlined words with an expression from the opposite page that means the same thing. There may be more than one possible answer.

- 1 It's always good to see Theo, but somehow he always manages to stay too long.
- 2 I'm going to a dinner at the Royal Plaza Hotel tonight. It's an event where you have to wear a dinner jacket and bow tie.
- 3 Don't forget your old friends when your film becomes a hit and you're socialising with the rich and famous.
- 4 We're going to have a night out just for us girls on Friday.
- 5 We must invite Jasmine to our do. She's a real lover of parties!
- 6 Don't always wait for people to do things for you. You should be more prepared to take action yourself.
- 7 It's good to see you! We must have lunch together sometime and discuss business.
- 8 It irritates me the way he's always being so friendly with the managers.

19.3 There is one mistake in each of these sentences. Correct the mistakes.

- 1 He usually hangs over with his college friends at the weekend and they go to football matches and things.
- 2 Nella and her friends are very clique. They don't mix with anyone else.
- 3 I'd better go home now. You've been very kind, but I don't want to stay out my welcome.
- 4 She said she wanted to go out with me, then she stood me down!
- 5 Rita and Nick are an article. They've been together for months. Didn't you know?
- 6 Laurie's crowds are really fun people. I often meet up with them in town.

19.4 Over to you

- Which of the types of party listed in A have you had personal experience of? How did you enjoy them?
- Who do you mostly knock around with? Are any of your friends party animals?
- Have you ever rubbed shoulders with anyone famous? If not, who would you most like to rub shoulders with?

Exercises

20.1 Give an adjective from A which is opposite in meaning to the following words.

- |                              |                                  |
|------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1 credible, believable ..... | 4 exaggerated .....              |
| 2 original, innovative ..... | 5 coherent, smooth-flowing ..... |
| 3 underrated .....           | 6 fascinating .....              |

20.2 Now use other adjectives from A instead of the underlined words in these sentences. Make any other changes that are necessary.

- The musical shocked some people because they thought it was immoral and was attacked by several politicians and religious figures.
- Her dance performance was one of those you will never forget, simply marvellous.
- I can't remember the last time I saw such a film that keeps you in suspense and totally absorbed all the time.
- It was a play that aroused very deep emotions in me.
- It's a film that is difficult to watch without getting very upset.
- His first stand-up routine had the audience falling off their seats with laughter.

20.3 Fill the gaps in this paragraph with words from the opposite page. The first letter is given to help you.

Two new musicals opened last week. The first, Dogs, turned out to be a total <sup>1</sup>f..... It was loudly <sup>2</sup>b..... by the audience and <sup>3</sup>p..... by critics, who had praise only for the male lead's <sup>4</sup>i..... of his role. The other show, Danger, has, however, received <sup>5</sup>g..... reviews and has been given a standing <sup>6</sup>o..... at every performance so far.

20.4 Read the text and underline the words or phrases that match the eight definitions. Use a dictionary if necessary.

- the way an actor creates a picture of a person
- he/she is the wrong actor for that part
- a film/book/play that keeps you in suspense
- keep you in suspense / constantly excited
- up-and-coming
- a film which huge numbers of people will go and see
- a police or crime theme
- a very great work of art

Cliffhanger not to be missed

In this latest blockbuster cops-and-robbers movie from the Holdart Studios, budding Hollywood star Fletch Packline plays country-boy Ricky Smart, who gets involved with a gang of criminals intent upon stealing ten million dollars from a Chicago bank.

Packline's portrayal of the confused small-town boy caught up in big city crime is convincing, but Julia Fischer as his long-lost sister is somewhat miscast. Not a masterpiece, but it will certainly keep you on the edge of your seat.

20.5 Over to you

Think about performances that you have seen. What words from this unit could you use to describe them or to talk about them?

A Changing tastes

Throughout the centuries, people have tended to be suspicious of the new art movements of their period. At the end of the 19th century, for example, people were shocked by Impressionism<sup>1</sup>, criticising its practitioners as careless daubers<sup>2</sup>. Later, when faced with Cubist<sup>3</sup> paintings, the public were puzzled by those too. The Surrealists<sup>4</sup> were initially deemed<sup>5</sup> crazy. Op-art<sup>6</sup> was criticised because its subject matter<sup>7</sup> was said to consist of nothing of significance. However, nowadays, liking Surrealism<sup>8</sup> or Op-art is considered perfectly acceptable, and images from these schools of art<sup>9</sup> appear everywhere, from posters to advertising campaigns. Perhaps because of the ubiquity of advertising, people tend to be more visually literate<sup>10</sup> than they used to be, and so are perhaps inured to<sup>11</sup> surprises. Perhaps new movements in art will meet with less hostility in future.

1, 3, 4, 6, 8 types of artist and schools of art of the last 150 years    2 someone who paints quickly and carelessly (disapproving)    5 considered; formal    7 content    9 art movement    10 educated with regard to art    11 not affected by priceless: extremely valuable (opp. = worthless)

skilful: clever, masterly, done well (opp. = poorly done)

C Art and metaphor

Notice how words connected with art can be used when talking about literature.

The writer paints his hero in a fascinating light. Minor characters are more shadowy or sketchy but they are also depicted quite powerfully, even though the focus is, inevitably, on the two central characters. These are portrayed with great sensitivity. The heroine is particularly colourful and we see how her character is shaped and moulded by events. Some say the author illustrates his motifs in a black-and-white fashion, but the image he creates to illuminate the evils of slavery will remain with me for ever.

22.5 Over to you

Think of a book you read and enjoyed recently. Which words from this unit describe it best?

A

Describing food products

Food production has become increasingly industrialised and globalised, and so knowing what our food contains has become more and more important. Labels do not always help. Adjectives such as 'wholesome'<sup>1</sup>, 'farm fresh' and 'homemade' can be rather vague and meaningless, while the international numbering system for additives<sup>2</sup> is often incomprehensible to people. Some familiar descriptions, however, do have a clear official meaning, for example 'wholefoods'<sup>3</sup>, 'free-range'<sup>4</sup> eggs, 'gluten-free'<sup>5</sup> bread or 'contains no artificial colours or preservatives<sup>6</sup>'. Clear and scientifically accurate descriptions can be vital for people who suffer from food allergies<sup>7</sup> and for vegetarians or vegans<sup>8</sup> who want to know exactly what is in a product, as well as being important for consumers looking for natural or unprocessed<sup>9</sup> foods, or those concerned about animal welfare<sup>10</sup> who may wish to avoid food produced by battery-farming<sup>11</sup> methods and so on. With the growth in popularity of convenience foods<sup>12</sup>, alongside public health concerns over bad diet and obesity, simple and unambiguous nutrition labels<sup>13</sup> are more important than ever. An example of a simple system is traffic-light labelling<sup>14</sup>, which indicates high (red), medium (amber) or low (green) levels of such things as fat, sugar and salt. Finally, good labelling tells us where the food was produced and under what conditions, for example fair trade<sup>15</sup> products.

<sup>2</sup> substance added to food to improve its taste or appearance or to preserve it

<sup>3</sup> foods that have not had any of their natural features taken away or any artificial substances added

<sup>4</sup> produced by farm animals that are allowed to move around outside and are not kept in cages or stalls

<sup>5</sup> not containing a protein which is contained in wheat and some other grains

<sup>7</sup> condition that makes a person become ill or develop skin or breathing problems because they have eaten certain foods or been near certain substances. The related adjective is allergic (to).

<sup>8</sup> person who does not eat or use any animal products, such as meat, fish, eggs or cheese

<sup>9</sup> which have not been treated with chemicals that preserve them or give them extra taste or colour

<sup>11</sup> system of producing a large quantity of eggs or meat cheaply by keeping a lot of birds in rows of small cages

<sup>15</sup> a way of buying and selling products that makes certain that the original producer receives a fair price

Exercises

23.1 Read the comments and then answer the questions.

Carlos

I never buy eggs that come from battery farms. They have no flavour.

Beth

I can't be bothered cooking. I just buy ready-made meals and tins of stuff.

Rowan

It worries me that farm animals are sometimes treated so badly.

Hannah

I can't eat curry. It makes me come out in red spots.

Thomas

I want my food to be 100% natural.

Atsuko

I always buy coffee that gives growers in developing countries a decent price.

- 1 Who is concerned about animal welfare?
- 2 Who wants food without additives?
- 3 Who uses a fair trade product?
- 4 Who has a food allergy?
- 5 Who uses convenience foods?
- 6 Who prefers a free-range product?

23.2 Complete the sentences. The first letter of the missing word is given.

- 1 The label gave no n..... information, so I didn't know if it was good for me.
- 2 The t..... - ..... system of labelling is easy to understand with just three familiar colours.
- 3 I try to make my diet as w..... as possible and not eat things which I know are bad for me.

- 6 They lived together happily for many years, but things changed for the worse when his mother came to live with them. (sour)
- 7 Patience combined with interest in your pupils is bound to lead to success for a teacher. (recipe)
- 8 Jake's ideas are never thought through properly. (bake)
- 9 There were some very unpleasant and offensive characters at that party. (savoury)
- 10 He has invented a crazy scheme for making money on the internet. It has all the necessary characteristics of a complete disaster. (cook, ingredient)

A Paying the bill

We'll split the bill, shall we? [either each person will pay for himself/herself, or the bill will be divided equally between all the participants]

Lunch is on me today. [I am paying for you; informal]

Would you like to join us for dinner at the City Plaza hotel? [come with us]

We'd like you to be our guest. [we will pay; formal]

Let me get this. [pay the bill; informal]

I was wined and dined every night by the New York office. [invited out to restaurants]

B Describing service

A new Italian restaurant called Bella Roma has just opened in the High Street, and we went there the other night to try it. I couldn't help comparing it to the Casa Italia, where we ate last week. In the Bella Roma, the service was impeccable<sup>1</sup> and quick; at the Casa Italia it's always a bit sluggish<sup>2</sup>. In the new place the waiters are courteous<sup>3</sup> and friendly without being overbearing<sup>4</sup>. In the other place they tend to be sullen<sup>5</sup> and the service is rather brusque<sup>6</sup>, which I find very off-putting<sup>7</sup>. But at Bella Roma they'll go out of their way<sup>8</sup> to give you what you want.

<sup>8</sup> do everything possible

C Food preferences

I have a sweet tooth and can never say no to cakes or biscuits. [love sweet things]

I won't have dessert, thanks. You're lucky being so slim, but I'm afraid I have to count the calories /

I have to be a bit calorie-conscious these days. [be careful how many calories I eat]

I'll just have a small portion of dessert, please. [amount of a particular food that is served to one person]

I like to end the meal with something savoury, like cheese. [salty in flavour, or with herbs]

Ben's a bit of a fussy eater. [person who has very particular demands when eating]

No, thanks, I won't have wine. I'm teetotal. [never drink alcohol]

Before I book the restaurant, do you have any particular dietary requirements? [special needs or things someone cannot eat; formal]

- A: Yes. You have no choice. They just give it to you and you can't dispute it at the time.
- 7 A: The man at the garage said my car wasn't in a fit condition to be driven legally.
B: Oh, so it's not .....
- 8 A: They charge a lot to drive across the new bridge!
B: Oh, really? Do you have to pay a .....? I didn't know that.

25.3 What do you think the underlined expressions mean? Write their meaning in your own words. Use a dictionary if you can't work out the meaning from the context.

- 1 There were three separate accidents in the city centre during the rush hour and soon there was total gridlock. It took about two hours to clear.
- 2 The police car made me pull over and they checked my lights.
- 3 I had a minor bump yesterday. It wasn't serious, but one of my lights got smashed.
- 4 My car conked out on the motorway and I had to ring for assistance. It cost me £100.
- 5 He's a bit of a back-seat driver, so don't be surprised if he criticises your driving.

A Booking travel and holidays

Here are some choices you may make when booking travel or holidays.

A scheduled flight is a normal, regular flight; a charter flight is a special flight taking a group of people, usually to the same holiday destination. Some airline tickets may have restrictions (e.g. you can only travel on certain days). Such tickets can offer good value for money but, if you cancel, they are non-refundable<sup>1</sup> or you may have to pay a cancellation fee. Some tickets allow a stopover<sup>2</sup>. A package holiday normally includes accommodation and transfers, e.g. a coach or a shuttle bus to and from your hotel. An all-inclusive holiday includes your flight, accommodation and all meals, drinks and snacks in the hotel.

Sea travel is normally on a ferry, and the journey is called a crossing, but you can have a holiday on the sea if you go on a cruise. For some people, a luxury cruise is the holiday of a lifetime<sup>1</sup>. You may decide to book a berth in a shared cabin<sup>2</sup>, or to have a single or double cabin. For more money, you can often get a deluxe cabin, perhaps on the upper deck<sup>3</sup>. Cruises often go to exotic<sup>4</sup> islands where you can get away from it all<sup>5</sup>.

Train travel allows you to relax as you travel and look at the countryside through the windows of your carriage. Railways link major towns but you may have to change trains<sup>1</sup> if you are not able to get a through train<sup>2</sup>.

Car hire is another way of getting around<sup>1</sup>. When you book it, you may have to choose whether you want unlimited mileage<sup>2</sup>. There may also be extras to pay, such as accident insurance. If you hire a car, it gives you the freedom to come and go as you please<sup>3</sup>.

B Accommodation when travelling

Some people like camping<sup>1</sup> while others prefer hotels. Or you can have a self-catering<sup>2</sup> holiday, such as staying in an apartment or chalet<sup>3</sup>. You can also choose to stay in a guest house<sup>4</sup> or an inn<sup>5</sup>. Some types of accommodation offer half board<sup>6</sup> or full board<sup>7</sup>.

A Describing tourist destinations

DESTINATION: SURINAME

If you're the type of traveller who wants to escape the crowds<sup>1</sup>, get off the beaten track<sup>2</sup> and get back to nature<sup>3</sup>, take a closer look at Suriname. Suriname's tourist sector<sup>4</sup> is relatively modest and the emphasis is on what makes the country different for the discerning<sup>5</sup> traveller. Other Caribbean nations may boast<sup>6</sup> better sand, sea and sun, but because of that, you won't find hordes<sup>7</sup> of people in Suriname. What you will find is a wealth of<sup>8</sup> wildlife with a huge range of flora and fauna<sup>9</sup>. More than 12% of the country is given over to national parks<sup>10</sup> and nature reserves<sup>11</sup> and large tracts<sup>12</sup> of the country are covered by virgin<sup>13</sup> rainforest. So, if you are seeking something out of the ordinary<sup>14</sup>, click here for more information.

- <sup>1</sup> go where there are not many people    <sup>2</sup> go to places tourists don't normally go, somewhere different/unusual

- 6 If somewhere was described as a 'paradise', would that be positive or negative?

27.4

Over to you

Think about holidays you have had. How would you describe them? Then think about your perfect holiday. What words from this unit can you use to describe it?

A Climate

<sup>1</sup> the amount of rain that falls, for example in a month or in a year    <sup>2</sup> dry    <sup>3</sup> tending to have a particular negative characteristic    <sup>4</sup> long period without rain

B Vegetation

More than 30% of the landscape of Canada lies inside the Arctic Circle, where the land can stay frozen for up to nine months of the year. In these regions, known as the tundra<sup>1</sup>, vegetation<sup>2</sup> is limited. Further south, dense, coniferous<sup>3</sup> forests known as taiga cover large areas of land. Towards the border with the United States are the grasslands of the prairies<sup>4</sup> and the mixed, temperate forests.

C Agriculture

Rice is the main crop grown in the south of China, along with tea, cotton, fruit and vegetables. The rice is planted in flooded paddy fields<sup>1</sup>. A good year can see two crops of rice and one of vegetables harvested. In the drier, hillier north and west, farmers generally harvest a single crop of cereals<sup>2</sup> and, in addition, tend<sup>3</sup> sheep and cattle.

<sup>1</sup> fields planted with rice growing in water    <sup>2</sup> type of grass cultivated to produce a grain, e.g. a food plant like rice, wheat or maize    <sup>3</sup> take care of

D Industry

E Population

Brazil is a vibrant mixture of peoples. Some are descended from<sup>1</sup> indigenous<sup>2</sup> tribes, others from the Portuguese, who were the colonial power in Brazil for 300 years. Many Brazilians have African ancestors<sup>3</sup> brought over in the 17th century as slaves to work on sugar plantations. During the 20th century, large numbers of European migrants<sup>4</sup> settled<sup>5</sup> in the south.

<sup>1</sup> are related to someone who lived in the past    <sup>2</sup> existing naturally in that place    <sup>3</sup> relatives from earlier times: we are our ancestors' descendants    <sup>4</sup> people who move to live in another country or another part of their own country (often for reasons of economic need; an emigrant is someone who leaves a country, an immigrant is someone who moves to live in a country)    <sup>5</sup> made their homes

Exercises

28.1 Match the two parts of the collocations from the opposite page. Note the words are not all in bold.

- 6 In the extremely dry southern provinces, plant life is sparse.
- 7 In the cold northern regions, the landscape consists mostly of permanently frozen ground with no trees.
- 8 The tribes that have always existed naturally in the eastern jungles are now facing threats to their way of life.
- 9 The farmlands are dotted with woods that lose their leaves in winter, while the large forests of trees that are always in leaf provide the country with much-needed timber.
- 10 The flat grasslands of the northern USA experienced a severe long period with no rain last year.

28.5

Over to you

If your country is not one of the ones on the opposite page, write a short paragraph about it in the same style, or else choose another country and do the same.

A

Weather conversations

Here are some less common but nonetheless useful words about weather, so that you can have typical weather conversations where you agree with someone by using a near-synonym. In these examples, B replies using more informal language.

A: Bit cold today, isn't it?

B: Yes, it's chilly/freezing/nippy, isn't it?

A: It's hot, isn't it?

B: Yes, it's boiling/sweltering/roasting!

A: What a downpour/deluge!

B: Yes, it's chucking it down / it's pouring!

A: Isn't it humid today?

B: Yes, horrible muggy/clammy/sticky weather!

B

Climate and metaphors

Climate metaphors are often used, particularly in written English.

The word climate can refer to the general atmosphere or situation in society.

His secrecy and dishonesty created a climate of distrust.

The government reforms have contributed to a climate of change.

The words cultural, current, economic, financial, moral, political, social and prevailing all collocate strongly with climate in this social sense.

She has a very sunny disposition – she's hardly ever miserable.

Though they won the championship last year, the outlook for the team is less sunny this year.

Unfortunately, our plans met with a frosty reception.

I'm snowed under with work – I'll never get through it all in time.

After the company accounts were examined, the manager left under a cloud.

Don't let your love for him cloud your judgement.

The soldiers were hit with a hail of bullets.

The Prime Minister was greeted with a hail/storm of abuse.

I've only a hazy memory of my first day at school.

The truth is hidden in the mists of history.

The article sparked a whirlwind of speculation.

They had a whirlwind romance and got married just a month after they met.

The horses thundered down the racetrack.

Thunderous applause followed his speech.

(Note that thundery is used to describe stormy weather while thunderous describes a loud, deep noise.)

The winds of change/discontent/democracy are blowing across the country.

Exercises

29.1 Respond to these statements about the weather. Agree using slightly more formal language like that of speaker A in the conversations on the opposite page.

- |                                       |                                |
|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 1 It's a bit nippy outside, isn't it? | 5 Close today, isn't it?       |
| 2 What a sweltering day!              | 6 It's chucking it down!       |
| 3 Isn't it muggy here?                | 7 It's clammy today, isn't it? |
| 4 It's blowy, isn't it?               | 8 What a sticky day!           |

29.2 What are the metaphorical meanings of these words from B opposite?

- |  |                |              |
|--|----------------|--------------|
| 1 sunny – pleasant and positive | 4 snowed under | 7 climate    |
| 2 frosty                               | 5 whirlwind    | 8 hazy       |
| 3 to cloud                             | 6 hail         | 9 to thunder |

29.3 Find collocations for these words. You will find some on the opposite page, but use a dictionary to find more if necessary.

- |              |       |                |       |
|--------------|-------|----------------|-------|
| 1 climate    | ..... | 4 the winds of | ..... |
|              | ..... |                | ..... |
|              | ..... |                | ..... |
| 2 prevailing | ..... | 5 a frosty     | ..... |
|              | ..... |                | ..... |
|              | ..... |                | ..... |
| 3 to cloud   | ..... | 6 a hail of    | ..... |
|              | ..... |                | ..... |

29.4 Read the text below and find words in it which mean the following.

- |                             |   |
|-----------------------------|---|
| 1 average                   | 6 rays from the sun   |
| 2 dry                       | 7 make less extreme   |
| 3 height above sea level    | 8 situated very far from the sea                              |
| 4 distance from the equator | 9 differing weather conditions at different times of the year |
| 5 rain and snow             |   |

Schemes for dividing the Earth into climatic regions are based on a combination of indices of mean annual temperature, mean monthly temperature, annual precipitation totals and seasonality. The climate of a place is affected by several factors. Latitude affects the amount of solar radiation received, with the greatest in equatorial regions and the least in polar regions. Elevation affects both temperature and precipitation; mountainous areas are generally cooler and wetter. Location close to the sea or to large bodies of water moderates temperature; continental areas are generally more arid and more affected by extremes of temperature.

29.5 Over to you

- What words can you use to describe the climate in your country?
- How would you describe the economic climate?

A

Buildings

To build something/someone up can be used metaphorically to mean to praise someone or something in a way that will increase expectations of them: The press has built up the young footballer so much that it must be extra pressure on him.

Note how cement is used to fix bricks firmly in place and to make relationships more solid. It can be used in this way both as a noun and a verb: Let's have a drink together to cement our partnership.

To come up against a brick wall is used metaphorically, meaning to meet a barrier: When I tried to find out who had opened my letters, I came up against a brick wall.

Ceiling can be used to suggest a limit to something: They put a ceiling on the number of planned redundancies.

The glass ceiling is a phrase used to refer to an invisible barrier that stops people, especially women, from rising to top positions at work.

Roof is used in a number of common metaphors: The roof fell in on my world on the day he died. [My world collapsed ...]

Conversely, the floor can give way metaphorically when you faint.

The informal phrase go through the roof is used about prices, meaning to increase in a rapid, uncontrolled fashion.

Hit the roof means get very angry: My mother will hit the roof when she sees what we've done.

Window, both literally and metaphorically, means an opening.

A window of opportunity is a chance to do something special: If you see a window of opportunity, then take advantage of it.

If a quality or idea goes out (of) the window, it means it departs: Once the boys started going around together, common sense went out of the window.

As a very tall building, tower conveys an idea of distance from ordinary people. If someone lives in an ivory tower, he/she does not know about the unpleasant and ordinary things that happen in life: Academics are often criticised for living in their ivory towers.

If a person is a tower of strength, they are extremely strong (in an emotional rather than a physical sense): Our friends were a tower of strength when our house burnt down.

If a person or thing towers above something or someone, they are either outstandingly tall or outstanding in some other positive way: Lauren towers above all her classmates, although she is actually one of the youngest students.

B

Entrances

Gateway is used metaphorically in the phrase be a gateway to, meaning give an opportunity to get somewhere: A degree in law is a gateway to a well-paid job.

Door can also be used in a similar way to gateway above, but it is also used in many other metaphorical phrases as well: Failing his final exams closed/shut a lot of doors for him. Knowing several languages opens doors when it comes to finding work. The new year gives us the opportunity to close the door on the past and make a fresh start. Doing something through/by the back door suggests doing it unofficially: Jack came into the business by the back door – the manager knew him from university. Doing something behind closed doors suggests secrecy: Unfortunately, the decision was taken behind closed doors and no one knows exactly why it was made.

Key can be used as a noun to suggest the importance of something: This research may provide/hold the key to developing a cure for cancer. Knowing the right people is the key to success in that country.

Over to you

Which of the metaphors in this unit also work as metaphors when translated literally into your own language? Look at exercise 30.4 as well as the opposite page.

A

Parts of a plant

Here are some metaphors based on parts of trees and plants:

Seed(s) is often used to talk about the start of an idea or feeling: the seeds of success, the seeds of discontent, the seeds of revolution.

Root(s) is used to suggest the origins of something. You can talk about going back to your roots, for example, meaning going back to the place where your family came from. You can also talk about the root of a problem or the roots of a tradition. Putting down roots means settling down and making your home in one place: After travelling the world for a couple of years, I was ready to go home and put down some roots.

When an idea becomes known or accepted, it can be said to take root. The grassroots supporters of an organisation or society are the ordinary people in it, not the leaders.

Deeply and firmly collocate with rooted: Its origins are firmly/deeply rooted in the 19th century.

Stem is used as a verb to signify that something originates in something else: Her discontent stems from a traumatic experience she had last year.

Bud is used in the expression nipped in the bud [flower before it opens] [stopped before it develops into something]: He's showing signs of neglecting his work – we'd better nip that in the bud.

The adjective budding can also mean showing promise of future development: She's a budding young actor.

A branch is something that grows off or branches out from a main organisation. We talk about branches of a shop or a business branching out into new directions: We don't have the blue sweater in your size here, but you could try our Oxford Street branch.

Rhinos are hunted for their horn, which is said to have healing powers. [hard, pointed, often curved part growing from the head of an animal]

Exercises

32.1 Rewrite the underlined phrases in these sentences using words from the opposite page.

- 1 There are a lot of different types of squirrels, rats, mice and things like that living in the woods.
- 2 A whale isn't a fish, as it doesn't lay eggs. It's actually an animal that gives birth directly.
- 3 There are some interesting turtles and crocodiles and that sort of thing near the river.
- 4 Everyone thinks these animals eat meat, but in fact they only feed on certain kinds of leaves.
- 5 The mother bird protects her eggs from animals that attack them.
- 6 Many different species have died out because their habitat has been destroyed.

32.2 Fill the gaps in these sentences using adjectives from B on the opposite page to describe gentle or aggressive behaviour, or the relationship between animals and humans.

- 1 Sheep are generally rather ..... animals, but the other day a ram attacked our dog.
- 2 Lions can look very ..... with their huge teeth and large heads.
- 3 Horses were probably first ..... many thousands of years ago.
- 4 Some dolphins are very ..... and will swim along with human beings.
- 5 I don't think ..... birds should ever be hunted. They should be left in peace in their natural surroundings.

32.3 Here are the beginnings of some words related to animals and birds. Can you fill in the missing letters? You are given a clue as to the meaning.

- 1 h..... (natural home)
- 2 s..... (protected place)
- 3 r..... (protected area, often for big game)
- 4 s..... (creature that eats flesh of, e.g., birds killed by other animals)
- 5 s..... (pet that has wandered away from home)
- 6 m..... (animal that carries its young in a pouch until the young are fully developed)
- 7 m..... (travelling a long way to live somewhere else for a while)
- 8 d..... (an extinct bird or an out-of-touch person or idea)

32.4 Answer these questions.

- 2 What name is given to the activity of buying and selling elephants' tusks?
- 3 What do we call people who illegally hunt or catch animals or fish?
- 4 What arguments would animal rights activists have against the fur trade?
- 5 What is the most valuable part of the rhino and the reason why it is hunted?
- 6 Where might you go to get a pet if you want to give a home to one that no longer has one?
- 7 Where might you go in Africa to see wild animals?
- 8 What do you call creatures like mammals that always have approximately the same temperature?
- 9 What is used to describe creatures like reptiles and is the opposite of the answer to 8?

32.5 Complete the following table. Do not fill the shaded boxes. Use a dictionary if necessary. In the noun and adjective columns, mark which part of the word is stressed.

noun	verb	adjective carnivore herbivore predator poacher migration
domestication

You probably already know a lot of words for talking about the environment, pollution, and so on. In this unit we focus particularly on collocations (words that are often used together). Try to learn these and use them in your writing.

A

Threats and potential threats to the environment

Shrinking habitats<sup>1</sup> are a threat to biodiversity<sup>2</sup>, in terms of both plants and animals, and endangered species<sup>3</sup> need legal protection if they are to survive. Although some climate change sceptics<sup>4</sup> disagree, most scientists believe that global warming<sup>5</sup> will increase. This will encourage polar ice to melt, resulting in rising sea levels and climatic changes. Carbon (dioxide) emissions<sup>6</sup> from the burning of fossil fuels<sup>7</sup> are contributing to the greenhouse effect<sup>8</sup>. In addition, population growth exerts severe pressure on<sup>9</sup> finite resources<sup>10</sup>, and the ecological balance<sup>11</sup> may be upset by uncontrolled deforestation<sup>12</sup>. Demographic projections<sup>13</sup> suggest the world population will continue to grow exponentially<sup>14</sup>, putting extra pressure on depleting resources<sup>15</sup>. Waste disposal<sup>16</sup> is an increasing problem and toxic waste<sup>17</sup> is contaminating<sup>18</sup> many rivers and seas. Safe water may become an increasingly precious commodity<sup>19</sup>, leading to issues of water security<sup>20</sup>. One of the worst-case scenarios<sup>21</sup> is that there will be no tropical rainforests left by the year 2050. Our only hope is that pristine environments<sup>22</sup> such as Antarctica can be protected from development and damage, so that at least these habitats are preserved.

<sup>1</sup> places where animals live and breed which are decreasing in size    <sup>2</sup> variety of different types of biological species    <sup>3</sup> types of animals/plants which are in danger of no longer existing    <sup>4</sup> people who do not believe that climate change is a serious issue    <sup>5</sup> steady rise in average world temperatures    <sup>6</sup> carbon dioxide gas from factories, cars, etc.    <sup>7</sup> coal, oil, etc.    <sup>8</sup> warming of the Earth's surface caused by pollution, where gases trap and redirect heat back down to the Earth's surface    <sup>9</sup> puts great pressure on; formal    <sup>10</sup> limited resources that will eventually run out / be exhausted    <sup>11</sup> balance of natural relationships in the environment    <sup>12</sup> unrestricted destruction/clearing of forests    <sup>13</sup> forecasts about the population    <sup>14</sup> grow extremely rapidly    <sup>15</sup> resources that are reducing    <sup>16</sup> getting rid of waste    <sup>17</sup> poisonous waste materials    <sup>18</sup> poisoning (something)    <sup>19</sup> very valuable substance    <sup>20</sup> ability to ensure that a population has safe drinking water    <sup>21</sup> the worst possibilities for the future    <sup>22</sup> perfectly clean/untouched/unspoiled areas

Responses to environmental issues and problems

GOVERNING PARTY IN BID TO IMPROVE

PROPHETS OF DOOM AND GLOOM<sup>2</sup> SHOULD LISTEN TO SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE, SAYS PRIME MINISTER

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT<sup>3</sup> THE ONLY ANSWER FOR EMERGING COUNTRIES, SAYS UN COMMISSION

RENEWABLE ENERGY<sup>4</sup> – GOVERNMENT DEVELOPS
NEW STRATEGY

<sup>2</sup> people who always make the most depressing or pessimistic predictions about the future
<sup>3</sup> development of industry, etc. which does not damage the environment or social and economic stability, and which can continue over a period of time <sup>4</sup> energy produced using sun, wind or crops rather than coal or other fuels which cannot be replaced once used

Common mistakes

People cause damage to the environment (NOT damages).

Exercises

33.1 Make these sentences formal by using words and phrases from A opposite instead of the underlined words, making any other necessary changes.

- 1 All that carbon-what's-it-called gas put out by cars and factories is a major problem.
- 2 These flowers here are a type there's not many left of, so it's illegal to pick them.
- 3 A lot of wild animals have to survive in smaller and smaller areas where they can live.
- 4 A lot of Patagonia is a completely spotless area that's never been touched.
- 5 We have to look after the things we use on this planet because they won't last for ever.
- 6 If the cutting down of trees continues, there will be no forest left ten years from now.
- 7 Burning coal and oil and stuff like that causes a lot of pollution.
- 8 The sea will get higher if this heating up of the world continues.
- 9 Increasing population puts really big pressure on economic resources.
- 10 The way things all balance one another in nature is very delicate.

33.2 Complete the following table, using a dictionary if necessary. Do not fill the shaded boxes.

noun	verb	adjective	adverb climate demography project sustain contaminate toxic

33.3 Correct the mistakes in this paragraph.

Profits of boom and gloom are always saying that we are heading for an environmental catastrophe, and that unless we adopt a policy of attainable development, we will cause irreparable damages to the planet. The worst-place scenery is of a world choked by overpopulation, the greenhouse affect and traffic gridlock. Much of what is claimed is exaggerated, but politicians are influenced by such voices and are always trying to improve their green potentials in the eyes of the voters.

33.4 Match words on the left with words on the right to make collocations about the environment.

- |                  |                          |               |
|------------------|--------------------------|---------------|
| 1 renewable      | <input type="checkbox"/> | a scenario    |
| 2 demographic    | <input type="checkbox"/> | b sceptic     |
| 3 precious       | <input type="checkbox"/> | c effect      |
| 4 polar          | <input type="checkbox"/> | d energy      |
| 5 waste          | <input type="checkbox"/> | e projections |
| 6 greenhouse     | <input type="checkbox"/> | f disposal    |
| 7 worst-case     | <input type="checkbox"/> | g commodity   |
| 8 climate change | <input type="checkbox"/> | h ice         |

A

Good service

Read these comments by someone about a company they recently used.

They're a good company. They always make sure you get a prompt<sup>1</sup> reply to any query<sup>2</sup> and they're very responsive to<sup>3</sup> complaints. When I rang to ask if I could change the delivery date, they were very accommodating<sup>4</sup> and got back to<sup>5</sup> me within ten minutes with a new date. Whenever I ring, I get impeccable<sup>6</sup> service; they're always very helpful and obliging<sup>7</sup>, whatever the problem is.

<sup>7</sup> willing and happy to do things for someone

B

Adjectives connected with bad service

adjective	meaning	example
incompetent	failing through insufficient skill, knowledge or training	It wasn't just bad service; they were completely incompetent .
impersonal	lacking a personal element or feeling of human warmth	I find some big shops so impersonal .
shoddy	poor quality (of service or of goods)	They repaired my car but the work was very shoddy .
substandard	below the standard expected (often used about actions)	It was a substandard performance altogether for such a big company.
uncooperative	not supportive, unwilling to work together	The secretary was very uncooperative , so I ended up doing it myself.

There's a huge backlog of orders and they can't deliver for three weeks. [number which are waiting to be dealt with]

They never seem to have any sense of urgency when you ring them. It's exasperating. [feeling that your request is important or urgent]

They have a helpline, but it's useless; they always put you on hold every time you ring. [telephone number where you can get help if you have problems] [make you wait]

The home button on my tablet stopped working but it was still under guarantee/warranty so I didn't have to pay to get it repaired. [having a written promise by a company to repair or replace a faulty product]

C

Service encounters on the internet

Most big companies offer a secure site where you can set up an account, and they have a privacy policy guaranteeing secure transactions. [web address where no outside person can read your details] [enter all the details necessary to open an account] [set of rules to make sure your account is private] [business exchanges which protect, e.g., your credit card from use by someone else]

The hotel website lets you check availability and has all the information you need on its home page. [whether they can supply something, e.g. a room for when you want it] [main or first page of a website]

This site has a very good FAQ link where you can find answers to the most important questions. [frequently asked questions (pronounced as initials)]

This online bookshop is excellent: you can browse and it has a very good site index. [look at the list of goods/services offered before buying] [alphabetical list of contents of website]

Most large online stores offer immediate dispatch and a nationwide service. [goods will be sent at once] [covering the whole country] You can also track your order so you know when it will be delivered. [follow]

Do you buy clothes online or do you prefer to buy them in-store? [in a real shop]

37.2 Here is an extract of someone talking about a festival using rather informal language. Write it as a more formal description, using words and expressions from the box instead of the underlined words. Make any other necessary changes.

parade   atmospheric   focus   associate   trace back to   raucous   pagan   symbolise sombre   superstitious   flamboyant   renewal

Well, it was called the Festival of Flowers, and it was to do with the coming of spring, after the dark, serious winter months. It was a time of everything being new again. Its origin can be seen in the religious tradition of taking flowers to offer them to the gods. Spring flowers were the main thing in the festival, and there was always a big group of people marching through the streets. It was all very lively and extremely colourful and probably rather noisy, and there was a great atmosphere. The flowers meant new life, and people thought they would be guaranteed a good harvest later in the year if they were offered to the gods. Nowadays, most people don't have such funny beliefs about nature, but there are still some festivals that are all about nature's special powers celebrated every year.

A Influencing political decisions

www.parliament.uk

Ordinary citizens in the UK can have their say in political life in a number of ways. They can:

- Lobby<sup>1</sup> MPs and Members of the House of Lords (who are known as peers) about a particular issue.
- Petition<sup>2</sup> the House of Commons to tell MPs about views on an issue and request action.
- Comment on legislation<sup>3</sup> going through Parliament during the committee stage<sup>4</sup> of a Public Bill<sup>5</sup> in the House of Commons.
- Submit evidence to a Select Committee<sup>6</sup> inquiry scrutinising<sup>7</sup> the work and policies of the government.

<sup>2</sup> formal process involving sending a written appeal to an MP, following a set format, which is then presented to the Commons by the MP

B Lobbying and petitioning

Methods of lobbying vary and can range from sending letters and making presentations to providing briefing<sup>1</sup> material to Members and organising rallies<sup>2</sup>. Often the result lobbyists are seeking is for the MP or peer to vote a certain way on a specific issue. However, this decision will ultimately<sup>3</sup> be down to<sup>4</sup> the MP or peer's own judgement and the influence (if any) that existing party policy will have on them.

The public can petition the House of Commons to make MPs aware of their opinion on an issue and to request action. All that's needed is that the petition is properly set out<sup>1</sup> and has the signature and address of at least one person. A petition can also be created and submitted online, as an e-petition. The text of the petition is published in Hansard<sup>2</sup>. There is a procedure for petitions in the Lords, but it is very rarely used. Generally, MPs will present<sup>3</sup> all petitions they receive from their constituents<sup>4</sup>. MPs present petitions by either giving a short statement in the debating chamber of the House of Commons or by simply placing the petition in the Petition Bag (which hangs behind the Speaker's<sup>5</sup> Chair). If a petition gets 100,000 signatures, the government will respond and it will be considered for debate. A copy of the petition is sent to the appropriate government department. Government departments are expected to offer observations<sup>6</sup> on all substantive<sup>7</sup> petitions.

C Select Committees

There is a Commons Select Committee for each government department, examining three aspects: spending, policies<sup>1</sup> and administration. Some Select Committees have a role that crosses departmental boundaries<sup>2</sup>, such as the Environmental Audit<sup>3</sup> Committee. Other Commons Committees are involved in a range of ongoing investigations, such as allegations<sup>4</sup> about the conduct<sup>5</sup> of individual MPs. Lords Select Committees do not shadow<sup>6</sup> the work of government departments. Their investigations look into specialist subjects, taking advantage of the wide-ranging<sup>7</sup> expertise<sup>8</sup> of the Lords and the greater amount of time (compared to MPs) available to them to examine issues. Committees in the House of Lords concentrate on six main areas: international relations, the European Union, science and technology, economic affairs, communications and the UK constitution<sup>9</sup>.

United Nations

The UN is an international organisation constituted<sup>1</sup> in 1945 to make the world a better place for humanity<sup>2</sup>. From its foundation<sup>3</sup>, it has pursued<sup>4</sup> these key aims:

- To keep peace throughout the world.
- To establish<sup>5</sup> friendly relations between countries.
- To work together to improve people's lives by conquering<sup>6</sup> poverty, disease, illiteracy<sup>7</sup> and environmental destruction, and to encourage respect for each other's rights and freedoms.
- To be a centre for supporting nations in achieving these goals.

In other words, the UN stresses the importance of negotiation<sup>8</sup> when there are disagreements between countries. It is opposed to injustice<sup>9</sup> and upholds<sup>10</sup> the rights of minorities<sup>11</sup> but it will only support military intervention<sup>12</sup> if its Security Council agrees that this is justified<sup>13</sup>.

Words and expressions with law

A law-abiding person is someone who always obeys the law.

A law-breaker is someone who – often and deliberately – does not obey the law.

If you take the law into your own hands, you do something illegal to punish someone because you feel the legal system will not punish that person.

If you lay down the law, you say with great force what you think should happen.

If someone is a law unto himself/herself, he or she behaves in a way which is independent and not the way in which most other people behave.

War and violence

War is often seen as a last resort<sup>1</sup> when relations between states break down totally and diplomacy<sup>2</sup> and such measures as economic sanctions<sup>3</sup> have failed. The decision to take military action is rarely made lightly, since even the best-planned military operations, carried out with the benefit of the latest hi-tech weaponry<sup>4</sup>, inevitably result in civilian casualties<sup>5</sup>. Military intervention<sup>6</sup> may be carried out with the goal of regime change<sup>7</sup>, but it is often the leaders of tyrannical<sup>8</sup> regimes who are the most difficult to overthrow<sup>9</sup>. Even more tragic than wars between states is civil war<sup>10</sup>, which often begins with civil unrest<sup>11</sup> and clashes<sup>12</sup> between rival<sup>13</sup> ethnic<sup>14</sup> religious or political groups, and may escalate<sup>15</sup> into all-out<sup>16</sup> war and end in the brutal suppression<sup>17</sup> of one group by another or, in extreme cases, ethnic cleansing<sup>18</sup> and massacres<sup>19</sup>. Conflict resolution<sup>20</sup> may take years to bring into effect, and mistrust<sup>21</sup> and hatred<sup>22</sup> between groups within the same country may continue for many years.

In this unit we focus particularly on collocations (words that are often used together).

A

International aid and development

European countries have, in recent years, turned their attention to supporting real and sustainable development<sup>1</sup> in Africa. There are many encouraging signs that such projects have taken root<sup>2</sup>. In the five years up to 2015, a score of African countries achieved economic growth of more than 4% per year. Foreign direct investment also rose. Africa's share in world trade now shows real signs of recovering from a long decline. From Ghana in the west to Ethiopia in the east and Mozambique in the south, Africa's economies have consistently grown more rapidly than those of almost any other region of the world. A dozen countries' economies have expanded by more than 6% a year over a period of six or more years. But many millions of people in Africa still live in deep poverty<sup>3</sup> and more determined efforts are needed to tackle the problem. The European Union is committed to supporting and allocating<sup>4</sup> funds and development grants<sup>5</sup> to those African governments which are pursuing<sup>6</sup> policies to reduce and eradicate<sup>7</sup> poverty and improve access to healthcare, education and clean water supplies.

<sup>6</sup> following policies is also a collocation    <sup>7</sup> completely get rid of something bad

B

Collocations related to the noun debt

Countries often find it impossible to repay debt; the debt burden is too great. Easing the debt burden or cancelling debt helps debtor countries/nations free themselves from the problem of incurring more and more debt. Alleviating debt / Debt relief for poor countries should be a priority.

C

Trade and cooperation

Free trade agreements often cause disputes between countries, especially when one country thinks the other is engaged in restrictive practices<sup>1</sup>. Occasionally, trade wars erupt, and sanctions<sup>2</sup> or embargoes<sup>3</sup> are imposed on countries that may not be lifted for long periods. On the other hand, countries closely related economically and enjoying good relations have the possibility of entering into monetary union and having a single currency.

D

Economic difficulties

If an economy is badly affected by war, we may refer to it as a war-torn economy. Economies in a bad state are often referred to as ailing economies.

Devaluation/Revaluation of the currency may be necessary. [reduction/increase in value against other currencies] Economies may go into recession and not come out of / emerge from recession for several years. Indeed, countries may even suffer a double-dip<sup>1</sup> recession. A country may suffer from a slump in prices<sup>2</sup> for its goods. Lower taxes may be introduced to boost the economy<sup>3</sup> when it is in recession.

Common mistakes

The verb meaning to reduce the value of a currency is to devalue (NOT devaluate).

Exercises

45.1 Try to remember the collocations in A opposite. Fill the gaps in these sentences.

NEWS TODAY

There are a number of different types of journalism: print journalism<sup>1</sup>, broadcast journalism<sup>2</sup>, online journalism<sup>3</sup>—and, increasingly, citizen journalism: this is where ordinary citizens use social media to report, photograph and share news with others.

Professional journalists gather news in a number of different ways. They may get stories from pressure groups<sup>4</sup> which want to air their views<sup>5</sup> in public. Journalists also attend press conferences<sup>6</sup> where politicians or others may issue a statement or press release<sup>7</sup>. A person seeking publicity<sup>8</sup> will try to include a soundbite<sup>9</sup> in what they say.

Journalists also hunt for<sup>10</sup> stories by tapping useful sources<sup>11</sup> and by monitoring<sup>12</sup> international news agencies like Reuters. The more important a story is, the more airtime<sup>13</sup> it will achieve and the more column inches<sup>14</sup> it will be given in the newspaper or on the webpage: in other words, the more coverage<sup>15</sup> it will receive. Paparazzi<sup>16</sup> follow celebrities or public figures and try to get photographs of them for newspapers and magazines.

B Delivering the news

A rag is an informal word for a newspaper and it suggests that it is not of very high quality. The gutter press is a disapproving term used about the kind of newspapers and magazines that are more interested in crime and sex than serious news.

Journalists produce copy, which has to be ready for a deadline. With printed newspapers, when everything is ready, the newspaper goes to press.

Previous issues of a paper are known as back copies. These are usually accessible in an online archive.

A story that is only to be found in one newspaper is an exclusive or scoop. All newspapers or TV news channels hope to run a story that no one else has discovered. A major story can be said to hit the headlines on the day it is published. At that time, the story breaks or becomes public knowledge.

A newspaper may be taken to court for libel or defamation of character if it publishes an untrue story that, for example, wrongly accuses someone of something.

Journalists of different political persuasions will put their own gloss/spin on a story. [present it in their own way]

Some journalists gather stories by muck-raking. [collecting scandal]

Generally, newspapers like to make stories sound more dramatic by using words like heroic and triumph, even for some occurrence that is quite ordinary. [happening, event]

Language help

Media is a plural noun and should be used with a plural verb, e.g. The media are blamed for a number of social problems. However, some people treat it as if it were a singular word, e.g. Social media has had a huge impact on our lives. Media is often used as an adjective in phrases like media reports/coverage/attention/interest/hype.

50.2 Fill the gaps with words from the opposite page.

The way journalists work has changed a lot over the last twenty years. When I started out as a junior reporter, we had to produce all our <sup>1</sup>..... to very tight <sup>2</sup>....., because we had to make sure it was all in place before the paper <sup>3</sup>..... to press, ready to be in the shops the next morning. Now a lot of what we do is online, which means we can publish a story only a few minutes after it <sup>4</sup>..... It's much easier to find old articles to check facts, too, because most newspapers have an online <sup>5</sup>..... that you can access. People expect a lot more photos these days, though, which is why we rely on the <sup>6</sup>..... so much.

50.3 Answer these questions about the words and expressions in B opposite.

Healthcare professionals

Many professionals are trained to help people stay healthy and to treat health problems.

Primary care is provided by the doctors (also known as physicians) or nurses who the patient goes to first when they have a problem. This may happen at the doctor's surgery or, sometimes, during a home visit. A locum is a doctor who does the job of another doctor who is ill or on holiday. Most medical care, whether it is for an acute condition<sup>1</sup> or a chronic condition, is provided through the primary care system. Secondary care is provided by specialists in special clinics or hospitals. Patients are referred to a specialist by their doctor. These may specialise, for example, in a particular organ<sup>2</sup> or a specific age group. Specialists (what they specialise in is in brackets) include, among many others: ophthalmologists (eyes), cardiologists (heart), psychiatrists (the mind), dermatologists (skin), gynaecologists (women's reproductive systems), obstetricians (pregnancy and childbirth), paediatricians (children), and anaesthetists (anaesthesia or stopping people from feeling pain during surgery). There are also healthcare workers who focus on what is sometimes referred to as alternative medicine or complementary medicine<sup>3</sup>, including: acupuncturists<sup>4</sup>, chiropractors<sup>5</sup>, homeopathic doctors<sup>6</sup> and aromatherapists<sup>7</sup>.

Health systems

In Britain, healthcare<sup>1</sup> is paid for through taxes and national insurance<sup>2</sup> payments taken directly from wages and salaries. The government decides how much will be spent on the National Health Service<sup>3</sup>, but a lot of people feel they do not spend enough. Hospital treatment and visits to a family doctor (or GP<sup>4</sup>) at a surgery<sup>5</sup> or clinic<sup>6</sup> are free, but there is often a prescription charge<sup>7</sup>. Private healthcare is available and a large number of insurance schemes exist to enable people to 'go private'<sup>8</sup>.

<sup>5</sup> small centre offering primary care, run by a single GP or a group of GPs (surgery can of course also mean the branch of medicine that involves carrying out operations)

<sup>6</sup> centre which specialises in treating a particular condition or group of conditions

<sup>8</sup> choose private healthcare

Feeling unwell

Some informal expressions that mean 'not well, but not seriously ill'.

A: You look a bit off-colour today. Are you all right?

B: I'm just feeling a bit out of sorts, it's nothing to worry about.

I was feeling a bit under the weather, so I stayed at home yesterday.

Katy's been feeling poorly for a while.

I'm fighting off a cold at the moment. [trying to get rid of]

Rani isn't in today; she's gone down with flu. [has caught, usually a non-serious illness]

I'm not going to work today. I've come down with a dreadful cold. (we usually say come down, not go down with, when talking about ourselves)

Harry suffers from hay fever and sneezes a lot if he's near grass or flowers. [used for more long-term problems]

B

Minor health problems

Note that hurt is different from ache:

My arm hurts where I banged it against the car door. [gives pain caused by an injury]

My back aches after all that digging yesterday. [persistent low-level pain]

The fixed expression (the usual) aches and pains is often used to refer in a non-serious way to minor problems: Mum's feeling fine, apart from the usual aches and pains (NOT ~~pains and aches~~).

The fixed expression cuts and bruises can refer to minor injuries: Jason had a few cuts and bruises when he fell off his bike, nothing serious (NOT ~~bruises and cuts~~).

Some other kinds of physical discomfort:

My hand's been stinging ever since I touched that plant. [sudden, burning pain]

My head is throbbing. [beating with pain]

I have a stiff neck from sitting in a draught yesterday. [pain and difficulty in moving your neck round]

She was a bit feverish this morning, so I told her to stay in bed. [with a high temperature/fever]

I feel quite shivery / hot and cold. I think I must have a temperature. [shaking slightly, usually because of a fever]

I've had a lot of sleepless nights recently. [without sleeping much]

I had a terrible nauseous feeling after taking the medicine, but it passed. [/'nɔ:ziəs/ feeling that you want to vomit]

He was trembling all over; I knew it must be something serious. [shaking]

My nose is all bunged up today with this horrible cold. [blocked; informal]

Language help

You can call a physical pain a dull/nagging/throbbing ache but the noun hurt refers to emotional pain, e.g. The break-up of their relationship caused them both deep hurt.

C

Getting better

I had a virus last week, but I got over it quite quickly. [got better, recovered]

Jo's recovering from a major operation. [getting better: used for more serious illnesses]

Dan felt terrible last week, but he's on the mend now. [getting better]

It's taking Hania some time to recover from her accident, but she's over the worst now. [past the most difficult period]

She'll be back on her feet again soon. [fully healthy again]

National Rail Strike

23 November

The country has been <sup>1</sup>..... by the latest rail strike, with no rail services at all running today. The railway service has been <sup>2</sup>..... for some time, but if today's action is prolonged it may prove <sup>3</sup>..... to the rail industry. The Minister for Transport commented: 'The country has been suffering from a <sup>4</sup>..... of local strikes since the first one in Nortown last month. It was <sup>5</sup>..... and one strike led to another. Things reached <sup>6</sup>..... pitch last week and we can only hope that this <sup>7</sup>..... will come to an end soon.' The minister's <sup>8</sup>..... is that things will only start to improve once people appreciate the seriousness of the situation.

A

A healthy heart

<sup>5</sup> sudden change in the blood supply to the brain causing loss of function of part of the body

<sup>8</sup> substance in foods such as fruit, vegetables and brown bread, which travels through the body as waste

<sup>10</sup> type of flour made from oats or a grain used to make porridge [a cooked breakfast cereal]

Exercise and calories

One of the most efficient forms of cardiovascular<sup>1</sup> exercise is running or fast walking, which have been proved to have a positive effect in reducing cholesterol levels. This type of exercise lowers your blood pressure and can help diabetics<sup>2</sup> too, by helping their insulin<sup>3</sup> work more effectively. Running or jogging is also a great way to burn calories, and you don't have to be excessively sporty<sup>4</sup> to do it. Based on a calculation of your body weight in relation to the time you devote to an activity, a person who weighs 63 kilos can burn 148 calories by jogging for 20 minutes. The same person doing half an hour of cycling at 25 kph could burn more than 330 calories. Exercise can also speed up your metabolism<sup>5</sup>, which helps you to burn calories more quickly. This can help to lower your BMI<sup>6</sup> to a healthy level. If you're intent on<sup>7</sup> losing weight, running, brisk<sup>8</sup> walking and fast cycling are excellent ways of doing so!

<sup>2,3</sup> people suffering from diabetes, an illness in which the body cannot cope with glucose [sugar] because it does not produce enough insulin [hormone that controls the level of sugar in the body]

<sup>4</sup> good at or keen on sports

C

Sport and fitness metaphors

I scored an own goal when I told my boss it had only taken me a day to write the report. Now she wants me to write several a week. [tried to gain an advantage, but made things worse for myself rather than better]

My boss always seems to be moving the goalposts, which makes it very difficult to know what he wants. [changing the rules]

The new EU laws aim to provide a level playing field for all member states. [fair situation]

He's too young to be in the running for such a job. [seriously considered]

The two main parties in the election are still neck and neck in the opinion polls. [level with each other and equally likely to win]

Politicians often skate around a subject. [don't talk directly about]

The students all sailed through their exams. [passed very easily]

54.1 Rewrite the underlined parts of the sentences using words and expressions from A and B opposite.

- 1 Eggs and shellfish are full of substances that keep our bodies healthy.
- 2 Foods with a lot of cholesterol are fine if eaten in moderation.
- 3 These foods do not necessarily cause a danger to health.
- 4 The most important thing is not to slow down or prevent the flow of blood.
- 5 Fatty plaque can block the arteries.
- 6 Scientists recommend a diet with lots of fibre.
- 7 Running is a good form of exercise that affects the heart and blood circulation.
- 8 Fast walking is also good for you.
- 9 Jogging is a great way to use calories.
- 10 To do enough of this kind of exercise, you don't have to be a lover of sport or good at it.

54.2 Answer the questions.

- 1 What two serious illnesses can result from clogged blood vessels?
- 2 What word could you connect to these words before the hyphen to mean 'with a lot of'?
.....-fibre .....-energy .....-calorie
- 3 What word could you connect to these words after the hyphen to mean 'with a lot of'?
protein- ..... vitamin- .....
- 4 Why are lentils and oatmeal good for our diet?
- 5 What is another way of saying 'He is determined to do more exercise'?
- 6 Which people might be interested in helping their insulin to work more effectively?
- 7 What abbreviation is used to talk about the amount of fat in someone's body?
- 8 What can you increase or speed up by exercising?

54.3 What sports do each of the metaphors in C come from?

54.4 Rewrite these sentences using metaphors from C.

- 1 Elsa passed her exams without any difficulty at all.
- 2 I wish he'd get directly to the point.
- 3 I've been told that they are seriously considering me for the job of supervisor.
- 4 I didn't do myself any favours when I offered to help with the washing-up so I could borrow Dad's car. Now my parents expect me to do it every night!
- 5 The situation is hardly fair when 18-year-olds take the same exam as 15-year-olds.
- 6 It's hard to know what to do when the regulations seem to be constantly changing.
- 7 The two candidates are in exactly the same position in the race to become President.

A Industries and industrial practices

expression	explanation	opposite expression	explanation
heavy industry	e.g. steel works, shipbuilding	light industry	e.g. manufacturing car parts, TV sets
manufacturing industry	making things, e.g. consumer goods	service industry	serving people, e.g. tourism, banking
high-technology (high-tech; informal)	involving computers, e.g. software industry	low-technology (low-tech; informal)	involving little or no computer technology
cutting-edge technology	involving new and innovative technology	conventional technology	using standard, proven technology
privatisation	e.g. selling off state railways to private companies	nationalisation / state ownership	when industry is owned by the government

Many big industries are run as public-private partnerships. [partly state-owned, partly owned by private industries or businesses]

The nuclear industry receives a huge subsidy from the government. [money/grants which enable it to stay in profit]

The government tries to encourage inward investment. [investment from foreign companies]

B Industrial practices

example	explanation
Most of the factory workers are on piecework .	they are only paid for the amount they produce
Many people now work on zero hours contracts , which means they have no job security.	they are employed by a company, but the number of hours they work each week may vary, and some weeks there may be no work for them, so they receive no pay
Child labour is a serious problem in some countries.	the employment of children to do adult jobs
In many countries, the right to trade union representation has only come after long struggles.	a union that negotiates wages and conditions for the people it represents
Many cheap electrical goods are produced in sweatshops in poorer countries.	factories where people work very long hours for low wages
Retraining and reskilling are necessary when an economy is modernised.	training people for new jobs and teaching them new skills

In many cases, components<sup>5</sup> for cars are imported and then assembled<sup>6</sup>, rather than manufactured in the country.

Exercises

55.1 Use expressions from the table in A opposite to rewrite the underlined parts of these sentences with more appropriate vocabulary.

- 1 The economy cannot depend only on businesses like restaurants and hotels. We need to encourage industries that make things we can sell.
- 2 In this area, there are a lot of industries that use computers and things, while in the north, they depend more on industries that don't use such up-to-date technology.
- 3 The latest, innovative technology is very expensive, so the company has to rely on existing, standard technology.
- 4 The idea that industries should be owned by the government is less popular than it was, but the trend towards selling off these industries has slowed down.
- 5 Industry with big factories producing things like steel and so on has declined, and now we're more dependent on industry that makes things like radios and furniture.

55.2 Give words or expressions which mean:

- 1 a combination of state ownership and private ownership
- 2 payment or grant from the government which enables a loss-making industry to continue
- 3 investment in a country by foreign companies
- 4 system of paying employees only for the amount they produce
- 5 an economy that depends on factories producing large quantities of cheap goods based on long hours and low wages
- 6 to change the location where goods are produced (Give two answers.)
- 7 to train people for new jobs and teach them new skills (Give two answers.)
- 8 a big company with operations in many different countries
- 9 an effort to reduce costs
- 10 using children to do adult jobs
- 11 an employment contract which does not guarantee you work or pay every week

55.3 Here are some more expressions relating to problems in industry. Make sure you know what they mean, then use them to fill the gaps in the sentences below. Use a dictionary if necessary.

black market   copyright infringement   industrial piracy   industrial espionage money laundering

- 1 ..... is a serious problem in many parts of the world, with factories producing illegal copies of top brand names.
- 2 It was a serious case of ..... The designs for the new aircraft were photographed illegally and sold to a rival company.
- 3 ..... is a problem for people who make a living writing books. Illegal editions mean that the author receives no payment.
- 4 ..... is a huge international problem, as police and banks try to trace money from the illegal drugs trade and terrorism.
- 5 There is a big ..... in the importation of untaxed luxury cars in some countries.

55.4 Over to you

- What kinds of industries have you worked in? Which would you like to work in? Why?
- Would you buy an item if you believed child labour was involved in its manufacture? Why / Why not?
- Would you buy illegal imitations of famous designer brands? Why / Why not?

A Technological advances affecting daily life

technology	examples of uses/applications	example sentences with associated key words
digital technology	digital photography, digital video and audio recording; digital broadcasting	The sound quality of a digital voice recorder is superior to that of an analogue one. [non-digital]
wi-fi	a system for connecting electronic devices to the internet without using wires	The hotel has wi-fi in every room.
satellite communications	satellite navigation [SATNAV] systems; mobile phones	She doesn't use a road map now because her new car has GPS (global positioning system) built in, so she gave me her old plug-in SATNAV .
biotechnology	genetic modification of plants	Biotechnology companies are experimenting with new, disease-resistant crops for farmers. [with a high level of protection against diseases]
artificial intelligence (AI)	automatic translation; identification systems	Scientists working in AI are hoping to create computers that will be more and more like the human brain.
ergonomics	design of environments so people can work efficiently and comfortably	This car has ergonomically designed seats. [designed to give maximum comfort and efficiency]
Bluetooth™	connecting electronic devices to each other with no wires	My car has Bluetooth , so I can connect my phone to the speakers.

B How much of a techie* are you?

[* person who loves acquiring all the new technology]

Today we are all to some degree dependent on technology. How many of these things do you own or use?

a smartphone [a mobile phone that can be used as a small computer]

a hands-free earpiece and microphone for your mobile

a smart ID card for entering your workplace or college a laptop (computer) or notebook

a desktop computer for the home or office an MP3 player

a games console

a tablet using a touchscreen, such as an iPad an e-reader, such as a Kindle an interactive flat-screen TV

a router to let you connect to the internet from different devices

Language help

Technical (adverb = technically) means relating to the knowledge, machines and materials used in science and industry, e.g. Removing the salt from sea water is a technically complex process.

Technological (adverb = technologically) means relating to or involving technology, e.g.

Technologically, their company is a long way behind ours.* Note that technically – NOT technologically – can also be used to mean according to an exact understanding of the facts, e.g. The recession is technically over but things are still difficult for many people.

Exercises

56.1 Based on A opposite, what types of technology would you associate with the following?

- 1 a round-the-world yachtsman/woman trying to establish his/her exact position
- 2 a designer creating a new type of computer keyboard which would be more efficient and comfortable to use
- 3 a scientist producing a new type of wheat which does not need to be sprayed against insects
- 4 a camera that produces photos that you can store on a computer or your phone
- 5 a computer that can make decisions for itself
- 6 a music player in your car that you can connect your phone to with no wires

56.2 Which type of device in B opposite is the speaker talking about?

- 1 I prefer it to my mobile because it's much bigger, but it's still not too heavy to carry around. I can Skype on it and take photos with it. I can access my emails wherever I am. I just can't make ordinary phone calls. ....
- 2 The picture is really good quality and it's fun being able to send in comments at the same time as you're watching a programme. ....
- 3 It's pretty small and light, but the screen and keyboard are not very big and I find the trackpad more awkward to use than a mouse. ....
- 4 I always use this rather than my laptop when I'm at home; I have it on a special table in my room next to my printer. ....
- 5 I used to have to take so many books when I went on holiday but now I don't need to. I just have to remember my charger! ....
- 6 I changed its position and now I can get online from any room in the house. ....

56.3 Here are some other words and phrases connected with computers. Not all of them are on the opposite page. Fill the gaps in the sentences. Use a dictionary if necessary.

computer nerd   app   thumbnail   icon   screensaver   trackpad   techie   footprint

- 1 There are some good pictures of the Olympic Games on that sports website. You can look at ..... pictures and then click on them to see the full-size version.
- 2 My younger brother's a real ..... . He never goes out, and all he ever thinks about is computers, computers, computers.
- 3 I'm a bit of a ..... really; I love getting the latest mobile phone or digital camera.
- 4 I've downloaded a great new gaming ..... onto my phone.
- 5 His ..... on his laptop is a really cool picture of the night sky.

- 7 Just click on that ..... there to open the program.
- 8 I don't really like this ..... on my laptop; I'd prefer a proper mouse.

56.4 Complete the word beginning with 'techn...' in each sentence. Not all the words you need are on the opposite page.

- 1 Karl got a good job as a lab techn..... in the university.
- 2 In this country, young people techn..... become adults at the age of 18.
- 3 Computer techn..... makes huge advances every year.
- 4 Andrea has a very interesting techn..... for remembering vocabulary.
- 5 Publicity photos of celebrities have usually been techn..... enhanced.

56.5 Over to you

The language and terminology connected with computers changes very quickly. If you want to keep up with it, read computer advertisements in newspapers and magazines, or else visit the websites of well-known hardware and software manufacturers, and note any new vocabulary and how it is used.

A

Technology

Here are some things we are likely to see more of in the future.

smart buildings/homes	computer-controlled buildings and homes where things like lighting, heating, security, etc. are completely automatic; the adjective smart can be used for anything that uses computers or information stored in electronic form (e.g. a smartphone, smart TV, smart car)
interplanetary travel and space tourism	travel to planets in outer space, either for exploration or for tourism
nanotechnology	science of developing and producing extremely small tools and machines by controlling the arrangement of atoms and molecules
keyhole surgery	medical operation in which a very small hole is made in a person's body to reach the organ or tissue inside

B

The environment and nature

A doomsday scenario for the environment sees our destiny as a world choked with pollution, where many plants and animals have become extinct. [the worst possible prediction, what will happen in the future] [the things that will happen to us in the future]

Many experts foresee a situation where traffic in mega-cities becomes completely gridlocked. [think that something will occur in the future] [cities of more than 10 million people] [unable to move at all]

The population explosion may lead to widespread food and water shortages. [rapid increase in population]

Genetic modification/engineering is already used to change fruit and vegetables so that they grow better. However, many people object to the idea of genetically modified (or GM) food/crops. [changing genes] [food/crops created by changing the genes of the ingredients]

Gene therapy will be used to eradicate some diseases, thanks to our knowledge of the human genome. [changing genes in order to prevent disease or disability] [the 'map' or index of all the genes in a human being]

Some people envisage a world in which designer babies will be popular. [see a possible or probable situation in the future] [babies whose genetic characteristics are artificially created]

Cloning of animals, and even human beings, may become common. [making a genetically identical copy]

C

Society and people

The breakdown of the traditional family structure has already occurred in some countries. In future, the nuclear family<sup>1</sup> may no longer be the main type of family unit, and more loosely defined relationships will develop. Globalisation<sup>2</sup> will increase, affecting how things are produced and sold, what we buy and how we communicate. The world has become a global village<sup>3</sup> and we will have more and more contact with other people in it. We may even make contact with extraterrestrial beings<sup>4</sup>. The gulf<sup>5</sup> between rich and poor nations will widen if we do not take drastic measures<sup>6</sup> now to improve the situation.

<sup>6</sup> severe actions that have noticeable effects

Exercises

57.1 Match the words to make collocations.

- |              |                          |                |
|--------------|--------------------------|----------------|
| 1 gridlocked | <input type="checkbox"/> | a explosion    |
| 2 genetic    | <input type="checkbox"/> | b village      |
| 3 human      | <input type="checkbox"/> | c traffic      |
| 4 population | <input type="checkbox"/> | d genome       |
| 5 global     | <input type="checkbox"/> | e modification |

57.2 Use the collocations in 57.1 to rewrite the underlined parts of the sentences.

- Asia underwent a dramatic increase in the population in the latter part of the 20th century.
- The crop had been subject to having its genes altered.
- Since the advent of the internet, the world has become one single community.
- Times when the traffic cannot move can cost the economy millions of pounds.
- Scientists now understand how the human genes are composed.

57.3 What do we call:

- a huge city with more than 10 million people? .....
- medical operations where a very small hole is made in someone's body? .....
- the science of making very small tools and machines by controlling atoms and molecules? .....
- making an exact genetic copy of something? .....
- creatures from other planets? .....
- the process of altering human and animal genes? .....
- the things that will happen to us in the future? .....
- a baby whose genetic features have been chosen by its parents? .....

57.4 Rewrite the underlined words in these sentences using expressions from the opposite page.

- The worst possible prediction is that we will destroy the world with nuclear weapons.
- Travelling to other planets for scientific exploration will become normal in the coming centuries.
- He belongs to a team of scientists who are trying to improve our understanding of the index of all the genes in a human being.
- Governments need to do things that will have a great impact to save the planet.
- Many people see in their imagination a world in which the poor simply get poorer. (Give two answers.)

57.5 Which words or phrases from the opposite page are associated with these sentences?

- These tomatoes will stay fresh for several months. ....
- A typical family is often said to consist of a husband, wife and 2.4 children. ....
- This sheep is identical in absolutely every respect to the sheep standing next to it. ....
- Thanks to this, doctors may be able to cure some genetic diseases. ....
- The world is becoming a very small place in terms of economics and communication. ....
- The company is planning to market two-week holidays on the Moon. ....

57.6

Over to you

Write five sentences about how you envisage the future. Consider the future in terms of technology, the environment and society.

A Fossil fuels

Fossil fuels are sources of energy which were formed underground from plant and animal remains millions of years ago.

Several new oil wells<sup>1</sup> were constructed in the desert last year.

Offshore<sup>2</sup> drilling platforms explore the ocean bed for oil and gas.

Older, coal-fired<sup>3</sup> power stations generally cause high levels of pollution.

The coal mines<sup>4</sup> in the north of the country are no longer profitable.

A new gas pipeline<sup>5</sup> was built to bring cheaper energy to the capital city.

<sup>5</sup> very large tube through which liquid or gas can flow for long distances

B Renewable energy

Renewable energy is energy that can be produced again as quickly as it is used.

Onshore<sup>1</sup> wind farms<sup>2</sup> to get new government subsidies

Solar panels<sup>3</sup> to be installed on all government buildings

Hydroelectric<sup>4</sup> power station to be closed down

Biomass<sup>5</sup> not the answer, claims Energy Minister

Tidal power<sup>6</sup> and wave power<sup>7</sup> may meet future energy needs

Government to focus on renewables<sup>8</sup>, Minister announces

Three new nuclear<sup>9</sup> power stations to be built

Geothermal<sup>10</sup> energy will last 1,000 years, says scientist

Common mistakes

Take care with the spelling of energy (NOT energie or energi).

C Using energy

What can ordinary citizens do to reduce energy consumption<sup>1</sup>?

Some simple things include using fewer power-hungry<sup>2</sup>

<sup>8</sup> distance food is transported from where it is produced to when it reaches the consumer

<sup>10</sup> layer formed under the ground, especially over a very long period

<sup>11</sup> having an end or lasting a limited time

58.2 Rewrite the underlined parts of the sentences using words from A and B opposite. Make any other changes necessary.

- 1 A new 100-kilometre metal tube has been built to bring oil from the holes in the ground for extracting oil in the north of the country to a refinery on the coast.
- 2 The power station is one that uses coal, but it will soon be replaced by a plant that uses atomic science.
- 3 Fire has broken out on a drilling platform in the sea.
- 4 Power from the tide or from waves could solve the energy problems of countries with extensive coastlines. Other parts of the world may be able to use energy from the heat inside the earth.
- 5 'Energy sources that can be renewed are important,' the Prime Minister said. 'We intend to give grants for people to install devices that turn the heat of the sun into electricity, as well as developing groups of turbines based on the land that use wind.'
- 6 The country is developing two main energy sources: the use of dead plant material and power stations that use the force of rivers. At the same time, inefficient deep holes for extracting coal will gradually be closed.

58.3 Complete the sentences with words from C opposite.

- 1 We should consider the issue of ..... when shopping for fruit and vegetables and try to buy local produce.

A Words and expressions for specific colours

pitch black: intensely black, used about darkness, night, etc. (pitch is an old word for tar) jet black: intensely black, used about hair, eyes, etc. (jet is a black semi-precious gemstone) scarlet: very bright red crimson: strong deep red shocking pink: an extremely bright pink ginger: orangy red, used about hair and animal fur

navy: dark blue, used about clothes, not eyes

turquoise: greenish blue, used about fabrics, paint, sea, etc. but not usually eyes lime: a bright yellowish green

beige: a light creamy brown

mousy: a light, not very interesting brown, used only about hair chestnut: a deep reddish brown, used about hair and horses

auburn: a red-brown colour, usually used about hair

A number of words for gemstones are also used as colour adjectives, e.g. ruby [deep red], emerald [bright green], amber [yellowy orange], coral [orangy pink], sapphire [deep blue], jade [dark green].

B Words for talking about colour

Red, blue and yellow are primary colours; by mixing them together you can make other colours.

Pastel colours are pale shades of colour – pink, mauve [pale purple] and pale yellow, for example.

Strong colours are the opposite of pastels. Harsh colours are colours that are unpleasantly strong.

Vivid colours are strong, bright colours like scarlet or turquoise. Fluorescent colours are very bright colours which seem to glow in the dark. Electric blues or greens are extremely bright blues or greens.

If white has a tinge of green, there is a very slight shade of green in it. If something is monochrome, it uses only one (or shades of one) colour, e.g. black, white and grey. The suffixes -y and -ish show that a colour is partly present, e.g. bluely green, reddish brown.

C Colour metaphors

blue = depression (to feel blue); physical or unskilled (blue-collar workers)

red = anger (to see red = to be very angry); danger (red alert, a red flag); special importance

(All the competitors were given the red-carpet treatment. The day we met will always be a red-letter day for me.); communist or very left-wing in politics (People's views sometimes become less red as they get older.)

green = nausea (to look green) (People who are seasick often turn/go green and sometimes vomit.); envy (She turned green with envy when she saw her friend's new car.); care for the environment (green tourism; the Green Party)

black = depressing or without hope (a black future); anger (to look as black as thunder); illegality or incorrectness (black market, black sheep of the family, black mark) (During the war people bought many goods illegally on the black market. If I don't finish this report in time, that'll be another black mark against my name. My brother was the black sheep of the family, leaving school and home at the earliest opportunity.)

grey = lack of clarity (a grey area); brains (grey matter, grey cells)

white = purity (white as snow, whiter than white); being pale (She was so shocked that she went white as a sheet.); a white-knuckle [terrifying] ride at an amusement park such as Disneyland; office workers (white-collar workers)

65.5 Over to you

Look up the colours below in a dictionary. Write down any new and useful expressions in example sentences of your own, e.g. That sharp corner is a terrible black spot for road accidents.

black white red blue yellow green

A

Going fast

These verbs suggest going somewhere very quickly on foot or in a vehicle: dash, fly, race, tear. I dashed into the classroom to pick up my books. She came flying out of her house. I raced/tore to the station and just made it in time for the last train.

The verbs nip and pop suggest going a short distance quickly, on foot or in a vehicle: I nipped/popped into a near by shop to buy a bottle of water.

The verb dart suggests a quick, sudden movement, often by an animal: A dragonfly darted past. I darted behind the door to hide.

The verbs zip and whizz are often used about vehicles going quickly: The bus whizzed/zipped past me just as I got to the bus stop.

The verb bolt also suggests fast movement over a short distance but it also has the added association of running away from something: The thieves bolted when the alarm went off.

The verb career suggests that something is moving rapidly and is out of control: The car skidded and careered down a bank. The company seems to be careering into financial ruin.

The verbs scamper, scurry, scuttle suggest small rapid steps, often used to describe the way a small animal runs: As we went into the dark shed, we saw mice scampering away and spiders scurrying into corners. Cockroaches scuttled into a crack in the floor.

These verbs emphasise the fact that speed is increasing: speed up, accelerate. Accelerate is used only about transport, whereas speed up can also refer to movement on foot. Both verbs can be used figuratively: We'd better speed up if we're going to get there on time. The growth of the company has accelerated since it started exporting.

B

Going up or down fast

These verbs suggest a downward movement, as well as speed: plunge, plummet: He put on a lifejacket and plunged into the icy water. Notice that they are mainly used metaphorically: When export sales began to decline, our hopes of business success plummeted. After the death of his father, he was plunged into despair.

These verbs suggest a fast upward movement: rocket, soar. Notice that they are mainly used metaphorically and have strong associations with financial matters such as prices and share values: When our export sales rocketed, our hopes soared.

The primary association of soar is with birds, and when it is used about people's feelings it provides associations of happiness and being carefree: My heart soared when I heard that he was coming home.

The opposite of soar and rocket in a financial context would be slump or tumble. Both suggest a rapid downward movement: Share prices slumped (or plummeted) on the stock market yesterday, with telecommunications companies tumbling most dramatically of all.

C

Going slowly

These intransitive verbs emphasise that the movement is slow: crawl, creep. They are often used metaphorically: Prices have been creeping up since May. It was rush hour and the traffic was crawling along.

Totter also suggests a fairly slow movement, but it is one that is particularly unsteady as well: Mina tottered down the road, laden with parcels and bags.

Sidele means to walk anxiously and nervously: Sam sidled up to the boss's desk and coughed to attract his attention.

Dawdle means to move more slowly than is necessary, or to waste time: Don't dawdle on the way home.

'Cause' verbs and their collocations

The differences between these verbs are best learnt by observing their typical collocations.

Cause usually collocates with negative results and situations.

The new computer system has caused us a lot of problems.

His stomach cancer was caused by exposure to radiation.

Produce is more neutral, and deals with more concrete results. It is used in formal contexts.

Scientists can produce statistics and figures that can prove almost anything.

Cooking the dish for a long time at a very low heat produces the best results.

While cause usually collocates with negative situations, give can be used for positive or negative ones. Give is less formal than cause.

Our dog has given us a lot of pleasure over the years.

This car is giving me so much trouble, I'm going to get rid of it.

Generate is often used in contexts where people are forced to do more than usual, and in computer contexts. It sometimes has a rather negative feel. It is used in formal contexts.

It's going to be difficult to generate sufficient interest in the project.

The government will have to generate the extra funds somehow or other.

Language help

Cause and give are often used for things happening without people doing anything, e.g. The hurricane caused terrible damage.

Produce and generate usually suggest some sort of intervention by people, e.g. His presentation generated a lot of interest in the project.

B

Other 'cause' words

The news provoked a feeling of despair in everyone.

The events precipitated / sparked a political crisis. [quickly, suddenly caused]

The invention of the car brought about great changes in society. [gradually produced]

Your action has resulted in a formal complaint from a member of the public. [produced]

Expressions connected with complaining

It is important to use these expressions in appropriate situations. Some examples are given here. The expressions in each group go more or less from weaker to stronger, but much depends on who you are speaking to and what the situation is.

More common in informal situations

You've got to do something about that window of yours. It rattles in the wind and keeps me awake. For goodness' sake! I'm fed up with / sick of all your moaning and grumbling. Cheer up! Look here! I've just about had enough of your stupid comments. Look, this is just not on! You promised to be here by two o'clock and it's almost three! [not acceptable]

Enough is enough! Please, no more arguments – be nice to each other!

More neutral in tone

I'm not at all satisfied with the service I've received.
Something will have to be done about that pile of rubbish. It can't be left in front of the house.
I wish you would turn your radio down. I wish you wouldn't play your music so loudly. You never help around the house. It just won't do! You're going to have to change your ways.

More common in formal situations (typically in connection with bad service or behaviour)

I wish to complain about the delay in delivering my order.
 The carpet in my room is stained and dirty. This is most unsatisfactory.
I take great exception to your unfair comments about our committee.
I really must object to being made to wait so long before seeing the manager.
 The water pipe you have repaired three times in our kitchen is leaking again. This is (simply) unacceptable.
 Your bus driver left the children by the roadside in pouring rain with no adult in attendance. This is shameful. [should make you feel embarrassed and guilty]

B

Verbs and nouns relating to complaining and protesting

verb	meaning	noun
complain (about)	express dissatisfaction or annoyance	complaint
protest (about) /prə'test/	strongly express complaint, disapproval or disagreement	protest /'prəʊtest/
object (to)	be against something or someone	objection
remonstrate with somebody / remonstrate about something	complain to someone / complain about something; formal	remonstrance (very formal and not common)
find fault (with)	criticise or complain about even small mistakes	fault-finding
grumble (about)	complain in a quiet but angry way	grumble
gripe (about)	to complain continuously; informal	gripe
grouse (about)	to complain, usually often; informal	grouse
whinge (about)	complain persistently; informal	whinge, whingeing

Common mistakes

The verb object to is followed by a noun, a pronoun or an -ing form of a verb. Don't use the base form of a verb: I object to being made to wait here for an hour before seeing the Principal (NOT ~~object to be~~ made).

Exercises

- 4 The generals ..... the agreement to end fighting while peace terms were worked out at midday on 25 February 1996.

A pat on the back: complimenting and praising

A

Collocations with compliment and praise

The boss would get better results if she paid her staff compliments occasionally.

He asked us what we thought of his suit, but he was really only fishing for compliments.

Take it as a compliment that he feels relaxed enough to fall asleep at your dinner party!

A back-handed compliment and a double-edged compliment are ones that appear to be both positive and negative. Back-handed compliments tend to have a malicious intent, whereas double-edged ones are usually made innocently.

I took it as a back-handed compliment when he said I was looking good for my age.

She paid me the double-edged compliment of saying my driving was pretty good for a beginner.

The phrase give praise to is usually used only (though not exclusively) for a god. An action or person that deserves praise is praiseworthy and people are praised for their actions.

Other common collocations are widely/ highly praised, praised to the skies, to sing someone's/something's praises, to shower/ heap praise on someone/something. To damn someone with faint praise is to praise with such a lack of enthusiasm that you give the impression of actually having rather negative feelings.

Common mistakes

The verb to compliment is followed by on:
He complimented me on my guitar playing
 (NOT He complimented me my guitar playing).

B

Other expressions relating to praising

expression	meaning	example
pay tribute to	praise; formal	At the memorial service, I paid tribute to his kindness.
give someone a standing ovation	stand up and clap loudly for a long time	At the end of the concert, the audience gave the young pianist a standing ovation .
extol the virtues/benefits of	praise highly; formal	At the conference, the Prime Minister extolled the virtues of the new trade treaty.
be the toast of	be admired for some recent achievement (often used about artists and celebrities)	A few months ago, hardly anyone had heard of her but now she's the toast of Hollywood.
pat someone on the back / give someone a pat on the back	praise, often children (used mostly metaphorically)	My teacher patted me on the back / gave me a pat on the back for my good marks in the maths test.
earn/win plaudits	get positive comments; formal	The exhibition earned plaudits from all the major reviewers.
laud (adj. = laudable (of behaviour), laudatory (of comments or remarks))	praise highly in official situations; formal	The Prime Minister has lauded the new peace initiative.

These mostly informal expressions imply praising someone for your own benefit: to flatter, to make up to, to crawl, to suck up to, to lick someone's boots. Someone who behaves like this can be called smarmy, slimy or a crawler (all informal), a flatterer (neutral) or servile, obsequious (more formal).

Flatter can also be used more positively. That dress flatters her figure. [makes her figure look better than it really is]

The noun flattery is often used in the phrase Flattery will get you nowhere! [insincere praise will not achieve anything]

- 3 When he discovered the size of his mistake, he had to ..... to the boss.
- 4 Her actions were foolish but her motives were .....
- 5 There's no point saying how good I am. .... will get you nowhere!
- 6 Whilst we cannot but ..... the skill of their actions, we must express a certain disapproval of the risks they took.

A

Promises

If you promise someone the earth/moon, you promise them a great deal. It is usually implied that such a promise is unrealistic: The afternoon promises to be interesting! [the speaker expects it will be interesting = We anticipate that the afternoon will be interesting] To anticipate something is to expect it before it happens.

Promise can also be used to indicate positive future development: The child already shows great promise as a violinist. She's a promising artist although her style is still rather immature.

An oath / to swear is a formal promise. In court, witnesses are put on/under oath when they have to swear to tell the truth.

Notice how swear is often used in informal spoken English in expressions:

I could have sworn I left my purse on the table. [was absolutely certain]

I think she lives on Rose Street but I couldn't swear to it. [am not totally sure]

My mother swears by these vitamin pills. [uses them and thinks they are wonderful]

Tom often uses swear words / bad language. [taboo expressions]

To pledge (a pledge) means to promise something, often friendship or money: Mayor Williams has pledged millions of dollars to improve the city centre.

To vow (a vow) is to make a determined decision or promise to do something: He vowed to discover who had killed his father. At a marriage ceremony, the couple exchange vows. Both vow and pledge are found more in written than spoken English.

New Year's resolutions are special promises to turn over a new leaf at the beginning of a new year. [to change your behaviour for the better]

Resolutions and vows, like promises or pledges, can be made, kept or broken.

If you go back on your word, you break a promise.

Language help

Swear can mean either to make a solemn promise or to use taboo language.

B

Bets

To bet (a bet) is to risk something, usually money, on the unknown result of something, in the hope of winning more money; people spend (and lose) a lot of money betting on horse racing or football matches, for example. Putting money on the results of a game of some kind is called gambling.

The amount of money that you risk is your stake. You can stake a sum of money on something happening. If something is at stake, then it is at risk: Many lives will be at stake if the flood barrier is not built. A more formal word for bet is wager: She put a wager of £10 on a horse. Both words can be used in a non-literal sense: I'd wager that he will come to a bad end.

There are a number of informal expressions connected with betting.

Your best bet would be to look for a part-time job. [the best decision or choice]

You think Stuart'll win? Don't bet on it! [I think what you've just said is unlikely to happen]

My granny enjoys having a flutter on the horses. [having a small bet]

I'd put (good) money / bet my life on James getting the job. [I'm sure that James will get the job]

Do you feel like coming to the beach with us? You bet! [I certainly do!]

You can also hedge your bets by investing in several companies. [protect yourself from the results of making a single wrong choice]

The odds are the statistical or betting chances of something happening.

What are the odds of Olivia finishing her course, do you think?

The odds are against her getting that promotion.

76.4

Over to you

- 'Promises and piecrusts are made to be broken, they say.' (Jonathan Swift, Irish writer, 1667–1745)
What point is Jonathan Swift making, in your opinion, and how is his use of language effective?
- 'To promise not to do a thing is the surest way in the world to make a body want to go and do that very thing.' (Mark Twain, American novelist, 1835–1910)
Do you agree with him?
- Look at what some people promise one another during a wedding service:
'... to have and to hold from this day forward, for better for worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health; to love and to cherish, till death us do part.' (part of Church of England wedding vows)
What wedding vows do people make in your country? Can you translate them?
- In the UK and the US, witnesses in law courts swear that the evidence they give will be 'the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth'.
What oath do witnesses have to swear in your country?

A

Looking back: sharing memories

- A: It's great to see you again. Gosh, it's ten years since we were at school together! Any idea what the school is like these days?
- B: No, I've been a bit out of touch<sup>1</sup> with things ever since I moved away from London.
- A: I wonder what became of<sup>2</sup> that maths teacher. I think his name, if I recall<sup>3</sup>, was Mr Sanderson. When I think back<sup>4</sup>, I realise now how difficult things must have been for him, having to teach the likes of us! And do you ever hear anything of<sup>5</sup> James?
- B: No, I haven't heard a thing.
- A: And I often wonder what Sanjay ended up doing. I've lost touch with him too. Thinking back, we had some great times, didn't we?
- B: Yeah. Seeing your phone there reminds me of how we used to text under our desks, right under the teacher's nose.
- A: Yeah, that takes me back to<sup>6</sup> the day my phone rang when a school inspector was observing our class and I got into big trouble.
- B: Yes, I have a vague memory<sup>7</sup> of that. Actually, it's all coming back to me now<sup>8</sup>. They confiscated your phone and you stormed out of the classroom!
- A: Yeah. But I must say that what stands out in my mind<sup>9</sup> is the amazing freedom we used to have.
- B: Me too. When I look back, I realise how much things have changed.
- A: Yes, I often find myself reminiscing about<sup>10</sup> my teenage years and wonder if our children will have the same happy memories when they grow up.
- B: Yes, we all tend to look at the past through rose-tinted spectacles<sup>11</sup>, don't we? But I guess a bit of nostalgia<sup>12</sup> does nobody any harm!

<sup>3</sup> if I remember correctly

<sup>7</sup> not a very clear memory

<sup>8</sup> I'm beginning to remember it more clearly

<sup>9</sup> what I remember more than other things (you can also say sticks out in my mind)

<sup>10</sup> thinking about pleasant things that happened in the past

<sup>11</sup> see only the pleasant things about a situation and not notice the things that are unpleasant (you can also say rose-coloured spectacles)

<sup>12</sup> a feeling of pleasure and sometimes slight sadness at the same time as you think about things that happened in the past

B

Expressing regret

I regret not spending more time with my aunt when she was ill. He showed no sign of remorse for what he had done. She said she felt great shame for what had happened and apologised to us all. [embarrassment and guilt about something bad that happened]

I felt great pangs of guilt and remorse thinking of all the bad things that had happened and my part in them. [sudden sharp feelings, especially of painful emotion; collocates frequently with guilt, regret, conscience, remorse]

Some formal, rather literary ways of expressing regret:

I rue the day we ever met. [I regret very much that we ever met; collocates strongly with 'the day' and 'the fact that']

I lament the passing of time. [I feel sad that time passes]

I mourn my lost opportunities. [I feel sad about opportunities I had but did not take up]

Common mistakes

Don't confuse remind and remember:
Seeing the class photo again reminded me of my unhappy schooldays (NOT remembered me).

Exercises

77.1 Fill the gaps with one word.

- 1 ..... back, I can't believe how I survived the first day in my old job. It was horrendous.

- 8 I got a sudden feeling of ..... as we drove past our old house. We'd had some happy times there.
- 9 When I saw the photo, it all ..... back to me just what a wonderful holiday we had had.
- 10 You're always looking at the past through rose- ..... spectacles. It wasn't all wonderful, you know.
- 11 I have only a very ..... memory of my early childhood in Canada. It was all so long ago!
- 12 What happened to your sister? If I ....., she wanted to study chemistry, didn't she? Did she ever do that?

77.2 Look at C opposite. Match the beginning of each sentence with its ending.

- |                            |                          |  |
|----------------------------|--------------------------|--|
| 1 I felt some pangs        | <input type="checkbox"/> | a my lost youth.                         |
| 2 I rue the day            | <input type="checkbox"/> | b because I'd done nothing wrong.        |
| 3 I feel a certain remorse | <input type="checkbox"/> | c not contacting her earlier.            |
| 4 I regret                 | <input type="checkbox"/> | d I agreed to go into business with him. |
| 5 I mourn                  | <input type="checkbox"/> | e of guilt about what happened.          |
| 6 I felt no shame          | <input type="checkbox"/> | f about what happened. It was my fault.  |

77.3 Write these sentences in more formal language. Use the word in brackets.

- 1 I'm sorry that I didn't buy her a birthday present. (REGRET)
- 2 They didn't seem the least bit concerned about what they had done. (REMORSE)
- 3 I now greatly regret the fact that I discontinued my studies. (RUE)
- 4 I wish our relationship hadn't broken down. (LAMENT)
- 5 The whole village felt sad about the loss of the beautiful trees. (MOURN)

77.4 Over to you

- What stands out in your mind when you think about your own childhood?
- Do you ever think 'I wonder what became of ...?' When this happens, who or what do you think about?
- Is there any aspect or time of your life that you only have vague memories of?

A

79.1 Which of the five verbs in A opposite best fits in each sentence?

- 1 The French and Swedish teams work in similar areas, but their research, fortunately, does not ..... However, the French data ..... the Swedish data very well.
- 2 Look at the complete set of graphs and see if you can ..... the rules governing the data from them.
- 3 This article ..... a different approach to the problem.
- 4 A great deal can be ..... about the artist's state of mind from his later works.

79.2 Which of the five adjectives in A best describes each of these things?

- 1 a textbook written by the most highly regarded expert in the field
- 2 research based on a survey of the population
- 3 a poem which can be understood in two quite different ways
- 4 an argument which is well-expressed and easy to follow
- 5 a textbook which gives a broad overview of an entire discipline

79.3 Answer these questions which use vocabulary from B opposite.

- 1 If the incidence of asthma in children is increasing, what is actually going up: (a) the seriousness of asthma attacks or (b) the number of asthmatic children?
- 2 What are the next two numbers in this sequence: 1, 4, 9, 16, 25, 36?
- 3 If the average mark in a maths test was 68% and Ulla's mark deviated noticeably from that average, what do we know about Ulla's mark?
- 4 If facts are distorted, are they presented (a) accurately, (b) clearly or (c) in a misleading fashion?
- 5 If sociologists choose the subjects of their research in an arbitrary fashion, do they take care to get people from an appropriate balance of backgrounds?

79.4 Use items from C to rewrite the underlined parts of the sentences in a more formal academic style.

- 1 The information lies in archives that must not be opened until 2050.
- 2 He thought up his theory while still a young man.
- 3 Each of the symbols in the phonetic alphabet stands for a sound.
- 4 This study went against what was previously held to be true, and so started a great deal of discussion amongst specialists in the field.
- 5 Details of the experiment have been added at the end of the report.
- 6 Jelowski's book thinks about the rise and fall of great Empires over two millennia. She sees the Roman Empire as an example of a pattern that has repeated itself in other times and other parts of the world.

79.5 Rewrite this paragraph. Change the bold words and use words from C opposite to make it sound more academic.

The present study was initially thought up in order to validate a new method of enquiry by which genetic information could be used to predict disease. The study goes against the findings of Hill (2009); indeed it would appear to show the opposite of what he claimed. It presents a rather different view of the genetic factors which cause disease. Despite this, the study does not wipe out Hill's, as his studies served the very important purpose of devising symbols to stand for certain tendencies, in this way facilitating further research.

A Explaining, reinforcing, exemplifying

Look at these extracts and note the contexts in which the words in bold occur.

The Prime Minister reiterated<sup>1</sup> her concern that the debate should not be dominated by personal attacks. She summarised<sup>2</sup> the new policy as being progressive and radical ...

B Categorising and including

Chinese visitors comprised / made up 70% of the hotel's guests last year. [consisted of]

The course is comprised of two elements: reading and writing. [is composed of]

These two approaches can be subsumed under one heading. [brought together, united]

The book embraces a number of issues, from economic to religious ones. [covers, includes]

Her philosophy is difficult to categorise. [label as belonging to a particular type or class]

Common mistakes

Consist is followed by of when we refer to the elements which compose something: The country consists of five major regions (NOT consists on/in or consists five).

C Structuring the text

Here are some words and expressions for ordering and arranging the parts of an essay.

function in the text	example
beginning	I should like to preface my argument with a true story. / <sup>1</sup> prefɪs/mapping out the text	I shall return to this point later in my essay.
connecting points	This brings me/us to my next area of discussion, which is finance.
focusing	I should now like to address the question of the arms race.
ordering points	The arguments are presented in ascending/descending order of importance.
quoting/referring	The ideas of several writers will be cited in support of the argument. The text alludes to several themes that need closer examination.
including/excluding material	There will only be space to touch upon* the big question of political responsibility. It is impossible to deal with all the issues in this short essay. Discussion of the roots of the problem is beyond the scope of this essay.
drawing conclusions	We are forced to conclude that unemployment will always be with us.

**touch upon* means to include something only briefly

80.1 Look at these extracts from essays and use words from A opposite to improve their style, making the underlined words more formal.

- 1 The response from the public really shows us the importance of having a full investigation of the facts.
- 2 This view of the world was originally laid out by the Ancient Greek philosophers.
- 3 It is not easy to find the reason for the fall in population of these birds.
- 4 Economists have said there might be a link between exchange rates and a general lack of confidence in the European Union.
- 5 I should like to say again here that the issue is not one that can be easily resolved.
- 6 The recent events are the best example of the dilemma faced by politicians the world over.
- 7 In a 2010 article, Charles Plestow said with great certainty that the whole European Medieval era had been misinterpreted.
- 8 The lecturer briefly repeated the main arguments of her talk at the end.

80.2 Rewrite these sentences using the verb in brackets and making any other necessary changes.

- 1 70% of the landmass is mountain ranges. (COMPRISE)
- 2 A wide variety of subjects are dealt with in the book. (EMBRACE)
- 3 I think these three sections can all come under one heading. (SUBSUME)
- 4 The poems in this book have been divided up into different sections by topic. (CATEGORISE)
- 5 The course has five modules, from which students must choose three. (CONSIST)

80.3 Fill the gaps with words from C that express the meaning in brackets.

- 1 I shall ..... to this line of argument later in the book. (come back to)
- 2 The question of monetary union ..... us to our next topic: the idea of a federal Europe. (means we've arrived at)
- 3 Smithies just ..... upon the subject of internet policing, but does not go into it in depth. (mentions only briefly)

- 7 In the final analysis, we are ..... that there is little hope of stamping out illegal drugs altogether. (have no choice but to believe)
- 8 This unit has attempted to ..... a range of useful vocabulary for formal writing. (give all the necessary information about)

80.4

Over to you

Choose six words or expressions from this unit which you could use in your special subject(s) of study. For each word or expression, write a sentence relevant to your subject(s).

A

Aspects of writing

If you're in a hurry, you can scribble a note to someone. [write quickly, without much care] A note is likely to be in a more chatty style than, say, a business letter. [when used about writing; informal]

I'll just jot down (informal) / make a note of (more formal) your phone number before I forget it. [write something down to remember it]

She got so bored at the meeting she spent the whole time doodling. [drawing and writing irrelevant things on the paper in front of her]

I'll copy out the information on hotels for you. [copy in writing]

I'm just drafting an application letter for that job I told you about. [making a first attempt at writing something] (noun = draft: the first draft of an essay)

Some students write down everything the lecturer says. [copy in writing what is spoken]

She's writing up her dissertation at the moment, so she's very tired and stressed. [making a proper final written text based on previous drafts]

She bought the manuscript of a famous poem at the sale. [original version produced by the author]

B

Type and print

Learning to touch-type was one of the most useful things I've ever done. [type, using all your fingers without looking at the keyboard]

I've finished my book. I'll email the typescript to the publisher tomorrow. [an author's text that has not yet been published]

I'll run you off a copy at the same time. [print out]

I've done the text, but I want to format it properly before printing it. [create the page as it will appear when printed]

I usually cut and paste or copy and paste bits of material from my notes when I'm writing an essay, then link them all together. [move text from one place to another electronically]

The letters and numbers on a keyboard can all be called characters – a password often needs to be at least eight characters, for example.

These words are in bold and these words are italicised / in italics.

These words are in a shaded box.

These words are in a different font size from the rest and these words are in a different font or typeface.

‘This sentence is in double inverted commas / double quotation marks.’ ‘This one is in single quotation marks / single quotes.’

This sentence is indented. [begins away from the normal margin]

** This sentence has two asterisks in front of it.

- This sentence has a bullet (point) in front of it.

Types of brackets: ( ) round brackets

< > diamond/angle brackets

[ ] square brackets

{ } curly brackets

CAPITALS or UPPER CASE (more technical) is the opposite of small letters or lower case. This person has written her name in block capitals: MONICA KEEBLE

This is part of the first page of an academic book. Look at the structure and the names of the different elements. The numbers on the extract are in superscript. [written above the normal line]

- 8 My PhD thesis was called Socialisation through children's literature and its ..... was The Soviet example.

A

Vague and general words

In informal speech, we make frequent use of rather vague words and words with many different or rather general meanings, like thing or get.

That's one of the things I want to talk to him about. [thing = subject]

Laura has got a thing about mice. [she either really likes or dislikes them]

Don't make such a big thing of it! [Don't make so much fuss about it!]

There wasn't a thing we could do about it. [a thing = anything]

For one thing, I haven't got time. For another thing, I can't afford it. [Firstly ..., secondly ...]

The thing is, I have to take my car for a service tomorrow morning. [used to introduce a topic or a problem, or to provide an explanation]

As things are at present, ... [as the situation is]

I don't get what you're saying. [understand]

We must get that parcel in the post today. [send]

She had big plans to travel the world but she just never got it together. [took positive action or organised herself]

Jill will get things sorted (out) today. [organise things so that the problem is solved]

I hope I can get her to myself this evening. [be alone with her]

B

When you can't think of the word

When we can't remember a word or name, we often replace it with a vague word.

For objects: thingy, thingummy /'θɪŋəmi/, thingumijig /'θɪŋəmədʒɪg/, thingamibob /'θɪŋəməbɒb/, whatsit, whatchamacallit /'wɒtʃəmækɔ:lɪt/, whatnot

Have you seen the thingy we use for keeping the door open?

For people: whatsisname /'wɒtsɪzneɪm/ (for a man); whatsername /'wɒtsənneɪm/ (for a woman)

Did you see whatsisname today?

Note that these words can be written in different ways. It is also possible to use thingy for either a man or a woman: I was talking to thingy about that yesterday.

C

Quantifiers

Some quantifiers are common in informal speaking but are rare in formal writing. For example, the following expressions mean a lot of:

bags of   a load of   loads of   a mass of   masses of   dozens of   tons of   umpteen

I can help you – I've got bags of time.

They can afford to go on expensive holidays as they've got loads of money.

I've tried phoning her umpteen times but she never seems to answer her mobile.

These expressions mean a little or some: a bit of, a scrap of.

I've got a bit of a headache.

You've been sitting there all day but you haven't done a scrap of work.

D

Being indirect and less threatening

Here are some expressions which we can use in speech to make what we are saying sound less threatening and potentially offensive to the person we are talking to.

It's not the most practical/sensible/intelligent/appropriate thing you've ever done. [it's impractical / not very sensible / rather unintelligent / inappropriate]

It's not the most practical idea – and I mean that in the nicest possible way.

No offence intended, but I think you've misunderstood the basic problem.

If you don't mind me/my saying so, I think that you could have handled that better.

I gather you feel upset by the recent changes in the office. [I've heard it from someone]

Incidentally, have you paid your money for the club outing yet? [often used to introduce a new subject into the conversation in an indirect way]

What a load of idiots – present company excepted, of course. [not including you or me]

The staff here, myself included, have not been working quite as hard as we should.

Exercises

82.1 Look at A opposite. Explain what the underlined expressions with thing and get mean in the following sentences.

- 1 Don't make such a big thing about it. I'm only going for a few days.
- 2 Jess has got a thing about wanting straight hair, but her natural frizz suits her much better.
- 3 The thing is, I don't know when we'll be at home.
- 4 Unless things change, we won't be able to get away for a holiday.
- 5 We have a number of things to get through before lunchtime.
- 6 I don't get on with them very well. For one thing, we like different things. For another, I find them quite rude.
- 7 Did you get what the lecturer was saying? I didn't get a thing.
- 8 I hope we can get everything sorted out today. It's time we got it together!

82.2 What words do you think the speaker is looking for in each of these sentences? Choose from the words in the box.

colander hammer rolling pin protractor sieve Daniel Craig

- 1 Where's the thingummy for sifting the flour so there aren't any lumps in it?
- 2 Look, isn't that whatisname? The actor who was in the latest James Bond!
- 3 I can't find the thingumibob for measuring angles.
- 4 Have you got a whatsit, you know, for bashing in nails?
- 5 Where's the thingy for draining potatoes?
- 6 I need a whatchamacallit – you know, one of those things for flattening pastry.

82.3 Look at the sentences in 82.2 again and find a different vague word from the one used in the exercise, e.g. Where's the whatchamacallit for sifting the flour so there aren't any lumps in it?

82.4 Look at C. Rewrite the underlined parts of these sentences in a more informal style.

- 1 The garden had great numbers of pink and yellow flowers.
- 2 I've asked her out a great many times, but she's always got some excuse.
- 3 He hasn't done any useful work here since he first got the job.
- 4 I've got a large number of papers I want to get rid of.
- 5 Alice invited a great many people to her party at the weekend.
- 6 Yasmin's got a great deal of energy – I don't know where she gets it all from!
- 7 A great many people were turned away because the lecture room was full.
- 8 She was told many times not to leave any valuables on her desk.

82.5 Look at D, and then fill the gaps in this text.

This is a very boring party, present <sup>1</sup>..... excepted, of course. No one, myself <sup>2</sup>....., seems to be making much of an effort to chat. I <sup>3</sup>..... a lot of people couldn't come. <sup>4</sup>....., no <sup>5</sup>..... intended, but don't you think you could have dressed a bit more smartly? If you don't <sup>6</sup>..... me saying so, I think you should have changed out of your gardening clothes. I mean that in the nicest <sup>7</sup>..... way, of course!

82.6 Over to you

- Have you got a thing about anything?
- Is there anything you need to get sorted out this week?

The words and phrases in this unit are mostly for informal conversation, except where indicated, and may sound inappropriate in more formal contexts.

A

Vague expressions for numbers and quantities

He left a sum in excess of $1 million when he died. [more than; used in more formal contexts]

It'll cost you somewhere in the region of £900 a month to rent a flat. [less formal = around/about £900]

It'll take five hours, give or take half an hour, to drive there. [could take 4.5 or 5.5 hours; informal]

The second meeting is approximately two and a half months after the first one. [could be between 9 and 11 weeks.; rather formal]

It'll take a week or so to get the computer repaired. [more than a week, but unclear how much more; informal]

Quite a few students hadn't registered. [a surprisingly or undesirably large number]

There was only a smattering of women authors among the prize winners. [small proportion]

Would you like a dash/smidgen of chilli sauce with your kebab? [very small quantity]

I'd like a dollop of ice cream with my fruit salad. [usually a small amount; however, we can also say a large dollop]

I used to have stacks of CDs with my files on, but now I have them all on one memory stick. [a large number or quantity of; informal]

B

Making things less precise in informal conversation

More or less is often used with verbs and adverbs to make things more vague:

I think we've more or less solved the problem with the computer now.

My English is more or less the same level as the other students in the class.

A bit and a bit of a are used with adjectives and nouns to soften the meaning:

I'm a bit fed up with all the complaints I'm getting.

We were in a bit of a panic when we heard there was a strike at the airport.

Or whatever, or something, things like that and that kind of thing are useful expressions for referring vaguely to things and actions:

You could work on Saturday, then spend Sunday going to museums or galleries or whatever.

[or similar activities]

If you don't want tea, have a lemonade or something. [any other kind of drink you want]

In the evenings we played board games and things like that / and that kind of thing. [different kinds of entertaining activities]

We need a big container made of plastic; a dustbin or something along those lines would do.

[something fitting that description]

He said he was fed up with all the attacks and criticisms, or words to that effect. [or similar words expressing the same meaning]

Common mistakes

We do not usually use more or less with people's ages: He's about 35 (NOT He's more or less 35).

Exercises

83.1 Make the numbers in these sentences less precise, using expressions from A opposite. Follow the instructions in brackets.

- 1 The company will invest £10.3 million in new technology over the next five years. (formal, meaning 'more than')
- 2 It will cost you £10,000 to have the whole house redecorated. (less formal, approximately)
- 3 It could take six, seven or eight hours to drive to Aberdeen, depending on the traffic. (an informal and a more formal version)
- 4 Twenty-seven students failed the exam. I was rather surprised and disappointed. (a surprisingly large number)

83.2 These sentences contain some more vague language items used in conversation which are not presented on the opposite page. Underline the items that make the meaning less precise. Make a note of the grammar (i.e. is the item used with nouns, adjectives, etc.?).

- 1 Her hair's a sort of reddish colour, and I'd say she's, well, forty, forty-fourish.
- 2 The garden was a bit on the big side, but it was very pretty.
- 3 There was a kind of elasticky thing that held the two parts together, and I've lost it.
- 4 They're good shoes. They're comfortable on long walks and that.
- 5 I've been to the doctor's and had treatments and suchlike, and I'm sure it helps in one way or another.

83.3 Fill the gaps in these sentences with suitable words from A opposite.

- 1 I had a large slice of chocolate gateau with ..... of cream.
- 2 Just a ..... of milk in my coffee, please. I like it quite dark.
- 3 He put ..... of hair gel on before going out to the party.
- 4 Most of the people in the class were Spanish, with just a ..... of other nationalities.
- 5 She put a ..... of mayonnaise on her salad and mixed it all up.

83.4 Put an appropriate adjective or noun in the gap. There will usually be more than one possible answer. Then underline the vague expressions in each sentence.

- 1 It's a bit ..... that she hasn't rung. I hope she's not ill.
- 2 The computer keeps crashing; it's a bit of a .....
- 3 It was a bit .....; I couldn't remember his name. I'll apologise next time I see him.
- 4 If you don't want a big meal, you could have a ..... or something.
- 5 Make yourself at home. There are some magazines there, or you can just ..... or whatever.
- 6 It's a sort of craft shop; they sell ..... and things like that.
- 7 When you go on business trips, do you have time to go ..... and that?
- 8 There were six of us working, so we'd more or less ..... by 5 pm.

83.5

Over to you

Which expressions from the opposite page could you use to talk about:

- the amount of rent you pay for your accommodation or the amount you spend on food each week?
- how long it takes you to get from home to your workplace or place of study?
- any favourite items you like to add to your food, e.g. salt, cream, milk, ketchup?

A

Verbs denoting volume: from quiet to loud

Mumble and mutter are both usually negative: Stop mumbling! I can't hear what you're saying. He was muttering something under his breath – probably complaining, as usual.

Murmur can be more positive: They murmured their approval when he told them the plan.

The phrase without a murmur means without any protest, complaint or comment:

They accepted it all without a murmur. I was surprised; normally they argue about everything.

Raise your voice can be used in positive or negative contexts:

You'll have to raise your voice a bit. She's a little hard of hearing. [speak louder]

Don't you raise your voice at me! [Do not speak in that loud, angry tone.]

Shout, yell, scream, roar and shriek are all followed by at: Don't shout at me!

Yell often conveys urgency, anger, frustration; it is also used when there is much surrounding noise:

He yelled at the children to stop messing around with his computer.

'Stay where you are!' he yelled above the noise of the traffic.

Productive suffixes

Many suffixes (and prefixes too) are productive. [still used to create new words] You might feel adventurous enough to try coining some words of your own! [creating] The meaning of the example words below is clear from the meanings of the root and the suffix.

-able can be used productively, whereas -ible never is. It combines with verbs to form adjectives. Note that -able means 'can be': a washable jacket [one that can be washed] disposable nappies predictable results avoidable problems a manageable situation

-conscious combines with nouns to form adjectives that describe people who consider one aspect of their lives especially important: health-conscious person class-conscious society safety-conscious company time-conscious workforce

-free combines with nouns describing something undesirable to form adjectives to describe nouns without that undesirable aspect: stress-free life tax-free shop additive-free food

-rich combines with nouns (often chemical or organic substances) to form adjectives to describe nouns with a lot of that substance: fibre-rich diet calcium-rich foods

-led combines with nouns and nationality adjectives to form adjectives describing things that are controlled or influenced by the original noun or nationality: community-led initiative student-led protest worker-led uprising

-minded combines with adjectives or nouns to form new adjectives describing people with particular characters, opinions or attitudes: like-minded friends [with similar interests] career-minded young women money-minded managers high-minded [having high moral standards]

-proof combines with nouns to form adjectives describing things that can resist the damage or difficulty caused by that noun: ovenproof dish waterproof jacket soundproof room idiot-proof instructions

-related combines with nouns to form adjectives to describe one thing as connected with another: stress-related absence from work age-related illness

-ridden combines with nouns to form adjectives describing people or things with a lot of that noun: guilt-ridden person crime-ridden city bedridden [a person who has to stay in bed because they are ill]

-worthy combines with nouns to form adjectives that describe people or things that merit whatever the original noun refers to: newsworthy incident [worth reporting in the news] praiseworthy action/pupil [deserving praise]

Language help

The first part of words with -ed, -related, -conscious, etc. is usually a singular rather than a plural noun, e.g. university-led, crime-related, age-conscious (NOT universities-led, crimes-related, ages-conscious).

B

Suffixes in different word classes

-ly is not only an adverb ending, it also forms quite a few adjectives: lively children [full of energy] costly holiday [expensive] leisurely walk [relaxed] miserly man [mean with money]

-ant is most familiar as an adjective ending (relevant information, distant hills) but it can also make nouns from verbs to describe a person: an applicant for a job an insurance claimant a police informant a quiz contestant an occupant of a house

-en makes adjectives from nouns (woollen jumper, golden hair) but it also makes verbs from adjectives: to moisten your lips to sweeten tea a situation worsens a face reddens

Language help

Although the word parts above will help you to understand words, you cannot use them as freely to form new words as the prefixes and suffixes in Units 86 and 87.

B

Blends

An interesting, if much less common, way of forming words is by combining two well-established words, e.g. brunch = a meal that is a combination of breakfast and lunch.

heliport: a place where helicopters can land and take off (helicopter + airport) smog: polluted fog (smoke + fog)

motel: a roadside hotel for people travelling by car (motor + hotel) webinar: a seminar delivered over the internet via a designated website (web + seminar) guesstimate: an approximate calculation (guess + estimate; verb = to guesstimate)

docudrama: TV programme that dramatises real historical events (documentary + drama)

breathalyser: a device to find out how much alcohol a person has drunk (breath + analyse)

The origins of English vocabulary

LANGUAGE ONLINE

Some languages do not easily accept words from other languages into their lexicon<sup>1</sup>, but English has always welcomed them. It is estimated that English vocabulary has its sources<sup>2</sup> in at least 120 languages. Some languages have, of course, provided English with more words than others. English started out with a basic Anglo-Saxon<sup>3</sup> word stock<sup>4</sup>. Viking<sup>5</sup> and Norman<sup>6</sup> invaders from the 9th century onwards enriched<sup>7</sup> the language enormously with large numbers of words brought from their own languages. The Vikings brought new words of Germanic origin while the Normans spoke a form of French. Both sets of invaders had an enormous impact on<sup>8</sup> English vocabulary, explaining why English may sometimes seem to have several words for the same basic concept<sup>9</sup>. During the Renaissance of the 15th to the 17th centuries, scholars introduced many words of classical origin<sup>10</sup>. And throughout history, English speakers' contact with the world as explorers, scientists, traders, pirates and holiday-makers has had linguistic consequences<sup>11</sup> in a wealth of new words from every part of the world that they reached. These words taken from other languages are sometimes referred to as loanwords or borrowings.

False friends

Some English words may look like words in your language but have a different meaning. Such words are known as false friends, e.g. the German word Gift looks like the English word gift [present] but actually means poison in German. The English word sympathetic resembles a word meaning, simply, nice in many other European languages, but in English sympathetic has a much narrower meaning [understanding and caring about someone else's suffering]. Note also that the pronunciation of a word borrowed into English may be quite different from its pronunciation in its language of origin.

- 4 I wanted to learn more about how the business was organised.
- 5 She made sure nobody was looking, and her husband did the shoplifting.
- 6 Four prisoners have escaped from a maximum security prison.

A

Polysemy

A great many words in English have more than one meaning. Linguists call this aspect of vocabulary polysemy.

Look at these sentences and think about how you would translate the words in italics into your own language.

- fair It's only fair that we should share the housework.
 The Frankfurt Book Fair is a very important event for most publishers.
 The forecast is for the weather to stay fair for the next week.
 I've got fair skin and burn easily in the sun.
 His marks in his final exams ranged from excellent to fair.
- flat The firefighters managed to save the children from the burning third-floor flat.
 The countryside round here is terribly flat and boring.
 To join the Fitness Club, you pay a flat fee of £500.
 The sonata is in B flat minor.
 She finished the exercise in five minutes flat.
- capital Fill in the form in capital letters.
 Wellington is the capital of New Zealand.
 You need plenty of capital to open a restaurant.
Capital punishment has been abolished in many countries.
- mean What does 'coagulate' mean?
 I didn't mean to hurt you.
 He's far too mean to buy her flowers.
 The mean temperature for July is 25°C.
 You shouldn't be so mean to your little sister.

You probably need a different word to translate fair, flat, capital and mean in each sentence.

Sometimes the meanings are clearly related – flat as in countryside has a connection with flat as in apartment in that they both include an idea of being on one level. Sometimes, however, there is no connection at all. For example, the meaning of fair as in Book Fair has no obvious connection with any of the other meanings of fair. Words like this can be called homographs (words with the same spellings but different meanings).

B

Being aware of polysemy

It is useful to be aware of polysemy in English for several reasons.

- You need to remember that the meaning you first learnt for a word may not be the one that it has in a new context.
- You need to be aware that in English, words can sometimes be used as different parts of speech. Flat with its apartment meaning, for instance, can become an adjective, e.g. a set of flat keys.
- Learning about the range of meanings that a word can have can help you to learn several meanings for the price of one.
- It will also help you to understand jokes in English, as these are often based on polysemous words.

Language help

The context of a word with multiple meanings will usually make it absolutely clear which of the word's possible meanings is intended. So you can understand what, for example, the noun drill probably means in (a) a dental context, (b) an army context, (c) a road-building context, or (d) a language-learning context.

Exercises

91.1 Find the example sentence in A opposite in which fair, flat, capital or mean has the following meaning.

- |                                    |                                  |
|------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 1 intend                           | 6 unkind                         |
| 2 exactly                          | 7 fixed                          |
| 3 proper, just                     | 8 neither very good nor very bad |
| 4 city with the seat of government | 9 money                          |
| 5 light in colour                  | 10 unwilling to spend money      |

91.2 What part of speech is the italicised word in each of the example sentences in A? Write a synonym or explanation for each of the examples not used in 91.1.

91.3 Here are some more examples of polysemous words in English. Which word can fill all the gaps in each group of sentences?

- He struck a ..... and we slowly began to look around the dark cave.
The teenage cooks in the competition were a ..... for any of the adults.
Their marriage has been called a ..... made in heaven.
- That bird has an unusually long .....
Don't forget to keep the receipt when you pay your hotel .....
Parliament is currently discussing a ..... proposing changes to copyright legislation.
- Hannah gave us a lovely ..... of glasses as a wedding present.
Let's now try and ..... a date for our meeting next week.

- I didn't get my assignment back because the teacher hadn't had time to ..... it.
Sales have already passed the million .....
You've got a red ..... on your cheek. It looks like lipstick.
- You need to be a special kind of person to ..... a successful business.
Do you fancy going for a ..... this evening?
Thanks to the hot weather, our shop has had a ..... on ice cream.

91.4 Look at the Language help box. What does drill mean in each of the four contexts suggested?

91.5 What would the given word be most likely to mean in each of the contexts suggested? Use a dictionary if necessary.

- |             |                              |                               |
|-------------|------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 1 register: | a a primary school           | b a post office               |
| 2 interest: | a people planning a festival | b a bank                      |
| 3 dice:     | a a kitchen                  | b people playing a board game |
| 4 service:  | a people playing tennis      | b in a restaurant             |
| 5 case:     | a in a lawyer's office       | b at an airport               |
| 6 cue:      | a people playing snooker     | b in the theatre              |

91.6 Explain these one-line jokes. They are all based on polysemy.

- I wondered why the tennis ball was getting bigger. Then it hit me!
- Smaller babies may be delivered by a stork but the heavier ones need a crane.
- Time flies like an arrow. Fruit flies like a banana.
- You know prices are rising when you buy a winter jacket and even down is up.

A Adjective + noun collocations

Nouns often have typical adjectives which go with them. Here are some examples.

Compare thing and article:

we say	we don't usually say
the real thing	the genuine thing
the genuine article	the real article

I don't like five-a-side football; I prefer the real thing. [i.e. real football, with 11 players in each team]
These trainers are the genuine article. Those others are just cheap imported copies.

You can give a broad summary of something (NOT a ~~wide summary~~).

You can describe something in great detail (NOT ~~in big detail~~).

Some adjectives go with a restricted range of nouns. For example:

a formidable opponent/reputation/task/challenge

B Verb + adverb collocations

Often, verbs have typical adverbs that collocate with them. The lines here show which collocations are normal:

It's something I feel strongly about (NOT I ~~feel powerfully about~~).

If I remember rightly, it happened at about 6.30 (NOT If I ~~remember perfectly~~).

C Adverb + adjective collocations

It is useful to learn which adverbs most typically modify particular types of adjectives. For example, the adverb utterly, which means totally or completely, very frequently occurs before adjectives with negative connotations, although it can also be used with neutral or positive words. Typical examples are: appalling, dismal, depressed, disgusting, distasteful, exhausted, false, fatuous, impossible, lost, ludicrous, naive, pointless, ridiculous, unacceptable, useless, wrong. Try to notice this kind of regularity when learning words.

D Verb + object collocations

Verbs and their objects often form collocations.

You raise your hand to ask a question (NOT ~~lift your hand~~).

You can raise a family. [bring up children] (NOT ~~lift a family~~)

You can visit / go to / click on / check out a website.

Language help

Collocation is concerned with the way words regularly occur together, often in unpredictable ways. It is a very good idea when learning new words to learn any typical collocations that go with them.

Exercises

92.1 Is the correct word real or genuine in these sentences? Choose the more normal collocation. If both are acceptable, choose them both.

- 1 The photos of the pyramids are wonderful. One day I'd love to see the real / genuine thing.
- 2 He just doesn't live in the real / genuine world. He lives in a fantasy world all the time.
- 3 This handbag is made of real / genuine leather.
- 4 She is a very real / genuine person. If she promises something, she'll do it.
- 5 This home-made champagne is nice, but it's not as good as the real / genuine article.

92.2 Choose one of the words below each sentence to fill the gaps. In each case only one of them is the normal collocation for the underlined word. Use a dictionary if necessary.

- 1 After his death, she went to the hospital to collect his personal .....
A affairs                      B objects                      C effects                      D extras
- 2 He made a rather ..... attempt at an apology, but it didn't convince anyone.
A faint                      B frail                      C fragile                      D feeble
- 3 George was a ..... opponent, and I respected him for that.
A formidable                      B dreadful                      C forbidding                      D threatening
- 4 I began to feel ..... anxious when she didn't arrive.
A totally                      B pretty                      C utterly                      D blatantly
- 5 She seemed to be ..... bewildered by the answer they gave her.
A vividly                      B strongly                      C utterly                      D heavily

92.3 Choose the most suitable collocation in these sentences. The word you choose should have the approximate meaning given in brackets. Use a dictionary if necessary.

- 1 A brisk / brusque / brash walk before breakfast helps to enforce / sharpen / grow the appetite. (quick and energetic; increase, make stronger)
- 2 The death tally / tale / toll in the earthquake has now risen to 20,000. (number or total)
- 3 Let's take a sluggish / plodding / leisurely stroll along the beach, shall we? (slow and not energetic)
- 4 If you want to stay at home tonight, that's utterly / perfectly / blatantly OK with me. (completely, 100%)
- 5 My aunt bequeathed / bequested / bereaved £20,000 in her will to cancer research. (gave after her death)
- 6 If I remember rightly / keenly / fairly, she had two brothers, both older than her. (correctly)
- 7 If you want information about the publisher of this book, you can accede / call / visit their website at www.cambridge.org. (consult, look at)
- 8 Eating all those peanuts has spoilt / attacked / lowered my appetite. I don't feel like dinner now. (destroyed, decreased)

92.4 Which collocation is more likely? Choose the correct answer.

- 1 a strong car / a powerful car
- 2 strong tea / powerful tea
- 3 auburn hair / an auburn carpet
- 4 a doleful party / a doleful expression
- 5 a lengthy room / a lengthy meeting

92.5 Over to you

During the next week, try to find one new collocation that you were not aware of before for each of these categories:

ADJECTIVE + NOUN      VERB + OBJECT      ADVERB + ADJECTIVE

A What are metaphors?

Metaphor is concerned with using words in abstract rather than literal ways. It is a way of expressing something by comparing it indirectly with something else that has similar characteristics.

If we call a city a jungle, for example, we are using a metaphor. We are suggesting that a city is like a jungle, in that it is wild and full of dangers.

If we say that someone lights up our life, we are using a metaphor. We are suggesting that person is like a light in our life, in that they make our life brighter and happier.

B Idioms and metaphors

Many idioms are metaphorical expressions which are in common use.

be on the ball [be very aware of things and ready to act – like a good footballer] to keep someone/something on a tight rein [have a lot of control over someone/something – like a rider having control over a horse]

Some of the most common idiom-metaphors are based on parts of the body. So we might say that a building is in the heart of the city. [centre] We can call the place where a river joins the sea its mouth, and the person in charge of an organisation its head. If you say that someone has an eye for a bargain, you mean they are good at finding a bargain. If you keep a (close) eye on someone/something, you watch them carefully. If you say that something is in safe hands, you mean that the person in charge is capable. If you say that something goes hand in hand with something else, you mean that they exist together and are interconnected: Rights go hand in hand with responsibilities. If you talk about doing something using a rule of thumb, you mean you are calculating something in a way that is not exact but will allow you to be accurate enough.

C Common metaphorical concepts in English

Many words in English are so frequently used in a metaphorical way that English speakers may no longer notice that they are metaphors. Here are some examples:

- Intelligence and understanding are equated with light; for example, a clever person is called bright and a less intelligent person dim. If you see the light, you understand something. To cast light on something means making it easier to understand: The discovery of the poet's letters has cast light on his troubled relationship with his brother.
- Intensity of feeling or passion is equated with temperature; someone who is enthusiastic at one time and not at another is said to blow hot and cold. If someone is hotheaded, then they react quickly on the basis of their feelings without thinking first. If you call someone cold-hearted, then you think they are without feeling.
- The movement of people or traffic is equated with the movement of water; we can, for example, talk of people flooding or trickling out of a hall, or say there was a constant stream of traffic past the window.
- Time is likened to money; both are seen as commodities that can be spent or wasted or used profitably. You can also talk about investing time, using it in a way that you think will pay dividends in future. [bring you advantages]
- Business is likened to a military operation; strategies, tactics and campaigns are used in both contexts. So a company might launch an advertising campaign, for example, or work on its marketing strategy.

Exercises

93.1 Choose a word from the box that can be used metaphorically to complete the sentence.

ball eye hands head heart jungle mouth light rein thumb

- 1 Helen asked me to keep a close ..... on her little boy while the children were playing in the garden.

- 9 I'm afraid we need to keep a tight ..... on our spending this year.
- 10 I never used to understand opera, but an excellent TV series helped me to see the .....

93.2 Here are some more idioms which are based on metaphors. What is the idiom in each sentence and what does it mean? What aspect of life does it draw its image from?

- 1 Oscar's going to be holding the reins while the boss is on holiday.
- 2 It's hard to know what to do when management keeps moving the goalposts.
- 3 Starting his own dry-cleaning business was just another of his half-baked ideas.
- 4 We've had to tighten our belts since Sam lost his job.

- 6 Are you still on track to finish your essay by this evening?
- 7 Jana worked around the clock to finish decorating the room before her parents came home.
- 8 I'm sure you can take him at face value – he seems perfectly honest to me.

93.3 Here are some more examples of the five metaphorical concepts in C opposite. Underline the metaphor and say which concept it exemplifies and what it suggests.

- 1 This book throws a great deal of fresh light on the history of the period.
- 2 We could save half an hour at least if we went through the wood.
- 3 Try to keep cool even if he argues with you.
- 4 We spent months trying to achieve our sales targets.
- 5 Police tried to control the flow of the fans as they left the concert.

93.4 More unusual and original metaphors are used a great deal in literature. Here are some famous metaphors from Shakespeare. Underline the metaphors in each case and explain what they suggest.

- 1 All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players.
- 2 We are such stuff as dreams are made on, and our little life is rounded with a sleep.
- 3 There is a tide in the affairs of men, which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune.

A Learning phrasal verbs

There are a great many phrasal verbs in English and many learners find them particularly difficult to master. The best way to learn them is in context. When you come across [meet] one, write it down in an example sentence.

There are a couple of important points to remember about phrasal verbs. Firstly, a verb + preposition/particle combination may have more than one meaning. Come across, for example, can also mean give an impression of being, as in: He can come across as unfriendly when you first meet him. Come over can also be used with the same meaning, as in: He can come over as unfriendly. Secondly, it is sensible to concentrate first on understanding phrasal verbs rather than using them. There is usually an alternative way in which you can say the same thing using a single verb. So, for example, instead of put forward a plan you can propose a plan, and instead of rush into a decision you can make a hasty decision.

B The verb

A very large number of phrasal verbs are formed using common verbs such as come, do, get or go, for instance. Here are some more examples with come.

I hope our plans to visit Russia come off. [happen successfully]

Sandro's family came over from Italy for the wedding. [travel to one place from another]

I wouldn't usually say something like that. I don't know what came over me. [influence someone to behave in a particular way]

The proposal has come under a lot of criticism. [experience something (usually unpleasant)]

If the opportunity to work in the US comes up, you must take it. [occur unexpectedly]

Our plan has come up against some obstacles. [have to deal with a problem or difficulty]

C The preposition/particle

The second part of a phrasal verb is a preposition or particle. This can sometimes help you understand the meaning of the phrasal verb. For example, on can often convey an idea of continuing over a period of time.

Selina decided to stay on at university and do a Master's degree. [remain]

Try not to dwell on the past. [keep thinking about, usually something unpleasant]

I didn't expect platform shoes to catch on. [become popular]

I wish she'd stop going on about her new car. [talking at length]

The crowd was urging on the runners on. [encouraging]

The weather was terrible but the climbers pressed on regardless. [continued in a determined way]

D Phrasal verbs in topics

It can be useful to learn phrasal verbs in sets connected with a topic. Here, for example, are some from the context of work:

I need to brush up on my computer skills for my new job. [improve knowledge of something already learnt but partly forgotten]

The company laid off half its staff during the recession. [stopped employing]

Tomorrow's meeting has been called off because Jack is ill. [cancelled]

Sasha has thrown himself into his new job. [start doing something with great energy]

It took me a few weeks to settle in at my new office. [feel relaxed and happy]

It took me ages to put together the report. [prepare by collecting information from several sources]

Language help

When you learn a phrasal verb, note down the positions of the preposition/particle and the object, if there is one. For example, you can say put a report together or put together a report, but you can only say rush into a decision (NOT ~~rush a decision into~~).

Exercises

95.1 Reword these sentences using a phrasal verb with come.

- 1 Meena can seem a little arrogant at times, but she's just shy.
- 2 Charlie was quick to take advantage of a chance for promotion that arose at his workplace.
- 3 The project was going well until we encountered some legal problems.
- 4 I found some lovely old photos when I was sorting some boxes yesterday.
- 5 I'm afraid it looks as if our plans to move to a new flat may not happen.
- 6 Something strange happened to me and I shouted at him angrily.

95.2 Complete the sentences with a verb, using the appropriate form.

- 1 Dan is always ..... on about how rich he is.
- 2 You can't change what happened, so don't ..... on it.
- 3 We'd better ..... on if we're going to get to the hostel before dark.
- 4 I'm going to ..... on after work to finish the report.
- 5 Taekwondo has really ..... on – all my friends are learning it.
- 6 Hugo's family tried their best to ..... him on to complete his novel.

95.3 Do these sentences have the correct preposition or particle? If not, correct them.

- 1 Do you think the company will have to lay any staff out?
- 2 I learnt Spanish at school but need to brush it on before I go to Spain.
- 3 I'm putting a presentation together for the board to consider.
- 4 If you rush for a decision, you may regret it later.
- 5 We'll have to call out tomorrow's picnic if the weather is bad.
- 6 The family soon settled on to their new flat in the city.
- 7 I love the way Katie always throws herself onto everything she does.
- 8 Nita put forward some very interesting ideas at the meeting.

95.4 Which of the phrasal verbs on the opposite page can have the preposition or particle either before or after the object? Write the verbs in phrases both ways using one of these objects.

team   skill   report   staff   meeting   plan

EXAMPLE urge a team on – urge on a team

95.5 These sentences use some other phrasal verbs. Can you work out what the verbs mean from the context? Match the phrasal verbs in the sentences with the definitions in the box.

delay   explode   abolish   waste time   not tell   criticise   occur   start to work

- 1 Most of the students say they would like to do away with school uniform.
- 2 The new arrangements won't kick in till next month.
- 3 Stop messing around – go and tidy your room.
- 4 Problems always seem to crop up at the most inconvenient times.
- 5 These complications will set the building work back by several weeks.
- 6 However hard he tries, his teacher always seems to run him down.
- 7 I heard the bomb go off at midday.
- 8 It's foolish to hold something so important back from your partner.

A Different kinds of associations

We often associate words [make connections] with something that is not obvious from the literal meaning of the word. The dove, for example, is a white bird that has associations with peace. So if a journalist calls a politician a dove, they are suggesting that he or she is a peacemaker. Similarly, they might call a more aggressive, hard-line politician a hawk, a bird which hunts its prey. Some associations like those of dove and hawk will be shared by most speakers of English and they may even be included in a good dictionary for learners. Sometimes associations are not the same for all native speakers of the same language, but may vary from one geographical area to another. Black cats, for example, have associations with good luck in Britain but with bad luck in the USA.

Many associations are purely personal. Someone who had a bad experience of dogs in childhood may think of a dog as being fierce and frightening, whereas for others dogs may represent loyalty and friendship. The most commonly shared association of the word dog in English is 'faithfulness'. However, the phrase a dog's life is used to refer to a very unhappy and unpleasant life.

B Understanding associations

Journalists, advertisers and other writers or speakers who want to interest and entertain their audience often make use of word associations. A fashion advert might ask, 'Would you like to have that Paris look?', which draws on the associations of Paris with glamour and style. Or someone might refer to cowboy builders, meaning builders who are not careful or trustworthy.

It might seem difficult at first to understand this kind of language, but your knowledge both of the world and of the primary meanings of words will help you. Paris, for example, is known throughout the world as a centre of high fashion and it is quite possible that the name Paris is associated with glamour in your own language too. If you have seen a Western, you will have seen how cowboys often behave in a careless and dishonest way.

Think, for example, about the words shark, scar and diamond. You probably know their literal meanings – a large sea creature with sharp teeth, a mark left on the skin after a cut has healed, and a precious stone, respectively – but what associations do you think they have for English speakers in general? What might someone mean if they said the following?

'They're all sharks in that garage.'

'I think that new office block is a scar on the landscape.'

'Emma's a real diamond.'

The idea of sharks as sharp-toothed creatures with an aggressive reputation should help you to understand that the speaker does not like the garage. The fact that a scar is a mark of a wound on something that was once unspoilt should help you to appreciate that the speaker does not like the new office block. The beauty and high value of a diamond as a precious stone should help you to see that the speaker has a high opinion of Emma.

Language help

Research into language learning shows that words are better remembered if you have personal associations in mind as you learn them. Remember to think about what your associations with a word are as you learn it.

Exercises

96.1 Answer these questions about the associations discussed on the opposite page.

- 1 Would you recommend a cowboy plumber to a friend?
- 2 Would a politician be more likely to be called a dove if they were a peacemaker or if they argued for military action?
- 3 What is more likely to be a scar on the landscape – a waterfall or a factory chimney?
- 4 Would you be pleased to be called a diamond?
- 5 Would you be pleased to be called a hawk?
- 6 In Britain would you be likely to see a black cat on a good luck card or not?
- 7 What characteristic is a dog most typically said to have in English?
- 8 Would you be likely to call a business Supersharks?

96.2 Match the colours with their associations in English. Are any of these the same in your language? (See Unit 65 for more about the associations of colour in English.)

- |          |                          |         |                          |           |                 |
|----------|--------------------------|---------|--------------------------|-----------|-----------------|
| 1 purple | <input type="checkbox"/> | 4 red   | <input type="checkbox"/> | a purity  | d inexperienced |
| 2 green  | <input type="checkbox"/> | 5 white | <input type="checkbox"/> | b evil    | e danger        |
| 3 yellow | <input type="checkbox"/> | 6 black | <input type="checkbox"/> | c royalty | f a coward      |

96.3 Are these statements about the associations of animals in English correct? When a statement is wrong, correct it.

- 1 If you say someone has a dog's life, you think they have an easy life.
- 2 If you call a businessman a snake, you trust him.
- 3 If you say someone's hair is mousy, you mean it is dark brown and strikingly attractive.
- 4 If you say someone is being ratty, you mean they are irritable.
- 5 If you say someone can be catty, you mean they tend to be lazy.
- 6 If you say something is fishy, you mean it is suspicious.
- 7 If you call someone a sheep, you mean they are very independent-minded.
- 8 If you say that someone is hawk-eyed, you mean that they have very big eyes.

96.4 Can you make any associations between the colours in 96.2 and the animals and their associations in 96.3 that will help you to understand why these associations have been made?

96.5 Some of these have associations of good luck in English and some have associations of bad luck. Decide whether each picture represents good luck or bad luck.

3 .....

4 .....

96.6 Over to you

Write down five colours and five animals. What are your own associations for these words?

A Formal and informal words

Some words are formal or informal, and others are quite neutral.

Is your partner (neutral) / other half (informal) not with you today? [husband/wife]

Rick's a really nice bloke/guy. [man; informal]

She is able to converse with everyone, which is a great gift. [have a conversation; formal]

Sometimes it is possible to arrange words into sets of neutral, formal and informal words.

neutral	formal	informal
TV/television		the box / (the) telly
glasses	spectacles	specs clothes	clothing/garments	gear
use	employ/utilise
try	endeavour/attempt	have a go/stab/bash/crack/shot at

Language help

Register is concerned with the overall tone of a text or conversation, and the relationship that is built between the speaker and listener, or reader and writer. It is important to speak and write in the appropriate register for the situation.

B Speech and writing

Some words are more associated with either spoken or written language. It is worth noting if a word has a particularly strong association with speech (S) or writing (W).

word/phrase	S/W	comment and example
subsequently	W	Linking adverb: (in speech, more likely to be 'later' or 'afterwards') e.g. The police found some important clues. Subsequently , three people were arrested.
in sum	W	Linking expression: means 'to sum up', e.g. In sum , we may say that most, but not all, English adverbs end in -ly .
whatsisname/whatsername	S	vague word: used when we cannot remember the name of a person, e.g. I met whatsername at the party, you know, the woman who works at the university.
thingy	S	vague word: used as a noun, of people and things whose name one cannot remember, e.g. Give me that thingy there, yes, that bottle opener.
mind you	S	discourse marker: used to bring attention to an important point, e.g. He's a good actor. Mind you , he should be – he went to the best drama college.
now then	S	discourse marker: used to get people's attention when you want to ask or tell them something, e.g. Now then , is everybody's luggage here?

C Outdated words

Some words and expressions may be correct, but may sound archaic (outdated) or old-fashioned, e.g. asylum [hospital for the mentally ill], frock [dress], wireless [radio], consumption [tuberculosis/TB], eyeglasses [glasses].

Exercises

97.1 Make the underlined words in these sentences formal or informal, as instructed.

- 1 She works in a shop that sells women's clothes. (formal)
- 2 I've got some new spectacles. Do you like them? (informal)
- 3 Did you see that documentary about Wales on TV last night? (informal)
- 4 Gerry's a decent man. I wouldn't want to upset him. (informal)
- 5 I spent the morning talking with the Director. (formal)
- 6 Molly was there with her other half. He's a nice guy. (neutral; neutral)

97.2 Complete the table using the words from the box. Do not fill the shaded boxes.

shades kids endeavour cop really useful ensure umbrella employ children neutral	formal	informal offspring sunglasses

policeman/woman	police officer broolly invaluable make sure try use

97.3 Decide whether these words are more likely to be associated with everyday spoken or everyday written English. Write S or W next to the word.

- 1 frequently                      2 start                      3 begin                      4 maybe                      5 moreover

97.4 What do you think are the present-day equivalents of these now-outdated English words? Use a dictionary if necessary.

- 1 apothecary                      2 damsel                      3 poesy                      4 whither

97.5 Look at these text extracts and decide which register types you would classify them in. Underline key words which help you decide the register. For example, if you think the text is 'written, formal, poetic and archaic', which word(s) make you think that?

Some register types: literary / poetic / non-literary      academic / non-academic archaic / modern      technical / non-technical      spoken / written      formal / informal

4 And so, my fellow Americans: ask not what your country can do for you – ask what you can do for your country. My fellow citizens of the world: ask not what America will do for you, but what together we can do for the freedom of man.

5 Mind you there was a lot of rain in Germany over Christmas wasn't there, cos I saw the river in Bonn on the news on telly, the Rhine. Yeah, the river in Bonn.

Very few words and expressions are used exclusively in either British or American English, and you are likely to hear and read words from both varieties.

A

Streets and roads

Street has a wider range of meaning in American English.

American speaker: Let's cross the street here; there's more traffic further down.

However, a British speaker would normally say cross the road, especially in a busy city.

Here are some more examples of American English words and expressions not used in British English. The British English expressions are given in square brackets.

Go two blocks down and the car rental office is kitty-corner to the gas station. [diagonally opposite; informal] [petrol station]

You should always use the crosswalk to cross the street. [pedestrian crossing / zebra crossing]

There's a trail that leads down to the creek. [path] [stream, small river]

Take a left here and you'll come to the Interstate after about three miles. [turn left] [major motorway in the US connecting different states]

After the intersection, look for a sign saying 'International Airport'. [junction]

I hit a shopping cart in the parking lot when I was backing up. [trolley] [car park] [reversing]

Look for the overpass and then take the next exit for downtown Chicago. [flyover, i.e. bridge that carries one road over another]

Language help

In British English road numbers use the; in American English no article is used.

British English: Take the M4 as far as Newbury, then turn off on to the A34 for Oxford.

American English: Take I-45 north for about 20 miles, then take 25 west.

Exercises

98.1 Who do you think is most likely to be speaking, an American or a British person? What would someone who speaks the other variety probably have said instead?

- 1 I lost my way at the big intersection just south of the city.
- 2 Why are there always so many shopping trolleys left in the car park?
- 3 Cross the road at the pedestrian crossing, then turn left.
- 4 You can't drive any further; you'll have to back up, the street is very narrow.
- 5 You'll see the petrol station just after the flyover on the A34.
- 6 Once you get on to the Interstate, it will only take you two hours to get there.
- 7 The office is kitty-corner to the Chinese restaurant.
- 8 There's a creek at the end of the trail. It's about three miles from here.

98.2 Match the words on the left with their equivalent on the right, and write US for American English and UK for British English in the boxes.

- |              |                      |           |                      |

| 4 cooker     | <input type="text"/> | d earth   | <input type="text"/> |
| 5 faucet     | <input type="text"/> | e skip    | <input type="text"/> |

98.3 Answer the questions.

- 1 Who do you think is more likely to get homesick, a fresher or a junior?
- 2 Does a primary school teacher teach at more or less the same level as an elementary school teacher or at a different level?
- 3 How might calling someone 'Professor' in the US mean something different from calling someone 'Professor' in Britain?
- 4 Where are you more likely to register for a module, the US or Britain?
- 5 What year of study are you in if you are a sophomore?
- 6 If someone says they are majoring in psychology, what do they mean?
- 7 If an American says they're going to college next year, does that necessarily mean the same as if a British person said it?
- 8 If someone says they're a secondary school teacher, are they more likely to be British or American?

A Gender awareness and vocabulary

In professional contexts and elsewhere, we often take care to use gender-neutral language in English. David Crystal, in The Cambridge Encyclopedia of the English Language, writes:

Attention has been focused on the replacement of 'male' words with a generic meaning by neutral items – chairman, for example, becoming chair or chairperson (though not without controversy) or salesman becoming sales assistant. In certain cases, such as job descriptions, the use of sexually neutral language has become a legal requirement. There is continuing debate between extremists and moderates as to how far such revisions should go – whether they should affect traditional idioms such as man in the street<sup>1</sup> and Neanderthal Man<sup>2</sup>, or apply to parts of words where the male meaning of man is no longer dominant, such as manhandle<sup>3</sup> and woman. The vocabulary of marital status has also been affected, notably in the introduction of Ms as a neutral alternative to Miss or Mrs.

older usage	current usage
spokesman	spokesperson
fireman, policeman	firefighter, police officer
air hostess	flight attendant cleaning lady	cleaner
foreman	supervisor
man-made	artificial mankind	the human race / human beings
to man (a machine or place of work)	to staff

B Words referring to men and women

words	meaning/comment	example
male, female	used for gender classification in biology	male and female bees
masculine, feminine	having qualities traditionally felt to be typically male or female	masculine pride, feminine charm
guy, bloke	informal words for a man	Jack's a really nice guy .
guys	an informal word for men and women, especially in the phrase you guys , as a way of addressing people directly	Do any of you guys fancy going out for a pizza tonight?
girlfriend	used by women to refer to a female friend	I'm meeting up with a few girlfriends this evening.
girlie/girly	used to describe things that girls and young women often enjoy without men, especially involving clothes, make-up, etc.	They're having a girlie evening at home.

Exercises

99.1 Answer these questions about the text opposite.

- 1 Why do you think there have been attempts to introduce gender-neutral language of the kind described by David Crystal?
- 2 How would you explain this expression: 'male' words with a generic meaning?
- 3 Why do you think there might have been controversy about attempts to change the word chairman?
- 4 What do more extreme advocates of making English gender-neutral want to do that is unacceptable to the moderates?
- 5 Why was Ms introduced and why is it useful?

99.2 Change these sentences so they reflect modern usage.

- 1 Three firemen helped put out a fire at a disused warehouse last night.
- 2 A spokesman for the Department of Education provided us with a statement.
- 3 Cleaning lady wanted for house in Priory Street.
- 4 The helpline is continuously manned even during holiday periods.
- 5 All our air hostesses are fluent in at least three languages.
- 6 The fibres in this garment are man-made.
- 7 Policemen today spend more time in cars than on the beat.
- 8 This was a great step for mankind.
- 9 The man in the street has little time for such issues.
- 10 Salesmen are often well trained and can be very persuasive.

99.3 Choose the correct word to complete each sentence.

- 1 She always dresses in a very feminine / female way.
- 2 The masculine / male cat is less aggressive than his sister.
- 3 Do you girlfriends / guys fancy meeting up later?
- 4 The bar was full of loud, lad / laddish young men.
- 5 Ross likes to see himself as a tough male / macho man!
- 6 Anna's going away for the weekend with a few girlfriends / females.

99.4 Answer these questions.

- 1 Do you think that using gender-specific language affects people's attitudes to men and women's roles in society?
- 2 Does your language ever use male words generically? If so, give examples of words you use to avoid gender stereotyping.
- 3 How do you feel about imposing language changes of the different kinds that David Crystal describes?
- 4 Do terms of address (i.e. Mr, Mrs, etc.) in your language indicate whether people are married?
- 5 Do you think it is better if terms of address indicate marital status or not? Why?
- 6 A grammatical problem in this area is the use of he/his to refer to a person of either gender. In the sentence 'A government minister may have to neglect his family', the minister could be a man or a woman. However, the use of 'his' assumes, perhaps wrongly, that it is a man. How could you rewrite this sentence to avoid this problem?

Features of headline language

If a story hits the headlines it suddenly receives a lot of attention in the news.

Here are two typical examples of headlines from tabloid newspapers with comments on their use of language. [popular papers with small pages and short simple reports]

EXPERT REVEALS NEW CLOUD DANGERS

- Articles, prepositions and auxiliary verbs are often omitted from headlines.
- This use of the present simple instead of the past tense makes the story sound more immediate.
- The use of language is often ambiguous. It is not entirely clear, for example, what cloud refers to here. It is actually about the dangers of storing electronic information on a 'cloud' [hosted services on the internet for storing personal data], but it could have referred to dangers relating to the weather. Readers have to look at the story in order to find out.
- Words with dramatic associations such as danger are often used.

TV STAR TRAGIC TARGET FOR CRAZED GUNMAN

This story is about how a well-known television actor was shot by a mentally unstable killer.

- In order to attract readers' attention, tabloid newspapers often feature celebrities, e.g. film/pop stars and sports personalities.
- Alliteration such as TV Star Tragic Target is often used to attract the eye in headlines and to make them sound more memorable.
- Newspapers tend to use strong, simple words such as 'gunman' in order to express an idea or image as briefly and as vividly as possible.
- Strongly emotional words like crazed are often used to attract attention. [behaving in a wild or strange way, especially because of strong emotion]

B

Violent words

Violent and militaristic words are often used in headlines, especially in tabloid newspapers, in order to make stories seem more dramatic. For example, people who cause trouble may be referred to as thugs, yobs or louts.

EU acts to crush<sup>1</sup> terror of thugs

Palace besieged<sup>3</sup> by journalists

Language help

The kind of language that is common in headlines may sound strange in other contexts. So the vocabulary in this unit is more likely to be useful to you when you are reading rather than when you are speaking or writing.

C

Playing with words

Many newspaper headlines attract readers' attention by playing on words in an entertaining way. For example, a story about a very heavy rainstorm which caused a landslide on a narrow mountain road was headlined Rain of terror. This headline was a play on words based on the expression reign of terror, an expression used about a period in which a country's ruler controls people in a particularly cruel way.

Another example is the use of the headline Moon becomes shooting star to describe a football match where a player called John Moon shot [scored] the winning goal. Shooting star is an informal expression for a meteor. Here it is used to play on the expression shoot a goal, and also to link to the player's name, Moon (another astronomical body). The headline is particularly effective because of the association between star and moon in the sky.

Exercises

100.1 Read these headlines. What do you think the stories might be about?

- |  |                                  |
|--|----------------------------------|
| 1 BLAST TERROR IN CAPITAL         | 4 CRACKDOWN ON DISSENT    |
| 2 PM TO REVEAL SOCCER LOU T PLANS | 5 THUGS BESIEGE TEEN STAR |
| 3 TOP PLAYERS DEFEND COACH        | 6 COPS TARGET YOBS        |

100.2 Look at these headlines from a fictitious tabloid newspaper about Ancient Greece. Match them with the subjects of their stories and comment on the features of headline language they contain.

1 NUDE SCIENTIST IN BATHTUB SCANDAL

2 KING PHIL'S MACEDONIAN MASSACRE

3 MARATHON MAN IN DROP-DEAD DASH

4 QUADRUPLE ROYAL MURDER SENSATION

5 IT'S CURTAINS FOR CORINTH

- a Four members of the royal family die in mysterious circumstances.
- b Philip of Macedonia wins a battle against the city states of Athens and Thebes.
- c Archimedes discovers the law governing the displacement of water.
- d The city of Corinth is burnt to the ground by the Romans.
- e A long-distance runner brings news of a battle victory to Athens and then dies.

100.3 Match the headline to its story and explain the play on words in each case.

- |                            |                               |
|----------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 1 Bad blood         | 6 Hopping mad          |
| 2 Happy days?       | 7 Flushed with success |
| 3 Shell-shocked     | 8 Highly embarrassed   |
| 4 False impressions | 9 Round-up             |
| 5 Happy haunting    |                               |

- a A grandfather's breathing problems were solved when doctors found four false teeth at the entrance to his lungs. They had been forced down his windpipe in a car crash eight years before.
- b A 25-year-old terrapin is being treated for a fractured shell after surviving a 200-foot drop.
- c A Shetland teacher has suggested sheepdogs could be used to control pupils in playgrounds.
- d A ghost society has been told not to scare off a friendly female apparition at a hotel.
- e An unusual travel company is offering adults the chance to experience going back to school again – they will spend a week wearing school uniform, sitting through lessons and eating school dinners.
- f An ex-public loo in Hackney, East London, is to be sold for £276,000.
- g A Whitby vicar has attacked the resort's attempts to profit on its connections with Dracula: 'a pale-faced man with a bad sense of fashion, severe dental problems and an eating disorder'.
- h A toad triggered a police alert when it set off a new hi-tech alarm system.
- i Firefighters had to scale a 30-foot tree to rescue a man who was trying to capture his pet iguana.

Characteristics of bureaucratic language

A STUDENT SHALL NOT BE ELIGIBLE FOR A LOAN IN RELATION TO AN ACADEMIC YEAR IF HE/SHE:

- (a) has attained<sup>1</sup> the age of 50 years before the first day of the course;
- (b) has received another loan in relation to the same academic year;
- (c) has received another loan in relation to another academic year which began during the same period 1st August to the following 31st July during which the academic year began;
- (d) is eligible in respect of that year to receive:
  - (i) any payment under a bursary or award of similar description bestowed on<sup>2</sup> him/her under section 63 of the Health Services and Public Health Act 1968(2) the amount of which is not calculated by reference to his/her income.

Your request to demolish<sup>1</sup> the garage adjoining<sup>2</sup> your property is hereby rejected. Any and all appeals regarding this decision must be submitted to the undersigned<sup>3</sup> by Jan 31 2018. No exceptions to the forementioned<sup>4</sup> procedure will be considered.

Some publications produced by companies or government departments are difficult to understand because they use language that is very different from everyday English.

- They frequently use words that are longer and 'grandier' than their ordinary equivalents.
- They often use a passive form instead of an active one, e.g. 'Normal service will be resumed as soon as possible' instead of 'We will resume normal service as soon as possible.'
- They use nouns as the subject of the sentence when they are not necessary, e.g. 'Achievement of this module is dependent upon candidates meeting the assessment outcomes' instead of 'To achieve this module, candidates must meet the assessment outcomes.'
- They use a noun instead of You, e.g. Customers will be informed of ...' instead of 'You will be informed of ...' or even 'We will tell you about ...'

These words are more frequent in a bureaucratic context:

Work will commence in May. [start] (noun = commencement)

The company ceased operations last year. [stopped functioning] (noun = cessation)

Property belonging to the deceased will be returned to the next of kin. [dead person] [closest relative]

In the event of an emergency, call 121. [if there is]

In the event of fire, the building must be evacuated immediately. [people must leave]

Tenants must endeavour to keep communal areas tidy at all times. [try]

The developments will facilitate movement of traffic in the area. [make possible, easier]

Residents will be instructed what to do in the event of an emergency. [will be told]

The project will proceed to the next phase in June. [move]

We are currently attempting to rectify the situation. [put right]

Normal service will be resumed as soon as possible. [start again]

B

Bureaucratic correspondence

There is some specific vocabulary that characterises bureaucratic letters:

Please acknowledge receipt of payment. [inform us that you have received]

With the compliments of Smith and Co. [written on a slip of paper sent with an item from a company]

Please notify us immediately of any change of address. [inform]

I would be grateful for a reply at your earliest convenience. [as soon as possible]

Contact us if further clarification is required. [you need more of an explanation]

I enclose payment in respect of your invoice. [relating to, for]

I am writing with regard to your advertisement. [about]

Exercises

101.1 Look at the two texts in A opposite. Find an example in the texts of each of the four characteristics of bureaucratic language listed in the bullets in A.

101.2 Read each sentence. Choose the word in the second sentence which gives the same meaning in simpler language.

- 1 Roadworks will commence on 1 June.
Roadworks will begin / end on 1 June.
- 2 (on a form) Contact details for next of kin.
Write the name and address of your neighbour / nearest relative.
- 3 With the compliments of Jane Bramwell.
With best wishes / love from Jane Bramwell.
- 4 Call me at your earliest convenience.
Call me early in the morning / as soon as you can.
- 5 In the event of fire, lifts should not be used.
If there is a fire / At the start of a fire, don't use the lifts.
- 6 Passengers should await instruction from the captain before proceeding to the car deck.
Passengers should not go to / leave the car deck until the captain tells them to.
- 7 I am writing with regard to the editorial in today's paper.
I am writing for / about the editorial in today's paper.
- 8 I am writing in respect of your letter of 6th June.
I am writing in connection with / in favour of your letter of 6th June.

101.3 Match the words with their synonyms. Which word or phrase in each pair exemplifies bureaucratic language?

deceased      acknowledge      end      make easier      rectify      let us know start      clarification      put right      start again      commencement      dead endeavour      try      facilitate      cessation      explanation      resume

101.4 Complete the word formation table below. Note that not all the words are on the opposite page. Use a dictionary if necessary.

verb	noun	adjective

Unit 18

18.1 Possible answers:

accommodation	What kind of person lives there?	Would you like to live there? Why/Why not?
furnished accommodation	someone who does not have their own furniture, perhaps a young person or someone living in a place for a short period of time	I wouldn't want to live in this kind of accommodation now because I have too many pieces of furniture of my own now.
social housing	people who do not have enough money to buy a house of their own	It would depend on the area – some social housing is very nice and there is a friendly atmosphere. But in other areas, the social housing is rather run-down and depressing.
granny flat	an elderly relative of the people who live in the main house	When I'm old, I would like to live close to my family but with at least a degree of independence.
high-rise	any type of person might live in one of these, though it would probably be someone in a large city	I wouldn't like to live very high up, as it would mean using a lift or lots of stairs to get down to the bottom and go outside.
hovel	someone who is not good at or interested in looking after themselves	I should hate to live somewhere dirty and in a bad condition.
penthouse	someone with a lot of money	I'd like to live in a spacious modern penthouse with the very latest in design and technology, and a fantastic view over a city.

  - 8 I had a sleepless night last night.

- 52.3 Positive meanings: be over the worst, fight off*, be on the mend, be back on your feet again, get over
Negative meanings: suffer from, fight off*, come down with, under the weather *Whether you consider fight off to be positive or negative depends on whether you feel that 'fighting something off' is always used in a negative situation, or whether you are succeeding in 'fighting off' your cold/flu/headache, etc., in which case you might see it as positive.

- 52.4
- 1 Hello, Dan, good to see you back on your feet again.
  - 2 Nadja, I won't be in today, I've come down with a cold.
  - 3 Oh, I'm OK. I'm over the worst now. I still feel bad, but I should be out within a week or so. (over the worst suggests getting better, but that you are still quite ill; on the mend (see 6 below) suggests the person is getting back to normal health)
  - 4 Don't worry, darling. Everyone has a cold now and then. You'll get over it.
  - 5 I'm trying to fight off the flu, but nothing seems to help. I don't think I'll be at work tomorrow.
  - 6 Lily was quite ill last week, but she's on the mend / back on her feet again now and should be back at work on Monday.
  - 7 I feel a bit under the weather today, but I'm sure I'll be fine tomorrow.

Unit 59

- 59.1
- 1 poky (suitable in this informal context)
  - 2 roomy (often used for cars)
  - 3 compact (in fact, a whole class of small cameras is referred to as 'compact cameras' by manufacturers and advertisers)
  - 4 cramped (suitable in this slightly more formal context – compare with 1)
  - 5 spacious
  - 6 extensive
- 59.2 The property is spacious, with a compact garden, and is situated only ten minutes away from the bustling town centre. There are extensive leisure facilities nearby.
- Notes on the incorrect choices:*
Rambling usually suggests a rather chaotic collection of rooms. A labyrinth suggests they are confusingly laid out.
Cramped and poky suggest that somewhere is too small to be comfortable.
Congested and crowded are negative. Bustling suggests that somewhere is busy, interesting and full of life.
Excessive means too many. No one wants expensive facilities.
- 59.3
- 1 The kitchen is so small you can't / couldn't swing a cat / there isn't enough room to swing a cat in it.
  - 2 There's ample space / room for your clothes in this wardrobe.
  - 3 I got / was hemmed in in the office car park the other day.
  - 4 Holidays in Australia are great if you love wide open spaces.
  - 5 I hate the London underground during rush hour. Everyone is packed in like sardines in the trains.
  - 6 I dropped a glass and tiny pieces (were) scattered all over the floor.
  - 7 The buildings in the holiday complex are (quite / rather) spread out.
  - 8 The train was very full but I just managed to squeeze in before the doors closed.
- 59.4
- 1 It might be a bit of a squash on the bus at this time of day – I hope you don't mind.
  - 2 I quickly stuffed a few clothes and a couple of books in a rucksack and set off at once.
  - 3 The Ural Mountains mark the boundary between Europe and Asia.
  - 4 We'll all have to try and squeeze into my little car; Larry hasn't got his with him today.
  - 5 Your room is at the rear of the hotel, so you won't hear any traffic.
  - 6 I don't think we should try and cram / squeeze / stuff everything into one suitcase. Let's take two.

Unit 60

- 60.1
- 1 They've been living in the same house since the year dot.

  - 10 The press were excluded for the duration of the delicate negotiations.

Unit 61

- 61.1
- 1 trudged (If you strut, you can't have your shoulders hunched. You are also unlikely to be weary.)
  - 2 tiptoed (If you trudge, you are tired and weary and your steps are heavy, so you might well wake someone who is sleeping lightly. A bedroom is also a very small place for someone to trudge across.)
  - 3 hopping (Rabbits move quickly with feet all off the ground at the same time, so, as with birds, their movement is described as hopping. Stamping is too heavy a movement for a small animal.)
  - 4 limped (Stamping is something which you usually do when you are angry and there is no obvious connection between having an accident and stamping.)
  - 5 staggered / lurched (Striding cannot be unsteady.)
  - 6 trample (Daisies are too small to be stumbled on.)
  - 7 chased (Tramped suggests moving slowly and so the dog would then be unlikely to catch the postman. Tramped also suggests too heavy a movement to be appropriate for a small dog as opposed to a big, heavy dog.)
  - 8 lurching / staggering (It would be extremely difficult to tiptoe if the sea is rough and the ship is moving violently.)

61.2 Possible answers:

- 1 It was not at all successful or enjoyable – the verb limped makes that clear.
- 2 No, it was clearly in difficulties for a few years before it failed totally.
- 3 People didn't expect her to do as well as she did.
- 4 No, the government gives the impression of being out of control.
- 5 She is probably calm, easy-going and relaxed.
- 6 They destroy or spoil them, for example, by laughing at them.
- 7 He or she might send them emails or letters reminding them to pay, or they might phone them.
- 8 Not at all confident. They were hesitant and uneven in quality.

- 61.3
- flowed: moved smoothly, without ceasing spilled: fell out, in an uncontrolled fashion, starting suddenly and moving in all directions streamed: a lot of people moving at a fairly constant pace from one direction pouring: coming all the time, in large numbers, possibly from all directions trickle: a few people, here and there meandered: not going in a straight line, no definite purpose flooding: coming in large numbers, spreading in all directions

- 61.4
- 1 flow
  - 2 spilling
  - 3 meander
  - 4 trickle
  - 5 pouring / streaming (flooding is less likely to be used about people moving into a relatively restricted area like a football stadium)

61.5

verb	type of movement	reason for type of movement
file	lots of people moving in a straight line, one after the other	to control large numbers of people saunter	relaxed, confident	pleasure
sidle	approaching someone in a slightly sneaky way	intending to do something dishonest or unpleasant in some way glide	smooth, as if not moving your feet	to make effortless movement or to make movement seem effortless mill around	lots of people all moving in different directions	to meet or to talk to different people

- 61.6
- 1 Graceful dancers glide.
  - 2 Guests at a cocktail party mill around.
  - 3 Schoolchildren file into a classroom.
  - 4 Someone who is irritatingly anxious to make you like them might sidle up to you.
  - 5 Tourists exploring in a relaxed way might saunter round a city.

- 83.2
- 1 Her hair's a sort of reddish colour, and I'd say she's, well, forty, forty-fourish.
Sort of is used here with an adjective, but it can be used with almost any type of word. The -ish suffix is used here with a descriptive adjective and a number denoting age, but it is also often used with clock times, e.g. We arrived around half-past sevenish. Well is often used to make things less direct.
  - 2 The garden was a bit on the big side, but it was very pretty.
The expression a bit on the ... side is used with adjectives to denote a quality that is not what we want or hope for, e.g. The living room was a bit on the dark side, but we bought some new lamps and then it was OK.

- 3 There was a kind of elasticity thing that held the two parts together, and I've lost it.
Kind of and sort of can both be used with adjectives and with almost any other word class.
 Putting the -y suffix on a noun or adjective to make it indirect or less precise occurs in informal conversation, e.g. It was a brownish colour with a kind of acidic taste.
- 4 They're good shoes. They're comfortable on long walks and that.
And that just means 'and similar things'. It is very informal. Here it is used with a noun, but people often use it with verbs too, e.g. They were singing and that at the party last night.
- 5 I've been to the doctor's and had treatments and suchlike, and I'm sure it helps in one way or another.
And suchlike normally follows a plural noun, but it could also be used with an uncountable one, e.g. It'll be useful for your work and suchlike.

  - 8 No. If you say that someone is hawk-eyed, you mean that they have very sharp eyes.

- 96.4 Possible answers: (but you may have some better ones!)

Colours

Purple is often the colour of royal robes (and was the colour of the most important Romans' togas, because it was made from an expensive dye).

Green is the colour of new growth and this may suggest inexperience.

Yellow might be seen as the colour white people's skin goes when they are afraid.

Red is the colour of fire, so may suggest danger.

White is the absence of colour, which suggests purity, a blank sheet.

Black is dark, and seems to suggest things that are hidden and frightening, hence evil.

Animals

'A dog's life' may come from the idea that a dog is totally under the thumb of its master.
 A snake is a creature that many people are afraid of. They know that snakes can be dangerous.
 A mouse is usually light brown or grey in colour and it is not generally a popular animal, so it is not surprising that 'mousy' has negative and dull associations as a hair colour.
 Rats generally have very unpleasant associations for most English speakers, so it is not surprising that rattiness is a negative quality.
 Cats have sharp claws which can scratch and hurt people.
 Fish can have a rather unpleasant smell, one that can hang around for a long time, so this may suggest something suspicious, i.e. what is causing that unpleasant smell?
 Sheep tend to follow one another rather than all acting in an independent way.
 As a bird of prey, the hawk needs very sharp eyes.

Unit 97

- 97.1
- 1 She works in a shop that sells women's clothing. (Ladies' garments might be an even more formal equivalent.)
  - 2 I've got some new specs. Do you like them?
  - 3 Did you see that documentary about Wales on the telly / on the box last night?
  - 4 Gerry's a decent bloke / guy. I wouldn't want to upset him.
  - 5 I spent the morning conversing with the Director.
  - 6 Molly was there with her husband / partner. He's a nice man.

- 97.3 In a database from the Cambridge International Corpus totalling ten million words of everyday spoken and written English texts, the words in the list occurred approximately in the ratios given in the second column (for example, frequently is 11 times more frequent in written English than in spoken).

word	ratio spoken : written
1 frequently W	1 : 11
2 start S	2 : 1
3 begin W	1 : 5
4 maybe S	5 : 1
5 moreover W	1 : 60

- 97.4
- 1 pharmacist / chemist
  - 2 girl (or young unmarried woman)
  - 3 poetry / poem
  - 4 to where / where to

- 97.5
- 1 This computer text could be called written, modern, technical. Terms such as shared folder and server are technical. The style is typically written, especially with the use of passive voice verbs and the word located; in non-technical spoken language, we would probably just say ‘one that is on a server’.
  - 2 This is typical modern, written academic text; above indicates it is written. Typical academic words are paradigm (which means a dominant set of beliefs or methods in an academic field) and the initials SLA (which mean Second Language Acquisition).
  - 3 This is rather archaic poetry (by the English poet John Donne, 1572–1631). Thee is an archaic form of singular you; 'tis is an archaic form of it is; in jest is rather formal and/or literary and means ‘as a joke / not serious’. Other rather formal or literary words are weariness and feigned (pretended).
  - 4 This is formal spoken language. It is from a speech by US President John F. Kennedy (1917–1963). Key items are the formal ask not instead of ‘don’t ask’, my fellow, and the freedom of man instead of human freedom or freedom for everyone. Formal speeches and lectures are often very close to formal written texts, and this text could possibly also have been a written text (e.g. a political pamphlet or electioneering literature).
  - 5 This is informal, modern conversation. Key items are mind you (rare in written language), telly instead of television, cos instead of because, and yeah instead of yes. The text is quite fragmented too (the Rhine. Yeah, the river in Bonn). Written registers tend to be more integrated (e.g. the River Rhine in Bonn).

Unit 98

- 98.1
- 1 American. British version: I lost my way at the big junction just south of the city.
  - 2 British. American version: Why are there always so many shopping carts left in the parking lot?
  - 3 British. American version: Cross the street at the crosswalk, then take a left.
  - 4 American. British version: You can’t drive any further; you’ll have to reverse, the road is very narrow.
  - 5 British. American version: You’ll see the gas station just after the overpass on I-34.
  - 6 American. British version: Once you get on to the motorway, it will only take you two hours to get there.
  - 7 American. British version: The office is diagonally opposite the Chinese restaurant.
  - 8 American. British version: There’s a stream at the end of the (foot)path. It’s about three miles from here.

  - 4 Britain
  - 5 The second year.
  - 6 They mean psychology is their main subject of study.
  - 7 No. In Britain it is likely to mean going to an institution for 16+ students to learn some special knowledge or skill (e.g. a teacher-training college). In the USA, it usually means going to university.
  - 8 British

Unit 99

- 99.1
- 1 To try to make the language less stereotyped with regard to gender and also perhaps to try to alter gender-biased attitudes in this way.
  - 2 The expression means words that have male connotations but are referring to people in general.
  - 3 There might have been controversy perhaps because some people felt it was an unnecessary change or that it was impossible to try to impose language change artificially.
  - 4 They want to get rid of 'male' words in traditional idioms like man in the street by using such phrases as the person in the street or the average person instead. They even want to get rid of man in words like manhandle and woman where the male idea has really been lost.
  - 5 It was introduced as a title which does not focus on whether a woman is married or not. It is useful if you do not know what a woman's marital status is or if a woman does not want people to know her marital status.

- 99.2
- 1 Three firefighters helped put out a fire at a disused warehouse last night.
  - 2 A spokesperson for the Department of Education provided us with a statement.
  - 3 Cleaner wanted for house in Priory Street.
  - 4 The helpline is continuously staffed even during holiday periods.
  - 5 All our flight attendants are fluent in at least three languages.
  - 6 The fibres in this garment are artificial.
  - 7 Police officers today spend more time in cars than on the beat.
  - 8 This was a great step for the human race.
  - 9 The average person has little time for such issues.
  - 10 Sales assistants are often well trained and can be very persuasive.

- 6 The sentence can be altered by either using his or her: A government minister may have to neglect his or her family.
Or by making it plural: Government ministers may have to neglect their families.
It is also becoming increasingly common and acceptable for their to be used as a generic pronoun to refer to one person, e.g. A government minister may have to neglect their family. Note that some people consider this to be incorrect. Note also that some writers use the pronoun s/he instead of he or she.

Unit 100

100.1 Suggested answers:

- 1 A bomb explosion in a capital city terrorises the population there.
- 2 The Prime Minister is going to announce plans for dealing with football hooligans.
- 3 Some highly successful footballers are speaking up for their coach after he has been criticised.
- 4 A strong campaign against people who disagree with a government has been launched.
- 5 Violent men surround a teenage star.
- 6 The police decide to focus on dealing with badly behaved and offensive young men.

- 100.2
- 1 c It uses nudity and the dramatic word 'scandal' to attract attention.
  - 2 b It uses a familiar name for the King, which shows either lack of respect or friendly familiarity, and the dramatic word 'massacre' for battle, with alliteration on 'Macedonian' and 'massacre'.
  - 3 e It uses alliteration in 'Marathon man' and 'drop-dead dash', with a dramatic image and words.
  - 4 a It is about royalty and scandal, which are favourite topics for tabloids.
  - 5 d It uses the informal expression 'It's curtains for ...' [It's the end for ...], and alliteration in 'curtains' and 'Corinth'.

100.3

- 1 g Dracula was a blood-drinking vampire in a famous 19th-century novel of the same name, who comes to Whitby in north-east England from Transylvania. 'Bad blood' is also an expression used to mean bad feelings between people. There will probably be bad blood between the vicar of Whitby and the people who are making a profit from the Dracula connections of the town.
- 2 e School days are often referred to as the 'happiest days of your life'.
- 3 b 'Shell-shocked' means traumatised or in a state of great shock. It describes how soldiers in the trenches in World War I felt after they had been subjected to shells or bombs for a long time. Terrapins and tortoises have shells and they would certainly be shocked (in the medical sense) by falling from such a height.
- 4 a Dentists make impressions of teeth and 'false impressions' is a common collocation used to mean incorrect impressions created by a person.
- 5 d This is meant to recall the phrase 'happy hunting'. 'Haunting', however, is what a ghost does. An 'apparition' is a kind of ghost.
- 6 h 'Hopping mad' is a collocation meaning extremely cross. It is appropriate here as toads and frogs hop along the ground. Hopping mad is also no doubt how the police felt when they discovered they had been called out by a toad.
- 7 f Toilets 'flush' [water passes through them]. 'Flushed' also means to be red in the face. It collocates strongly with the phrase 'with success'; the people who have sold the toilet for such a large sum of money are likely to feel successful.
- 8 i 'Highly embarrassed' means extremely embarrassed. It is doubly appropriate here as the man is so high up the tree that he has to be rescued by the fire brigade – certainly an embarrassing situation.
- 9 c Sheepdogs 'round up' sheep. They are a kind of dog and it is suggested that they should round up the children.

Unit 101

101.1

Possible answers:

Use of 'longer' and 'grand' vocabulary: attained instead of reached; bestowed on instead of given to; adjoining instead of next to; property instead of home

Use of passive when active would do: Your request ... is hereby rejected instead of We hereby reject your request to ... ; No exceptions ... will be considered instead of We will not consider any exceptions

Use of noun as the subject of the sentence: No exceptions to the aforementioned procedure will be considered instead of We will not consider any exceptions ...

Avoidance of 'you': Any and all appeals regarding this decision must be submitted instead of You must submit any appeal
